South Has Losses In Millions; Many Deaths Reported

Florida Loses 5,000 Cattle in Nine Counties; Fruit, Vegetables Unharmed

(By The Associated Press)

The worst winter storm to hit the deep south in 50 years has left the area with damage in the millions of dollars.

Some cities isolated and with business paralyzed for as long as four days have just begun to add up their losses. In Florida alone, the driving, near-freezing rain which whipped the state for 18 hours was blamed for the deaths of an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 cattle in nine counties.

Ammon McLellan, editor of the Okeechobee News, said many head of livestock were weakened and left so helpless by the storm that they would die. He estimated the loss in livestock alone at more than $1,000,000.

Livestock men said many head of cattle that might otherwise have survived the storm were trampled to death as the herds stampeded for shelter. Some were reported suffering from malnutrition as a result of dried up pastures when the storm hit.

'Ailment' Blamed

One veterinarian said, however, he believed the livestock losses were attributable to "some ailment," rather than the storm.

L. M. Johnson, agricultural Agent for Martin county, said an investigation in his county showed the cattle in good condition. He added that the veterinarian had treated some of the animals for prussic acid poisoning.

Most of the citrus fruit escaped damage and vegetable growers were believed not hard hit, but freezing temperatures were reported again today as far south as northern Florida. Generally, though, temperatures were above those of the past few days.

Mississippi, hardest hit state, listed 16 deaths from the storm. Louisiana, where the temperature dropped to as low as 12 below zero at Tallulah, had nine deaths.

Natchez Bestirs Again

Historic old Natchez, Miss., was bestirring itself again for the first time since the storm cut off all outside communications four days ago. No estimate of the damage there has been made.

Nashville, Tenn., also was returning to normal although it was the hardest hit city.

Melting snow and ice sent the Tombigbee River a little over a foot above flood stage last night at Columbus, Miss., but the Mobile, Ala., weather bureau said the condition was not serious. There was no prediction, how-

Only Six Trains Leave G.C.T. in Manhattan Tieup

(By The Associated Press)

The railroad switchmen's strike, now in its second week with no general back-to-work movement in sight, threatened today to shut down the entire automobile industry.

Auto industry sources said car-making may have to stop if the walkout continues another week. With 125,000 outo workers now idle nationally, they predicted the layoffs may soon rise to 600,000.

Scant relief from the paralyzing effects of the strike was evident. Besides the auto workers, thousands of other industrial workers, were idle and hundreds of plants were shut down.

Only six trains were scheduled to leave New York's huge Grand Central Terminal today. Commuter services of both the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroads are tied up there. Some 70,000 daily commuters are affected.

Jerseyites Get Service

But the situation was brighter at New York's Pennsylvania Station. The Pennsylvania Railroad restored its 183-train commuter service to New Jersey. Of a normal force of 407 trainmen, the Pennsy reported that only 32 were at work this morning. It said it was operating trains with the aid of specially trained volunteer workers.

A few other cracks appeared in the strike of about 12,000 switchmen, but the improvement in the situation was slight.

Nearly all the approximately 50 lines affected by the "sick" call walkout had little or no relief from the virtual tie-up of important terminal operations in about 100 of the nation's major cities.

More embargoes on shipments were imposed or extended, more industries were feeling the pinch of vanishing supplies of raw goods for processing while finished products piled up on their shipping docks; and more men were being laid off. The government embargo on most mail continued.

Break Helps Atlanta

One of the first breaks in the walkout which began six days ago came yesterday in the strategic rail center of Atlanta. The return to work there of about 1,500 switchmen was sufficient to restore normal operations in three railroad yards and to lift embargoes by all but one line.

But while the resumption of work in Atlanta and several other points was watched for signs of a possible end of the strike, it broke out in some new spots. The New York, New Haven and Hartford, a vital link between New York and New England was forced to cancel all its service. With all rail operation serving New York virtually paralyzed, the city faced a possible shortage of fuel and such foods as fresh fruits and vegetables.

At Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., where some switchmen went back to their jobs Saturday, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern reported them "sick" again yesterday.

Other cities reporting some or most of the men back at work included Kansas City, Chattanooga, Tenn., Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia and Ludington, Mich.

Encouraged by Talks

In Atlanta, a union official said the men who returned to their jobs there were encouraged by the resumption in Washington of union-management negotiations on their wage dispute. The union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the other Big Four Brotherhoods have asked a 40-hour work week at their present pay for 48 hours, plus some operating rules changes.

The National Mediation Board, which is conducting the negotiations, announced last night it had asked all four unions to restate today in writing the settlement formula which their members will accept.

The board had been in session until late Sunday night with representatives of the railroads and the unions—the engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen.

Board Chairman John Thad Scott told newsmen "we feel some progress is being made on important issues," but he declined to discuss details. The talks were to be resumed at 10 a. m. today.

Also scheduled for today was a hearing in federal district court at Chicago on a contempt of court citation against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen as a result of a similar "sick" strike of switchmen during the Christmas rush. At that time, about 10,000 switchmen left their jobs at terminals in all parts of the country.

The court granted an injunction against the walkout and the union

Bell, Haver Ask Board to Resign

Onteora School Situation Brings Up More Discussion

"The Onteora School Board, after their statement issued last week, should immediately resign and withdraw their request for an extra appropriation of $300,000," according to a second joint statement issued today by Claude Bell, Republican supervisor of the Town of Olive and Robert Haver, Democratic town chairman.

The statement follows:

"The Onteora School Board on Thursday and Friday of last week issued to the press and radio a statement in reply to ours of January 31 in defense of their request for a further appropriation of $300,000, in addition to the $1,850,000 previously voted, to build a school at Boiceville.

"The board's statement in the first sentence of the next to the last paragraph contains this amazing sentence:

'The board is now (speaking as of February 1st) working on the problem of building a school within the limits of $1,850,000.'

"Does the board mean to say that it has not as yet determined whether the school can be built within the original appropriation? If it has not decided that question yet, why has it asked the taxpayers for an extra $300,000? Certainly that question should have been carefully studied before the taxpayers were asked to provide an extra $300,000. A board which demands such a large extra appropriation before they have even decided whether or not it is necessary, certainly

Small Firms Rap Plan on War Setup

Lack Coordination

NPA and Defense Office Need Closer Ties to Keep Economy Sound

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate small business commitee sharply rapped the National Production Authority (NPA) today for "a lack of both energy and imagination" in its defense mobilization dealings with little firms.

In a knuckle-cracking report to the Senate, the committee accused the NPA of "insensitiveness" to the problems of little companies at a time when "a large segment of American small business is in imminent danger of bankruptcy through the shortage of basic materials."

The committee, headed by Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.), said for example that under one of NPA's orders, "some 14,000 aluminum fabricators are going to be forced out of their present business."

The committee also directed criticism at Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and the munitions board. The group said, too, there are indications of a lack of coordination between the Defense Department and NPA.

Based on Hearings

The report is based on hearings which the committee conducted last month. Government officials and a parade of small business operators testified.

Among other things, the report recommends:

1. Creation as soon as possible of a controlled materials program of the World War II type, which would earmark for essential civilian use all supplies of critical materials, not needed for defense. (NPA is assembling a staff to administer a controlled materials plan. Officials said over the weekend they hope to put it into effect around July 1.)

2. Early reappraisal of defense and stockpile requirements "in order to meet the most realistic foreseeable needs."

3. Exploration of methods to guarantee short-term "tide-over" loans "to worthy small companies which are on the verge of closing because of the materials shortage, but whose facilities undoubtedly will be needed in a full mobilization program."

Proposes Pooling Program

4. Development of a pooling program "to increase the opportunities of small companies to participate on a group basis in contracts too large for single small firms to handle."

5. A requirement that all prime contractors submit periodic reports showing to what extent they have used small firms as subcontractors.

The committee held out only

U. S. Has Safest Year, but Report Shows 90,000 Dead

Accident Casualties Are Far Ahead of War Losses; Dollar Cost High

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)—The U. S. home front experienced its safest year on record in 1950, but accident casualties still easily outdistanced U. S. losses in the Korean war.

The National Safety Council totaled the nation's 1950 accidents cost today and this is what it shows:

Killed—90,000.
Injured—8,900,000.
The cost in dollars—$7,700,000,000.

The first seven months of the Korean war brought the U. S. combat casualties to 6,897 killed in action, 30,615 wounded and 9,302 missing in action.

The overall deaths from accidents, however, was 1,000 less than in 1949. The death rate of 59.9 per 100,000 population is the lowest on record.

Fatalities in motor vehicle accidents jumped 11 per cent to 35,000—the highest toll since 1941. The 1949 toll was 31,500.

Fatalities in home accidents, the second major cause of accidental deaths, declined 11 per cent—from 31,000 to 27,500.

Deaths from occupational accidents jumped 3 per cent—from 15,000 to 15,500.

Public Deaths Drop

Deaths in public accidents, excluding motor vehicle, dropped 10 per cent—from 15,500 to 14,000.

One out of every 17 persons in the U. S. suffered a disabling injury.

The estimated $7,700,000,000 economic loss covers fatal and non-fatal accidents, wage losses, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance for all accidents, production delays, damage to equipment in occupational accidents and property damage from traffic accidents and fires.

The elderly—persons 65 and older—were primarily responsible for the nation's good safety showing. Accident deaths in this group dropped 11 per cent.

White Plains, N. Y., was among leading cities reporting no traffic deaths in 1950.

One Onslaught Goes Five Miles From Seoul Behind Hits by Warplanes and Artillery; Troops Make Gains

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The biggest allied tank force of the Korean war rammed deep into Red territory in hit-run killer raids on the western front and then withdrew.

The main punch carried within five miles of devastated Seoul. It was the closest allied thrust to the old South Korean capital since United Nations forces pulled out Jan. 4.

Four other armored columns cut sharply into Red areas. Behind a thunderous bombardment by warplanes and artillery, the tanks blasted Chinese and Korean Reds out of hillside forts. The fighting raged at times at such close quarters that some Reds were ground to death under tank treads.

A division spokesman estimated the two main columns, striking up the main road to Seoul and on a lateral road six miles farther west killed 500 Reds and wounded 1,500.

On the central front, allied forces in a simultaneous attack gained four miles in four hours and were continuing to advance. These troops pushed four miles north of Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju.

New casualty tolls were piled up on the enemy all along the front, adding to the big Sunday bag which the U. S. Eighth Army estimated at 8,635 Red dead and wounded from ground action alone. Of those, 7,947 were on the flaming western front.

Add to Toll

Allied warships and far ranging fighters and bombers added to the toll again Monday, but there was no early total casualty estimate. The warships hit both coasts.

A frontline officer summed up results of the main armored blow south of Seoul with a terse: "We killed a hell of a lot of them."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, watched the assault within a few hundred yards of the front. The tank-infantry task force rumbled through and beyond Anyang, nine miles south of Seoul. It chewed up Red positions in the hills flanking the highway.

Another column smashed north along a parallel six miles west of the main highway. It pulled back voluntarily after reaching a point five miles west of Anyang against fierce resistance.

Those twin-pronged drives were executing what an officer described as "a double envelopment within a double envelopment." It was called "the greatest exploitation of armor during the Korean war."

Runs Into Trap

The western column ran into a well-concealed tank trap in a ravine. The Reds rained automatic weapons and mortar fire on the tanks and knocked out a bulldozer trying to fill the tank trap. The trap was filled and the tanks pushed on.

East of the main Suwon-Seoul road, three hit-run spearheads stabbed into Chinese defenses in the Tanchon valley. The most daring of these forays was by

Di Salle Asks Aid From Public in Enforcing Controls

Asks Mayors to Select Volunteer Committees to Encourage Action

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The government is enlisting public support on the problem of enforcing price controls—a problem on which it finds itself divided.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle yesterday asked the mayors of all cities with more than 10,000 population to set up volunteer committees to encourage "general public knowledge and observance of regulations adopted in the interest of a sound national economy."

This move, of course, was not designed to take the place of prosecution of price regulation violators. It was on that phase that the split developed between Di Salles' Office of Price Stabilization and the Justice Department.

The question was one of jurisdiction between the two agencies, and some officials speculated that President Truman himself may have to resolve it.

Attorney General McGrath announced last week that he was setting up a special unit to handle litigation growing out of price and wage controls. DiSalle, due to make his first public progress report in a speech at Toledo tonight, was reported to be resisting.

He was said to feel that he cannot carry out a price control program effectively unless the enforcement officials are in his own agency, working with those who administer the law and regulations.

'Matter of Clarification'

Questioned on this point in Toledo, Di Salle said the disagreement "is a matter of clarification rather than a dispute." He added: "It is a question of where we leave off and where they take over."

Di Salle said Saturday some price controls may be necessary on fresh fruits, vegetables, fish and seafood, but he indicated they will continue to be exempt for some time.

Married Men, 19-26, Are to Be Drafted

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said today new regulations are "in the works" for a draft of married men aged 19 to 26 who have no children.

Hershey said an order has been drafted for the approval of President Truman and defense manpower agencies which would cancel present deferments for men with one dependent.

Hershey told the House Armed Services Committee of the proposed order during hearings on a bill for universal military service and training.

Bricker Asks Aide Be Fired on Basis Of R.F.C. Charges

Ohio Senator Proposes Housecleaning of Agency; Hearings May Start

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) today urged President Truman to fire White House aide Donald Dawson on the basis of charges he tried to dominate the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

"There is no question in my mind about it—the president ought to get rid of him (Dawson) and order a general housecleaning of the RFC at the same time," Bricker said.

The Ohio lawmaker spoke out regarding the R.F.C. controversy as Senator Hoey (D-NC) disclosed plans to re-open an inquiry in which another presidential aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, figured two years ago.

Without bringing Vaughan into the new picture in any way, Hoey said a Senate expenditures subcommittee heheads had discovered indications of "influence peddling" in the awarding of defense contracts.

For that reason, Hoey said, the group has decided to resume its investigation of the activities of five percenters—men who collect a fee, often five per cent, for help in getting government contracts for others.

Such fees are not illegal, but the committee found in 1949 that improper influence figured in the operations of the five percenters.

Vaughan, Mr. Truman's army aide, was reprimanded by the group for accepting seven home freezers as gifts. The general maintained he did nothing wrong and was not influenced.

At Work on Inquiry

Hoey said the sub-committee staff already is at work on the new inquiry and that public hearings may start in about two weeks.

"There isn't anything it can say now about specific contracts because we don't have all the information yet," Hoey told a reporter. "The fellows we don't want around are the influence peddlers—those who try to pull strings and trade on friendship with high officials to get favors."

As for the R.F.C. and Dawson, the Senate Banking Committee last Friday approved a report which accused three of the agency's five directors with improperly yielding to outside influence in approving several multi-million dollar loans.

The report said Dawson, adviser to Mr. Truman on personnel matters, "apparently exercised considerable influence over certain directors of the R.F.C." It singled out three of them by name.

The report added that one of the directors, Walter L. Dunham, acknowledged that he did not resist domination by Dawson.

Charges Denied

Dunham later denied that committee charges against him. So did Director C. Edward Rowe, who also was criticized. The third director, William E. Willett, has not been available for comment.

Dawson is expected back today

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP) — The position of the Treasury Feb. 1: Net budget receipts, $217,835,030.43; budget expenditures, $215,394,076.95; cash balance, $4,550,859,933.94; customs receipts for month, $2,183,092.70; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $23,129,904,742.67; budget expenditures fiscal year, $23,086,595,690.93; budget surplus, $43,309,051.74; total debt, $256,143,838,254.59; increase over previous day, $80,063,545.39; gold assets, $22,391,608,779.02.

Levies Also Increased On Business

Individual Incomes Hit for 4 Billions, Trade Concerns for 3 Billions

More Lies Ahead

Boost of 6 Billions Is to Be Made Later in Year

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Truman administration asked congress today to add four per cent to federal income tax rates, double the tax on gasoline and sharply boost levies on cigarettes, automobiles, appliances and other items.

The program, which would hit the pocketbooks of millions of taxpayers, would nearly triple the excise tax on automobiles and more than double the tax on television and radio sets, refrigerators and other appliances.

Three cents a pack would be added to the excise tax on cigarettes, making the total 10 cents a pack. The excise on whiskey would go up about 60 cents a fifth and the tax on an ordinary bottle of beer would be raised 1.3 cents.

The proposed excise increases would mean a boost of 13 per cent—from 7 to 20 per cent—on auto levies and 13 per cent—from 10 to 25 per cent—on television and radio sets. The tax would be imposed on the manufacturer's price.

Liquor, Cigarettes Hit

The present $9 a gallon liquor tax would be hiked to $12, the $8 a barrel beer tax would jump to $12, the seven cent a pack cigarette tax would go up to 10 cents and the gasoline tax would be doubled, going from one and one-half cents a gallon to three cents.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder outlined these proposals to the House Ways and Means Committee as part of the administration's first installment $10,000,000,000 tax boost.

The plan calls for a $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, a $3,000,000,000 hike in corporation income taxes and a $3,000,000,000 raise in excise (sales) taxes.

President Truman told congress last Friday the first round hike will be followed by another request for an increase or about $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Other Proposals

Other basic proposals laid before the House committee by Snyder:

1. A boost in the capital gains tax from a flat 25 per cent to 37½ per cent. The present tax applies to profits from sale of property held six months or more. The proposal would require a minimum holding period of one year to qualify for the capital gains tax in place of straight income tax.

2. Corporation income taxes—an increase of eight percentage points in normal income tax for corporations, adding $8 in tax to each $100 of profit.

This would lift the rate from 25 to 33 per cent on corporations with profits below $25,000, and from 47 to 55 per cent on those with higher profits.

30 Per Cent on 'Excess'

Corporations with profits in the "excess" class would continue to pay an extra 30 per cent on the amount deemed "excess."

The proposal—estimated to hit 323,000 corporations, as compared with some 50,000,000 persons affected by the individual income tax changes—would lift the ceiling on combined normal and excess profits taxes from 62 to 70 per cent.

3. Excise taxes—on autos, lift the rate from seven to 20 per cent of the manufacturer's price to raise $685,000,000 a year in revenue.

On refrigerators, television sets, radios, phonographs, electric, gas and oil appliances, "and other consumer durables"—raise the tax from 10 per cent to 25 per cent of the manufacturer's price, to raise $425,000,000 in revenue.

On distilled spirits—raise the rate from $9 to $12 a gallon, (from $1.80 to $2.40 on a standard, fifth-of-a-gallon bottle of 100 proof whiskey).

On beer—raise the tax from $8 to $12 a barrel (31 gallons). That would raise the tax from about 2.50 to 3.8 cents on a 12-ounce bottle.

Wines Are Affected

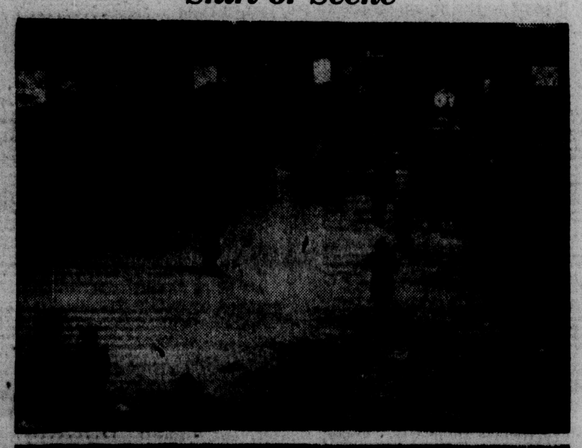
Shift of Scene



The normally crowded main concourse of the Grand Central Terminal in New York is virtually deserted (top photo) as a result of curtailment on the New York Central and New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroads because of the strike of railroad switchmen. Armed Forces of 15 Nations Are Fighting Reds in Korea

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The military forces of 15 nations are fighting the Communists in Korea.

The United Nations Committee for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) today gave the listing as of Jan. 12.

Actually, there are at least 16 nations represented by fighting forces. Recently ground troops arrived representing Luxembourg and Belgium, the latter previously represented by air transports.

The listings by UNCURK:

Australia—One air squadron; three naval vessels and ground forces.

Belgium—Air transports (Belgian ground forces arrived after Jan. 12).

Canada—Three destroyers; one transport squadron; ground forces.

Colombia—A frigate; an infantry battalion.

France—An infantry battalion.

Greece—Six transport planes; ground forces.

Netherlands—A destroyer; three infantry companies.

New Zealand—Two frigates; a combat unit en route.

Philippines—Regimental combat teams; tanks.

Thailand—Infantry combat teams, two corvettes and a navy transport.

Turkey—Infantrymen.

Union of South Africa—Air fighter squadron.

United Kingdom — Substantial ground and naval forces.

The Republic of Korea and the United States—UNCURK did not specify their very large commitments.

Military offers by these five other nations have been deferred for various reasons:

Bolivia—30 officers.

Nationalist China—Three infantry divisions and 20 bombers.

Costa Rica, El Salvador and Panama—volunteers.

Medical assistance has been provided by many countries. Cuba has a pending offer of human plasma. Denmark is sending a hospital ship and medical supplies. India sent a field ambulance unit. Israel offered medical supplies. Italy will send a hospital unit.

Nicaragua has offered 5,000 quarts of alcohol. Paraguay has offered medical supplies. Sweden sent a field hospital.

Only Six Trains Leave G.C.T. in Manhattan Tieup

The railroad switchmen's strike, now in its second week with no general back-to-work movement in sight, threatened today to shut down the entire automobile industry.

Auto industry sources said car-making may have to stop if the walkout continues another week. With 125,000 outo workers now idle nationally, they predicted the layoffs may soon rise to 600,000.

Scant relief from the paralyzing effects of the strike was evident. Besides the auto workers, thousands of other industrial workers, were idle and hundreds of plants were shut down.

Only six trains were scheduled to leave New York's huge Grand Central Terminal today. Commuter services of both the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroads are tied up there. Some 70,000 daily commuters are affected.

Jerseyites Get Service

But the situation was brighter at New York's Pennsylvania Station. The Pennsylvania Railroad restored its 183-train commuter service to New Jersey. Of a normal force of 407 trainmen, the Pennsy reported that only 32 were at work this morning. It said it was operating trains with the aid of specially trained volunteer workers.

A few other cracks appeared in the strike of about 12,000 switchmen, but the improvement in the situation was slight.

Nearly all the approximately 50 lines affected by the "sick" call walkout had little or no relief from the virtual tie-up of important terminal operations in about 100 of the nation's major cities.

More embargoes on shipments were imposed or extended, more industries were feeling the pinch of vanishing supplies of raw goods for processing while finished products piled up on their shipping docks; and more men were being laid off. The government embargo on most mail continued.

Break Helps Atlanta

One of the first breaks in the walkout which began six days ago came yesterday in the strategic rail center of Atlanta. The return to work there of about 1,500 switchmen was sufficient to restore normal operations in three railroad yards and to lift embargoes by all but one line.

But while the resumption of work in Atlanta and several other points was watched for signs of a possible end of the strike, it broke out in some new spots. The New York, New Haven and Hartford, a vital link between New York and New England was forced to cancel all its service. With all rail operation serving New York virtually paralyzed, the city faced a possible shortage of fuel and such foods as fresh fruits and vegetables.

At Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., where some switchmen went back to their jobs Saturday, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern reported them "sick" again yesterday.

Other cities reporting some or most of the men back at work included Kansas City, Chattanooga, Tenn., Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia and Ludington, Mich.

Encouraged by Talks

In Atlanta, a union official said the men who returned to their jobs there were encouraged by the resumption in Washington of union-management negotiations on their wage dispute. The union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the other Big Four Brotherhoods have asked a 40-hour work week at their present pay for 48 hours, plus some operating rules changes.

The National Mediation Board, which is conducting the negotiations, announced last night it had asked all four unions to restate today in writing the settlement formula which their members will accept.

Board Chairman John Thad Scott told newsmen "we feel some progress is being made on important issues," but he declined to discuss details. The talks were to be resumed at 10 a. m. today.

Also scheduled for today was a hearing in federal district court at Chicago on a contempt of court citation against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen as a result of a similar "sick" strike of switchmen during the Christmas rush. At that time, about 10,000 switchmen left their jobs at terminals in all parts of the country.

The court granted an injunction against the walkout and the union

Lack Coordination

NPA and Defense Office Need Closer Ties to Keep Economy Sound

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate small business commitee sharply rapped the National Production Authority (NPA) today for "a lack of both energy and imagination" in its defense mobilization dealings with little firms.

In a knuckle-cracking report to the Senate, the committee accused the NPA of "insensitiveness" to the problems of little companies at a time when "a large segment of American small business is in imminent danger of bankruptcy through the shortage of basic materials."

The committee, headed by Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.), said for example that under one of NPA's orders, "some 14,000 aluminum fabricators are going to be forced out of their present business."

The committee also directed criticism at Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and the munitions board. The group said, too, there are indications of a lack of coordination between the Defense Department and NPA.

Based on Hearings

The report is based on hearings which the committee conducted last month. Government officials and a parade of small business operators testified.

Among other things, the report recommends:

1. Creation as soon as possible of a controlled materials program of the World War II type, which would earmark for essential civilian use all supplies of critical materials, not needed for defense. (NPA is assembling a staff to administer a controlled materials plan. Officials said over the weekend they hope to put it into effect around July 1.)

2. Early reappraisal of defense and stockpile requirements "in order to meet the most realistic foreseeable needs."

3. Exporation of methods to guarantee short-term "tide-over" loans "to worthy small companies which are on the verge of closing because of the materials shortage, but whose facilities undoubtedly will be needed in a full mobilization program."

Proposes Pooling Program

4. Development of a pooling program "to increase the opportunities of small companies to participate on a group basis in contracts too large for single small firms to handle."

5. A requirement that all prime contractors submit periodic reports showing to what extent they have used small firms as subcontractors.

The committee held out only

U. S. Has Safest Year, but Report Shows 90,000 Dead

Accident Casualties Are Far Ahead of War Losses; Dollar Cost High

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)—The U. S. home front experienced its safest year on record in 1950, but accident casualties still easily outdistanced U. S. losses in the Korean war.

The National Safety Council totaled the nation's 1950 accidents cost today and this is what it shows:

Killed—90,000.
Injured—8,900,000.
The cost in dollars—$7,700,000,000.

The first seven months of the Korean war brought the U. S. combat casualties to 6,897 killed in action, 30,615 wounded and 9,302 missing in action.

The overall deaths from accidents, however, was 1,000 less than in 1949. The death rate of 59.9 per 100,000 population is the lowest on record.

Fatalities in motor vehicle accidents jumped 11 per cent to 35,000—the highest toll since 1941. The 1949 toll was 31,500.

Fatalities in home accidents, the second major cause of accidental deaths, declined 11 per cent—from 31,000 to 27,500.

Deaths from occupational accidents jumped 3 per cent—from 15,000 to 15,500.

Public Deaths Drop

Deaths in public accidents, excluding motor vehicle, dropped 10 per cent—from 15,500 to 14,000.

One out of every 17 persons in the U. S. suffered a disabling injury.

The estimated $7,700,000,000 economic loss covers fatal and non-fatal accidents, wage losses, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance for all accidents, production delays, damage to equipment in occupational accidents and property damage from traffic accidents and fires.

The elderly—persons 65 and older—were primarily responsible for the nation's good safety showing. Accident deaths in this group dropped 11 per cent.

White Plains, N. Y., was among leading cities reporting no traffic deaths in 1950.

One Onslaught Goes Five Miles From Seoul Behind Hits by Warplanes and Artillery; Troops Make Gains

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The biggest allied tank force of the Korean war rammed deep into Red territory in hit-run killer raids on the western front and then withdrew.

The main punch carried within five miles of devastated Seoul. It was the closest allied thrust to the old South Korean capital since United Nations forces pulled out Jan. 4.

Four other armored columns cut sharply into Red areas. Behind a thunderous bombardment by warplanes and artillery, the tanks blasted Chinese and Korean Reds out of hillside forts. The fighting raged at times at such close quarters that some Reds were ground to death under tank treads.

A division spokesman estimated the two main columns, striking up the main road to Seoul and on a lateral road six miles farther west killed 500 Reds and wounded 1,500.

On the central front, allied forces in a simultaneous attack gained four miles in four hours and were continuing to advance. These troops pushed four miles north of Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju.

New casualty tolls were piled up on the enemy all along the front, adding to the big Sunday bag which the U. S. Eighth Army estimated at 8,635 Red dead and wounded from ground action alone. Of those, 7,947 were on the flaming western front.

Add to Toll

Allied warships and far ranging fighters and bombers added to the toll again Monday, but there was no early total casualty estimate. The warships hit both coasts.

A frontline officer summed up results of the main armored blow south of Secul with a terse: "We killed a hell of a lot of them."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, watched the assault within a few hundred yards of the front. The tank-infantry task force rumbled through and beyond Anyang, nine miles south of Seoul. It chewed up Red positions in the hills flanking the highway.

Another column smashed north along a parallel six miles west of the main highway. It pulled back voluntarily after reaching a point five miles west of Anyang against fierce resistance.

Those twin-pronged drives were executing what an officer described as "a double envelopment within a double envelopment." It was called "the greatest exploitation of armor during the Korean war."

Runs Into Trap

The western column ran into a well-concealed tank trap in a ravine. The Reds rained automatic weapons and mortar fire on the tanks and knocked out a bulldozer trying to fill the tank trap. The trap was filled and the tanks pushed on.

East of the main Suwon-Seoul road, three hit-run spearheads stabbed into Chinese defenses in the Tanchon valley. The most daring of these forays was by

Di Salle Asks Aid From Public in Enforcing Controls

Asks Mayors to Select Volunteer Committees to Encourage Action

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The government is enlisting public support on the problem of enforcing price controls—a problem on which it finds itself divided.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle yesterday asked the mayors of all cities with more than 10,000 population to set up volunteer committees to encourage "general public knowledge and observance of regulations adopted in the interest of a sound national economy."

This move, of course, was not designed to take the place of prosecution of price regulation violators. It was on that phase that the split developed between Di Salles' Office of Price Stablization and the Justice Department.

The question was one of jurisdiction between the two agencies, and some officials speculated that President Truman himself may have to resolve it.

Attorney General McGrath announced last week that he was setting up a special unit to handle litigation growing out of price and wage controls. DiSalle, due to make his first public progress report in a speech at Toledo tonight, was reported to be resisting.

He was said to feel that he cannot carry out a price control program effectively unless the enforcement officials are in his own agency, working with those who administer the law and regulations.

'Matter of Clarification'

Questioned on this point in Toledo, Di Salle said the disagreement "is a matter of clarification rather than a dispute." He added: "It is a question of where we leave off and where they take over."

Di Salle said Saturday some price controls may be necessary on fresh fruits, vegetables, fish and seafood, but he indicated they will continue to be exempt for some time.

Married Men, 19-26, Are to Be Drafted

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said today new regulations are "in the works" for a draft of married men aged 19 to 26 who have no children.

Hershey said an order has been drafted for the approval of President Truman and defense manpower agencies which would cancel present deferments for men with one dependent.

Hershey told the House Armed Services Committee of the proposed order during hearings on a bill for universal military service and training.

Ohio Senator Proposes Housecleaning of Agency; Hearings May Start

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) today urged President Truman to fire White House aide Donald Dawson on the basis of charges he tried to dominate the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

"There is no question in my mind about it—the president ought to get rid of him (Dawson) and order a general housecleaning of the RFC at the same time," Bricker said.

The Ohio lawmaker spoke out regarding the R.F.C. controversy as Senator Hoey (D-NC) disclosed plans to re-open an inquiry in which another presidential aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, figured two years ago.

Without bringing Vaughan into the new picture in any way, Hoey said a Senate expenditures subcommittee heheads had discovered indications of "influence peddling" in the awarding of defense contracts.

For that reason, Hoey said, the group has decided to resume its investigation of the activities of five percenters—men who collect a fee, often five per cent, for help in getting government contracts for others.

Such fees are not illegal, but the committee found in 1949 that improper influence figured in the operations of the five percenters.

Vaughan, Mr. Truman's army aide, was reprimanded by the group for accepting seven home freezers as gifts. The general maintained he did nothing wrong and was not influenced.

At Work on Inquiry

Hoey said the sub-committee staff already is at work on the new inquiry and that public hearings may start in about two weeks.

"There isn't anything it can say now about specific contracts because we don't have all the information yet," Hoey told a reporter. "The fellows we don't want around are the influence peddlers—those who try to pull strings and trade on friendship with high officials to get favors."

As for the R.F.C. and Dawson, the Senate Banking Committee last Friday approved a report which accused three of the agency's five directors with improperly yielding to outside influence in approving several multi-million dollar loans.

The report said Dawson, adviser to Mr. Truman on personnel matters, "apparently exercised considerable influence over certain directors of the R.F.C." It singled out three of them by name.

The report added that one of the directors, Walter L. Dunham, acknowledged that he did not resist domination by Dawson.

Charges Denied

Dunham later denied that committee charges against him. So did Director C. Edward Rowe, who also was criticized. The third director, William E. Willett, has not been available for comment.

Dawson is expected back today

Levies Also Increased On Business

More Lies Ahead

Boost of 6 Billions Is to Be Made Later in Year

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Truman administration asked congress today to add four per cent to federal income tax rates, double the tax on gasoline and sharply boost levies on cigarettes, automobiles, appliances and other items.

The program, which would hit the pocketbooks of millions of taxpayers, would nearly triple the excise tax on automobiles and more than double the tax on television and radio sets, refrigerators and other appliances.

Three cents a pack would be added to the excise tax on cigarettes, making the total 10 cents a pack. The excise on whiskey would go up about 60 cents a fifth and the tax on an ordinary bottle of beer would be raised 1.3 cents.

The proposed excise increases would mean a boost of 13 per cent—from 7 to 20 per cent—on auto levies and 15 per cent—from 10 to 25 per cent—on television and radio sets. The tax would be imposed on the manufacturer's price.

Liquor, Cigarettes Hit

The present $9 a gallon liquor tax would be hiked to $12, the $8 a barrel beer tax would jump to $12, the seven cent a pack cigarette tax would go up to 10 cents and the gasoline tax would be doubled, going from one and one-half cents a gallon to three cents.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder outlined these proposals to the House Ways and Means Committee as part of the administration's first installment $10,000,000,000 tax boost.

The plan calls for a $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, a $3,000,000,000 hike in corporation income taxes and a $3,000,000,000 raise in excise (sales) taxes.

President Truman told congress last Friday the first round hike will be followed by another request for an increase or about $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Other Proposals

Other basic proposals laid before the House committee by Snyder:

1. A boost in the capital gains tax from a flat 25 per cent to 37½ per cent. The present tax applies to profits from sale of property held six months or more. The proposal would require a minimum holding period of one year to qualify for the capital gains tax in place of straight income tax.

2. Corporation income taxes—an increase of eight percentage points in normal income tax for corporations, adding $8 in tax to each $100 of profit.

This would lift the rate from 25 to 33 per cent on corporations with profits below $25,000, and from 47 to 55 per cent on those with higher profits.

30 Per Cent on 'Excess'

Corporations with profits in the "excess" class would continue to pay an extra 30 per cent on the amount deemed "excess."

The proposal—estimated to hit 323,000 corporations, as compared with some 50,000,000 persons affected by the individual income tax changes—would lift the ceiling on combined normal and excess profits taxes from 62 to 70 per cent.

3. Excise taxes—on autos, lift the rate from seven to 20 per cent of the manufacturer's price to raise $685,000,000 a year in revenue.

On refrigerators, television sets, radios, phonographs, electric, gas and oil appliances, "and other consumer durables"—raise the tax from 10 per cent to 25 per cent of the manufacturer's price, to raise $425,000,000 in revenue.

On distilled spirits—raise the rate from $9 to $12 a gallon, (from $1.80 to $2.40 on a standard, fifth-of-a-gallon bottle of 100 proof whiskey).

On beer—raise the tax from $8 to $12 a barrel (31 gallons). That would raise the tax from about 2.50 to 3.8 cents on a 12-ounce bottle.

Onteora School Situation Brings Up More Discussion

"The Onteora School Board, after their statement issued last week, should immediately resign and withdraw their request for an extra appropriation of $300,000," according to a second joint statement issued today by Claude Bell, Republican supervisor of the Town of Olive and Robert Haver, Democratic town chairman.

The statement follows:

"The Onteora School Board on Thursday and Friday of last week issued to the press and radio a statement in reply to ours of January 31 in defense of their request for a further appropriation of $300,000, in addition to the $1,850,000 previously voted, to build a school at Boiceville.

"The board's statement in the first sentence of the next to the last paragraph contains this amazing sentence:

'The board is now (speaking as of February 1st) working on the problem of building a school within the limits of $1,850,000.'

"Does the board mean to say that it has not as yet determined whether the school can be built within the original appropriation? If it has not decided that question yet, why has it asked the taxpayers for an extra $300,000? Certainly that question should have been carefully studied before the taxpayers were asked to provide an extra $300,000. Armed Forces of 15 Nations Are Fighting Reds in Korea

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The military forces of 15 nations are fighting the Communists in Korea.

The United Nations Committee for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) today gave the listing as of Jan. 12.

Actually, there are at least 16 nations represented by fighting forces. Recently ground troops arrived representing Luxembourg and Belgium, the latter previously represented by air transports.

The listings by UNCURK:

Australia—One air squadron; three naval vessels and ground forces.

Belgium—Air transports (Belgian ground forces arrived after Jan. 12).

Canada—Three destroyers; one transport squadron; ground forces.

Colombia—A frigate; an infantry battalion.

France—An infantry battalion.

Greece—Six transport planes; ground forces.

Netherlands—A destroyer; three infantry companies.

New Zealand—Two frigates; a combat unit en route.

Philippines—Regimental combat teams; tanks.

Thailand—Infantry combat teams, two corvettes and a navy transport.

Turkey—Infantrymen.

Union of South Africa—Air fighter squadron.

United Kingdom — Substantial ground and naval forces.

The Republic of Korea and the United States—UNCURK did not specify their very large commitments.

Military offers by these five other nations have been deferred for various reasons:

Bolivia—30 officers.

Costa Rica, El Salvador and Panama—volunteers.

Medical assistance has been provided by many countries. Cuba has a pending offer of human plasma. Denmark is sending a hospital ship and medical supplies. India sent a field ambulance unit. Israel offered medical supplies. Italy will send a hospital unit.

Nicaragua has offered 5,000 quarts of alcohol. Paraguay has offered medical supplies. Sweden sent a field hospital.

South Has Losses In Millions; Many Deaths Reported

Florida Loses 5,000 Cattle in Nine Counties; Fruit, Vegetables Unharmed

(By The Associated Press)

The worst winter storm to hit the deep south in 50 years has left the area with damage in the millions of dollars.

Some cities isolated and with business paralyzed for as long as four days have just begun to add up their losses. In Florida alone, the driving, near-freezing rain which whipped the state for 18 hours was blamed for the deaths of an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 cattle in nine counties.

Ammon McLellan, editor of the Okeechobee News, said many head of livestock were weakened and left so helpless by the storm that they would die. He estimated the loss in livestock alone at more than $1,000,000.

Livestock men said many head of cattle that might otherwise have survived the storm were trampled to death as the herds stampeded for shelter. Some were reported suffering from malnutrition as a result of dried up pastures when the storm hit.

'Ailment' Blamed

One veterinarian said, however, he believed the livestock losses were attributable to "some ailment," rather than the storm.

L. M. Johnson, agricultural Agent for Martin county, said an investigation in his county showed the cattle in good condition. He added that the veterinarian had treated some of the animals for prussic acid poisoning.

Most of the citrus fruit escaped damage and vegetable growers were believed not hard hit, but freezing temperatures were reported again today as far south as northern Florida. Generally, though, temperatures were above those of the past few days.

Mississippi, hardest hit state, listed 16 deaths from the storm. Louisiana, where the temperature dropped to as low as 12 below zero at Tallulah, had nine deaths.

Natchez Bestirs Again

Historic old Natchez, Miss., was bestirring itself again for the first time since the storm cut off all outside communications four days ago. No estimate of the damage there has been made.

Nashville, Tenn., also was returning to normal although it was the hardest hit city.

Melting snow and ice sent the Tombigbee River a little over a foot above flood stage last night at Columbus, Miss., but the Mobile, Ala., weather bureau said the condition was not serious. There was no prediction, how-

Only Six Trains Leave G.C.T. in Manhattan Tieup

(By The Associated Press)

The railroad switchmen's strike, now in its second week with no general back-to-work movement in sight, threatened today to shut down the entire automobile industry.

Auto industry sources said car-making may have to stop if the walkout continues another week. With 125,000 outo workers now idle nationally, they predicted the layoffs may soon rise to 600,000.

Scant relief from the paralyzing effects of the strike was evident. Besides the auto workers, thousands of other industrial workers, were idle and hundreds of plants were shut down.

Only six trains were scheduled to leave New York's huge Grand Central Terminal today. Commuter services of both the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroads are tied up there. Some 70,000 daily commuters are affected.

Jerseyites Get Service

But the situation was brighter at New York's Pennsylvania Station. The Pennsylvania Railroad restored its 183-train commuter service to New Jersey. Of a normal force of 407 trainmen, the Pennsy reported that only 32 were at work this morning. It said it was operating trains with the aid of specially trained volunteer workers.

A few other cracks appeared in the strike of about 12,000 switchmen, but the improvement in the situation was slight.

Nearly all the approximately 50 lines affected by the "sick" call walkout had little or no relief from the virtual tie-up of important terminal operations in about 100 of the nation's major cities.

More embargoes on shipments were imposed or extended, more industries were feeling the pinch of vanishing supplies of raw goods for processing while finished products piled up on their shipping docks; and more men were being laid off. The government embargo on most mail continued.

Break Helps Atlanta

One of the first breaks in the walkout which began six days ago came yesterday in the strategic rail center of Atlanta. The return to work there of about 1,500 switchmen was sufficient to restore normal operations in three railroad yards and to lift embargoes by all but one line.

But while the resumption of work in Atlanta and several other points was watched for signs of a possible end of the strike, it broke out in some new spots. The New York, New Haven and Hartford, a vital link between New York and New England was forced to cancel all its service. With all rail operation serving New York virtually paralyzed, the city faced a possible shortage of fuel and such foods as fresh fruits and vegetables.

At Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., where some switchmen went back to their jobs Saturday, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern reported them "sick" again yesterday.

Other cities reporting some or most of the men back at work included Kansas City, Chattanooga, Tenn., Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia and Ludington, Mich.

Encouraged by Talks

In Atlanta, a union official said the men who returned to their jobs there were encouraged by the resumption in Washington of union-management negotiations on their wage dispute. The union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the other Big Four Brotherhoods have asked a 40-hour work week at their present pay for 48 hours, plus some operating rules changes.

The National Mediation Board, which is conducting the negotiations, announced last night it had asked all four unions to restate today in writing the settlement formula which their members will accept.

The board had been in session until late Sunday night with representatives of the railroads and the unions—the engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen.

Board Chairman John Thad Scott told newsmen "we feel some progress is being made on important issues," but he declined to discuss details. The talks were to be resumed at 10 a. m. today.

Also scheduled for today was a hearing in federal district court at Chicago on a contempt of court citation against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen as a result of a similar "sick" strike of switchmen during the Christmas rush. At that time, about 10,000 switchmen left their jobs at terminals in all parts of the country.

The court granted an injunction against the walkout and the union

NPA and Defense Office Need Closer Ties to Keep Economy Sound

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate small business commitee sharply rapped the National Production Authority (NPA) today for "a lack of both energy and imagination" in its defense mobilization dealings with little firms.

In a knuckle-cracking report to the Senate, the committee accused the NPA of "insensitiveness" to the problems of little companies at a time when "a large segment of American small business is in imminent danger of bankruptcy through the shortage of basic materials."

The committee, headed by Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.), said for example that under one of NPA's orders, "some 14,000 aluminum fabricators are going to be forced out of their present business."

The committee also directed criticism at Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and the munitions board. The group said, too, there are indications of a lack of coordination between the Defense Department and NPA.

Based on Hearings

The report is based on hearings which the committee conducted last month. Government officials and a parade of small business operators testified.

Among other things, the report recommends:

1. Creation as soon as possible of a controlled materials program of the World War II type, which would earmark for essential civilian use all supplies of critical materials, not needed for defense. Corporations with profits in the "excess" class would continue to pay an extra 30 per cent on the amount deemed "excess."

The proposal—estimated to hit 323,000 corporations, as compared with some 50,000,000 persons affected by the individual income tax changes—would lift the ceiling on combined normal and excess profits taxes from 62 to 70 per cent.

3. Excise taxes—on autos, lift the rate from seven to 20 per cent of the manufacturer's price to raise $685,000,000 a year in revenue.

On refrigerators, television sets, radios, phonographs, electric, gas and oil appliances, "and other consumer durables"—raise the tax from 10 per cent to 25 per cent of the manufacturer's price, to raise $425,000,000 in revenue.

On distilled spirits—raise the rate from $9 to $12 a gallon, (from $1.80 to $2.40 on a standard, fifth-of-a-gallon bottle of 100 proof whiskey).

On beer—raise the tax from $8 to $12 a barrel (31 gallons). That would raise the tax from about 2.50 to 3.8 cents on a 12-ounce bottle.

Allied Tank Units Stage Hit-Run Raids in West

One Onslaught Goes Five Miles From Seoul Behind Hits by Warplanes and Artillery; Troops Make Gains

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The biggest allied tank force of the Korean war rammed deep into Red territory in hit-run killer raids on the western front and then withdrew.

The main punch carried within five miles of devastated Seoul. It was the closest allied thrust to the old South Korean capital since United Nations forces pulled out Jan. 4.

Four other armored columns cut sharply into Red areas. Behind a thunderous bombardment by warplanes and artillery, the tanks blasted Chinese and Korean Reds out of hillside forts. The fighting raged at times at such close quarters that some Reds were ground to death under tank treads.

A division spokesman estimated the two main columns, striking up the main road to Seoul and on a lateral road six miles farther west killed 500 Reds and wounded 1,500.

On the central front, allied forces in a simultaneous attack gained four miles in four hours and were continuing to advance. These troops pushed four miles north of Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju.

New casualty tolls were piled up on the enemy all along the front, adding to the big Sunday bag which the U. S. Eighth Army estimated at 8,635 Red dead and wounded from ground action alone. Of those, 7,947 were on the flaming western front.

Add to Toll

Allied warships and far ranging fighters and bombers added to the toll again Monday, but there was no early total casualty estimate. The warships hit both coasts.

A frontline officer summed up results of the main armored blow south of Seoul with a terse: "We killed a hell of a lot of them."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, watched the assault within a few hundred yards of the front. The tank-infantry task force rumbled through and beyond Anyang, nine miles south of Seoul. It chewed up Red positions in the hills flanking the highway.

Another column smashed north along a parallel six miles west of the main highway. It pulled back voluntarily after reaching a point five miles west of Anyang against fierce resistance.

Those twin-pronged drives were executing what an officer described as "a double envelopment within a double envelopment." It was called "the greatest exploitation of armor during the Korean war."

Runs Into Trap

The western column ran into a well-concealed tank trap in a ravine. The Reds rained automatic weapons and mortar fire on the tanks and knocked out a bulldozer trying to fill the tank trap. The trap was filled and the tanks pushed on.

East of the main Suwon-Seoul road, three hit-run spearheads stabbed into Chinese defenses in the Tanchon valley. The most daring of these forays was by

U. S. Has Safest Year, but Report Shows 90,000 Dead

Accident Casualties Are Far Ahead of War Losses; Dollar Cost High

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)—The U. S. home front experienced its safest year on record in 1950, but accident casualties still easily outdistanced U. S. losses in the Korean war.

The National Safety Council totaled the nation's 1950 accidents cost today and this is what it shows:

Killed—90,000.

Injured—8,900,000.

The cost in dollars—$7,700,000,000.

The first seven months of the Korean war brought the U. S. combat casualties to 6,897 killed in action, 30,615 wounded and 9,302 missing in action.

The overall deaths from accidents, however, was 1,000 less than in 1949. The death rate of 59.9 per 100,000 population is the lowest on record.

Fatalities in motor vehicle accidents jumped 11 per cent to 35,000—the highest toll since 1941. The 1949 toll was 31,500.

Fatalities in home accidents, the second major cause of accidental deaths, declined 11 per cent—from 31,000 to 27,500.

Deaths from occupational accidents jumped 3 per cent—from 15,000 to 15,500.

Public Deaths Drop

Deaths in public accidents, excluding motor vehicle, dropped 10 per cent—from 15,500 to 14,000.

One out of every 17 persons in the U. S. suffered a disabling injury.

The estimated $7,700,000,000 economic loss covers fatal and non-fatal accidents, wage losses, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance for all accidents, production delays, damage to equipment in occupational accidents and property damage from traffic accidents and fires.

The elderly—persons 65 and older—were primarily responsible for the nation's good safety showing. Accident deaths in this group dropped 11 per cent.

White Plains, N. Y., was among leading cities reporting no traffic deaths in 1950.

Di Salle Asks Aid From Public in Enforcing Controls

Asks Mayors to Select Volunteer Committees to Encourage Action

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—The government is enlisting public support on the problem of enforcing price controls—a problem on which it finds itself divided.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle yesterday asked the mayors of all cities with more than 10,000 population to set up volunteer committees to encourage "general public knowledge and observance of regulations adopted in the interest of a sound national economy."

This move, of course, was not designed to take the place of prosecution of price regulation violators. It was on that phase that the split developed between Di Salles' Office of Price Stabilization and the Justice Department.

The question was one of jurisdiction between the two agencies, and some officials speculated that President Truman himself may have to resolve it.

Attorney General McGrath announced last week that he was setting up a special unit to handle litigation growing out of price and wage controls. DiSalle, due to make his first public progress report in a speech at Toledo tonight, was reported to be resisting.

He was said to feel that he cannot carry out a price control program effectively unless the enforcement officials are in his own agency, working with those who administer the law and regulations.

'Matter of Clarification'

Questioned on this point in Toledo, Di Salle said the disagreement "is a matter of clarification rather than a dispute." He added: "It is a question of where we leave off and where they take over."

Di Salle said Saturday some price controls may be necessary on fresh fruits, vegetables, fish and seafood, but he indicated they will continue to be exempt for some time.

Married Men, 19-26, Are to Be Drafted

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said today new regulations are "in the works" for a draft of married men aged 19 to 26 who have no children.

Hershey said an order has been drafted for the approval of President Truman and defense manpower agencies which would cancel present deferments for men with one dependent.

Hershey told the House Armed Services Committee of the proposed order during hearings on a bill for universal military service and training.

Ohio Senator Proposes Housecleaning of Agency; Hearings May Start

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) today urged President Truman to fire White House aide Donald Dawson on the basis of charges he tried to dominate the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

"There is no question in my mind about it—the president ought to get rid of him (Dawson) and order a general housecleaning of the RFC at the same time," Bricker said.

The Ohio lawmaker spoke out regarding the R.F.C. controversy as Senator Hoey (D-NC) disclosed plans to re-open an inquiry in which another presidential aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, figured two years ago.

Without bringing Vaughan into the new picture in any way, Hoey said a Senate expenditures subcommittee heheads had discovered indications of "influence peddling" in the awarding of defense contracts.

For that reason, Hoey said, the group has decided to resume its investigation of the activities of five percenters—men who collect a fee, often five per cent, for help in getting government contracts for others.

Such fees are not illegal, but the committee found in 1949 that improper influence figured in the operations of the five percenters.

Vaughan, Mr. Truman's army aide, was reprimanded by the group for accepting seven home freezers as gifts. The general maintained he did nothing wrong and was not influenced.

At Work on Inquiry

Hoey said the sub-committee staff already is at work on the new inquiry and that public hearings may start in about two weeks.

"There isn't anything it can say now about specific contracts because we don't have all the information yet," Hoey told a reporter. "The fellows we don't want around are the influence peddlers—those who try to pull strings and trade on friendship with high officials to get favors."

As for the R.F.C. and Dasson, the Senate Banking Committee last Friday approved a report which accused three of the agency's five directors with improperly yielding to outside influence in approving several multi-million dollar loans.

The report said Dawson, adviser to Mr. Truman on personnel matters, "apparently exercised considerable influence over certain directors of the R.F.C." It singled out three of them by name.

The report added that one of the directors, Walter L. Dunham, acknowledged that he did not resist domination by Dawson.

Charges Denied

Dunham later denied that committee charges against him. So did Director C. Edward Rowe, who also was criticized. The third director, William E. Willett, has not been available for comment.

Dawson is expected back today

Shift of Scene

Armed Forces of 15 Nations Are Fighting Reds in Korea

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—The military forces of 15 nations are fighting the Communists in Korea.

The United Nations Committee for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) today gave the listing as of Jan. 12.

Actually, there are at least 16 nations represented by fighting forces. Recently ground troops arrived representing Luxembourg and Belgium, the latter previously represented by air transports.

The listings by UNCURK:

Australia—One air squadron; three naval vessels and ground forces.

Belgium—Air transports (Belgian ground forces arrived after Jan. 12).

Canada—Three destroyers; one transport squadron; ground forces.

Colombia—A frigate; an infantry battalion.

France—An infantry battalion.

Greece—Six transport planes; ground forces.

Netherlands—A destroyer; three infantry companies.

New Zealand—Two frigates; a combat unit en route.

Philippines—Regimental combat teams; tanks.

Thailand—Infantry combat teams, two corvettes and a navy transport.

Turkey—Infantrymen.

Union of South Africa—Air fighter squadron.

United Kingdom — Substantial ground and naval forces.

The Republic of Korea and the United States—UNCURK did not specify their very large commitments.

Military offers by these five other nations have been deferred for various reasons:

Bolivia—30 officers.

Costa Rica, El Salvador and Panama—volunteers.

Medical assistance has been provided by many countries. Cuba has a pending offer of human plasma. Denmark is sending a hospital ship and medical supplies. India sent a field ambulance unit. Israel offered medical supplies. Italy will send a hospital unit.

Nicaragua has offered 5,000 quarts of alcohol. Paraguay has offered medical supplies. Sweden sent a field hospital.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Joseph Smith, who passed away one year ago today, February 5, 1950.

I do not need a special day
To bring you to my mind
The day I do not think of you
Is very hard to find.
God and two friends gave me
strength to fight
And courage to bear the blow
God alone knows
How much I miss you part of my heart and soul is buried with you.
Signed,
MYRTLE SMITH.

William DeWitt Dies at Age of 78

William C. DeWitt, 78, city historian, died at his home, 20 John street, Sunday. He had been active in local public life for many years and had served as historian since 1942.

A native of Kingston, he was born July 27, 1873, the son of David and Mary Antoinette MacDonald DeWitt. He served as county clerk from 1913 to 1915; postmaster, 1917-24; city clerk, 1932-33; was a member of the local education board, 1910-15, and in 1924 he opposed H. J. Pratt for congressman.

When he became a member of the board of education, its members were elected and he was voted into a five-year term. He served as the board's president from 1913 through 1915. As postmaster, he served under Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

Named city historian by former Mayor William F. Edelmuth in 1942, he was reappointed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in 1943. In 1943 he wrote "The People's History of Kingston, Rondout and Vicinity 1820 to 1943" and that was copyrighted in 1944.

Surviving are his wife, who was Miss Jesse Dyer; a son, John DeWitt; three grandchildren, John, Peter and Carolyn DeWitt, and a brother, MacDonald DeWitt, of New York.

The funeral will be held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral parlors between 7 and 9 p. m., Tuesday.

POSTAL GREETINGS

I've had a dozen postals
From folks I scarcely know
Who like to spend
The Winter's end
Away from ice and snow.

With bathers holding forth
In quest of fun
Beneath the sun
We scarcely see up North.

From Tampa comes a greeting
Where Tarpon rule the bay;
It makes me blue
Up here with 'Flu
Two thousand miles away.

Methinks they're sent to vex me
Because I'm on the shelf;
But could I roam
That far from home—
I'd do the same myself!

Prison Escapee Must Face Trial in Ulster

Tristino DeFiore, 26, has been ordered to stand trial in Ulster county court for the alleged "unlawful and felonious" escape from Wallkill Medium Security Prison on December 26, 1949.

DeFiore, who had been recaptured when he was observed walking in a rainstorm shortly after his escape clad only in light clothing not suitable to the weather, was brought to the county jail here Saturday afternoon by County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Carl Cline of the sheriff's office on a court order from Judge John M. Cashin. At the time of his alleged escape, DeFiore was serving a five to 20 year sentence on a burglary charge.

Vanderbilt Canceled

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad today canceled its Commodore Vanderbilt streamliner to New York because of the switchmen's strike. Previous cancellations left only four New York Central passenger trains scheduled to leave Chicago today for the east coast. They are the 20th Century Limited and the Pacemaker to New York, the New England States Limited to Boston and the Lake Shore Limited at New York and Boston. Trains canceled earlier included the second section of the 20th Century and the advance Commodore.

Forecasts G.O.P. Strength

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Dirksen of Illinois said today Republicans can win control of Congress in 1952 if they emphasize "foreign policy, socialism, spending-taxing and cleaning house." Dirksen said in a recent survey he made in eight eastern and midwest states as head of the G.O.P. senatorial campaign committee convinced him "Republican chances never were better." "If the election were held right now we would sweep both Houses of Congress," he told a reporter. "There is widespread protest and dissent to the administration's policies."

Dewey Praises Law

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today the state's law against discrimination in employment "has ceased to be an experiment in social legislation and has become a real instrument for social progress." Dewey credited the law for much of the "outstanding progress in the position of American Negroes in our state and our economy." The governor made the statements in a proclamation designating Feb. 11-18 as "Negro History Week" in New York state.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Details of the administration's $10,000,000,000 tax boosting program confused but failed to flatten the stock market today.

Prices moved a bit higher at the opening. As news of the new tax proposals sifted through the financial district, prices then began to ease a trifle.

Subsequently numerous stocks see-sawed the plus and minus columns.

Price changes were small, in few cases running to as much as $1 a share. After a fairly busy start, trading slackened and continued through the morning at no better than a job-trot.

Most industrial stock groups were mixed, with only airline shares showing an inclination to advance unanimously. Scrambled were steels, motors, aircrafts, radio-TV, chemicals and railroads.

May Close Auto Industry

Detroit, Feb. 5 (AP)—The gigantic automobile industry may have to shut down completely if the railroad switchmen's strike continues another week, spokesmen said today. The glum forecast came as a new production week started with about 125,000 auto-workers across the nation on the idle list. That number, officials predicted, may soon be up to 600,000. A shortage of materials usually moved by rail was blamed. Some companies have tried to transport supplies by truck, but were hampered by bad weather.

Poultrymen to Hold Parley in Ellenville

Marketing of poultry meat will be discussed at a meeting of poultrymen at Ellenville High School at 8 p. m., Thursday, February 8.

A report on the operation of a live poultry market in western New York will be given by Professor Robert Baker of the poultry department of the State College of Agriculture. Representatives from the Department of Agriculture and Markets and from farmer poultry marketing organizations are also expected to be present, according to C. H. Padgham, assistant county agricultural agent.

A report will be given by the temporary committee appointed early this winter by a group of Ellenville poultrymen to study various possibilities that would unite producers to promote orderly and cooperative poultry meat marketing.

Tiniest Quad Dies

Boston, Feb. 5 (AP)—The life of Karen Elizabeth, tiniest of the three-day old Allen quadruplets ended last night and all Boston was sorry. The wee infant—one pound and two ounces—died at 11:45 p. m., after a day-long attempt by doctors to bring her out of a "cyanotic spell" which left her unable to breathe properly. The four babies, two boys and two girls, were born last Friday to Mrs. Helen Allen, petite 31-year-old wife of policeman Robert J. Allen, 41. When Karen died, Dad Allen said: "It was God's will. But they tell me the other three are fine and we're tickled to death for them."

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Joseph Smith, who passed away one year ago today, February 5, 1950.

I do not need a special day
To bring you to my mind
The day I do not think of you
Is very hard to find.
God and two friends gave me
strength to fight
And courage to bear the blow
God alone knows
How much I miss you, part of my heart and soul is buried
with you. Signed,
MYRTLE SMITH.

William DeWitt Dies at Age of 78

William C. DeWitt, 78, city historian, died at his home, 20 John street, Sunday. He had been active in local public life for many years and had served as historian since 1942.

A native of Kingston, he was born July 27, 1873, the son of David and Mary Antoinette MacDonald DeWitt. He served as county clerk from 1913 to 1915; postmaster, 1917-24; city clerk, 1932-33; was a member of the local education board, 1910-15, and in 1924 he opposed H. J. Pratt for congressman.

When he became a member of the board of education, its members were elected and he was voted into a five-year term. He served as the board's president from 1913 through 1915. As postmaster, he served under Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

Named city historian by former Mayor William F. Edelmuth in 1942, he was reappointed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in 1948. In 1943 he wrote "The People's History of Kingston, Rondout and Vicinity 1820 to 1943" and that was copyrighted in 1944.

Surviving are his wife, who was Miss Jesse Dyer; a son, John DeWitt; three grandchildren, John, Peter and Carolyn DeWitt, and a brother, MacDonald DeWitt, of New York.

The funeral will be held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral parlors between 7 and 9 p. m., Tuesday.

POSTAL GREETINGS

I've had a dozen postals
From folks I scarcely know
Who like to spend
The Winter's end
Away from ice and snow.

With bathers holding forth
In quest of fun
Beneath the sun
We scarcely see up North.

From Tampa comes a greeting
Where Tarpon rule the bay;
It makes me blue
Up here with 'Flu
Two thousand miles away.

Methinks they're sent to vex me
Because I'm on the shelf;
But could I roam
That far from home—
I'd do the same myself!

Prison Escapee Must Face Trial in Ulster

Tristino DeFiore, 26, has been ordered to stand trial in Ulster county court for the alleged "unlawful and felonious" escape from Wallkill Medium Security Prison on December 26, 1949.

DeFiore, who had been recaptured when he was observed walking in a rainstorm shortly after his escape clad only in light clothing not suitable to the weather, was brought to the county jail here Saturday afternoon by County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Carl Cline of the sheriff's office on a court order from Judge John M. Cashin. At the time of his alleged escape, DeFiore was serving a five to 20 year sentence on a burglary charge.

Vanderbilt Canceled

Forecasts G.O.P. Strength

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Dirksen of Illinois said today Republicans can win control of Congress in 1952 if they emphasize "foreign policy, socialism, spending-taxing and cleaning house." Dirksen said in a recent survey he made in eight eastern and midwest states as head of the G.O.P. senatorial campaign committee convinced him "Republican chances never were better." "If the election were held right now we would sweep both Houses of Congress," he told a reporter. "There is widespread protest and dissent to the administration's policies."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Details of the administration's $10,000,000,000 tax boosting program confused but failed to flatten the stock market today.

Prices moved a bit higher at the opening. As news of the new tax proposals sifted through the financial district, prices then began to ease a trifle.

Subsequently numerous stocks see-sawed the plus and minus columns.

Price changes were small, in few cases running to as much as $1 a share. After a fairly busy start, trading slackened and continued through the morning at no better than a job-trot.

Most industrial stock groups were mixed, with only airline shares showing an inclination to advance unanimously. Scrambled were steels, motors, aircrafts, radio-TV, chemicals and railroads.

May Close Auto Industry

Detroit, Feb. 5 (AP)—The gigantic automobile industry may have to shut down completely if the railroad switchmen's strike continues another week, spokesmen said today. The glum forecast came as a new production week started with about 125,000 autoworkers across the nation on the idle list. That number, officials predicted, may soon be up to 600,000. A shortage of materials usually moved by rail was blamed. Some companies have tried to transport supplies by truck, but were hampered by bad weather.

Tiniest Quad Dies

Boston, Feb. 5 (AP)—The life of Karen Elizabeth, tiniest of the three-day old Allen quadruplets ended last night and all Boston was sorry. The wee infant—one pound and two ounces—died at 11:45 p. m., after a day-long attempt by doctors to bring her out of a "cyanotic spell" which left her unable to breathe properly. The four babies, two boys and two girls, were born last Friday to Mrs. Helen Allen, petite 31-year old wife of policeman Robert J. Allen, 41. When Karen died, Dad Allen said: "It was God's will. But they tell me the other three are fine and we're tickled to death for them."

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband, Joseph Smith, who passed away one year ago today, February 5, 1950.

I do not need a special day
To bring you to my mind
The day I do not think of you
Is very hard to find.
God and two friends gave me
strength to fight
And courage to bear the blow
God alone knows
How much I miss you, part of my heart and soul is buried
with you. Signed,
MYRTLE SMITH.

William DeWitt Dies at Age of 78

William C. DeWitt, 78, city historian, died at his home, 20 John street, Sunday. He had been active in local public life for many years and had served as historian since 1942.

A native of Kingston, he was born July 27, 1873, the son of David and Mary Antoinette MacDonald DeWitt. He served as county clerk from 1913 to 1915; postmaster, 1917-24; city clerk, 1932-33; was a member of the local education board, 1910-15, and in 1924 he opposed H. J. Pratt for congressman.

When he became a member of the board of education, its members were elected and he was voted into a five-year term. He served as the board's president from 1913 through 1915. As postmaster, he served under Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

Named city historian by former Mayor William F. Edelmuth in 1942, he was reappointed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in 1948. In 1943 he wrote "The People's History of Kingston, Rondout and Vicinity 1820 to 1943" and that was copyrighted in 1944.

Surviving are his wife, who was Miss Jesse Dyer; a son, John DeWitt; three grandchildren, John, Peter and Carolyn DeWitt, and a brother, MacDonald DeWitt, of New York.

The funeral will be held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral parlors between 7 and 9 p. m., Tuesday.

Evening Verse
(For Your Scrapbook)
By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR

POSTAL GREETINGS

I've had a dozen postals
From folks I scarcely know
Who like to spend
The Winter's end
Away from ice and snow.

With bathers holding forth
In quest of fun
Beneath the sun
We scarcely see up North.

From Tampa comes a greeting
Where Tarpon rule the bay;
It makes me blue
Up here with 'Flu
Two thousand miles away.

Methinks they're sent to vex me
Because I'm on the shelf;
But could I roam
That far from home—
I'd do the same myself!

Prison Escapee Must Face Trial in Ulster

Tristino DeFiore, 26, has been ordered to stand trial in Ulster county court for the alleged "unlawful and felonious" escape from Wallkill Medium Security Prison on December 26, 1949.

DeFiore, who had been recaptured when he was observed walking in a rainstorm shortly after his escape clad only in light clothing not suitable to the weather, was brought to the county jail here Saturday afternoon by County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Carl Cline of the sheriff's office on a court order from Judge John M. Cashin. At the time of his alleged escape, DeFiore was serving a five to 20 year sentence on a burglary charge.

Vanderbilt Canceled

Forecasts G.O.P. Strength

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Dirksen of Illinois said today Republicans can win control of Congress in 1952 if they emphasize "foreign policy, socialism, spending-taxing and cleaning house." Dirksen said in a recent survey he made in eight eastern and midwest states as head of the G.O.P. senatorial campaign committee convinced him "Republican chances never were better." "If the election were held right now we would sweep both Houses of Congress," he told a reporter. "There is widespread protest and dissent to the administration's policies."

Dewey Praises Law

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today the state's law against discrimination in employment "has ceased to be an experiment in social legislation and has become a real instrument for social progress." Dewey credited the law for much of the "outstanding progress in the position of American Negroes in our state and our economy." The governor made the statements in a proclamation designating Feb. 11-18 as "Negro History Week" in New York state.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Details of the administration's $10,000,000,000 tax boosting program confused but failed to flatten the stock market today.

Prices moved a bit higher at the opening. As news of the new tax proposals sifted through the financial district, prices then began to ease a trifle.

Subsequently numerous stocks see-sawed the plus and minus columns.

Price changes were small, in few cases running to as much as $1 a share. After a fairly busy start, trading slackened and continued through the morning at no better than a job-trot.

Most industrial stock groups were mixed, with only airline shares showing an inclination to advance unanimously. Scrambled were steels, motors, aircrafts, radio-TV, chemicals and railroads.

May Close Auto Industry

Detroit, Feb. 5 (AP)—The gigantic automobile industry may have to shut down completely if the railroad switchmen's strike continues another week, spokesmen said today. The glum forecast came as a new production week started with about 125,000 autoworkers across the nation on the idle list. That number, officials predicted, may soon be up to 600,000. A shortage of materials usually moved by rail was blamed. Some companies have tried to transport supplies by truck, but were hampered by bad weather.

Poultrymen to Hold Parley in Ellenville

Marketing of poultry meat will be discussed at a meeting of poultrymen at Ellenville High School at 8 p. m., Thursday, February 8.

A report on the operation of a live poultry market in western New York will be given by Professor Robert Baker of the poultry department of the State College of Agriculture. Representatives from the Department of Agriculture and Markets and from farmer poultry marketing organizations are also expected to be present, according to C. H. Padgham, assistant county agricultural agent.

A report will be given by the temporary committee appointed early this winter by a group of Ellenville poultrymen to study various possibilities that would unite producers to promote orderly and cooperative poultry meat marketing.

Tiniest Quad Dies

Boston, Feb. 5 (AP)—The life of Karen Elizabeth, tiniest of the three-day old Allen quadruplets ended last night and all Boston was sorry. The wee infant—one pound and two ounces—died at 11:45 p. m., after a day-long attempt by doctors to bring her out of a "cyanotic spell" which left her unable to breathe properly. The four babies, two boys and two girls, were born last Friday to Mrs. Helen Allen, petite 31-year-old wife of policeman Robert J. Allen, 41. When Karen died, Dad Allen said: "It was God's will. But they tell me the other three are fine and we're tickled to death for them."

Final Showdown Is Expected Tonight On Rent Control

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP) — A final showdown was expected tonight or tomorrow in the legislature on the McGoldrick residential rent control plan, which would permit some increases up to 15 per cent.

The Democratic minority, claiming the plan would blow the lid off rent ceilings, got ready for their big move to block it.

The controlling Republicans, silent so far, were expected to crush the Democratic bid and allow the plan to become effective automatically on March 15, when the present rent freeze "thaws."

The G.O.P. was expected to accuse the Democrats of playing politics on the rent issue and to claim that only about one-fifth of the tenants whose rents are now frozen would have to pay more.

The Democrats contend that nearly 50 per cent of the tenants would be subject to increases.

Rent control is the first of several major issues stacking up as the legislature moved into its sixth week and toward mid-March adjournment.

Others on which action may come soon inculde a proposal to levy a new weight-distance tax on heavy trucks; a slightly watered-down version of Governor Dewey's sweeping war-regimentation program; adoption of Dewey's record $938,940,759 budget and revision of the unemployment insurance law.

39 Ministers, Rabbis Wouldn't Close 'Miracle'

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Thirty-nine Protestant ministers, rabbis and other religious leaders have asked the New York State Board of Regents not to revoke the license of "The Miracle," controversial Italian film.

The new appeal, announced yesterday, was signed by residents of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The appeal was similar to one signed by 33 clergymen three weeks ago. The Liberal Ministers Club of New York initiated yesterday's appeal.

The new appeal said the U. S. Constitution and American heritage call for individual decision on whether to see a film.

"The Miracle," directed by Roberto Rossellini, has been condemned by Francis Cardinal Spellman as "a mockery" of the Roman Catholic faith. He has urged the nation's Catholics to boycott it.

For several weeks, Catholics have picketed the Paris theater here during showing of the film.

An action to bar the film as sacrilegious and otherwise objectionable is pending before the State Board of Regents. Official action seeking to bar the film was started by New York city authorities.

Yesterday's letter was accompanied by a letter signed by the President of the Liberal Ministers Club, the Rev. Solon D. Morgan, minister of the Flushing Unitarian Church.

Plan Worked Out To Draft Rabbis

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—The National Jewish Welfare Board has worked out a program for a "voluntary draft" of rabbis into the armed forces as chaplains.

Rabbi Aryeh Lev, director of the board's religious activities, said yesterday eight rabbis will enter the armed services this month.

The program, agreed to by orthodox, conservative and reformed Jewry, is backed by sanctions imposed by rabbinical groups, Rabbi Lev said.

He said that the plan would insure a steady flow of rabbis to augment 37 full-time and 205 part-time Jewish chaplains now serving the armed forces throughout the world.

Rabbi Lev said the draft would hit younger men who were in theological seminaries during the war. He added that only those under 33 years of age and single, or married but childless, were being considered.

Rabbi draftees are called by their respective rabbinical conferences and picked by lot, Rabbi Lev said.

Although the armed forces selects its own chaplains, the welfare board's recommendations usually are accepted if the designated rabbis pass medical examinations.

The draft apparently would not affect the 135 Jewish chaplains in the reserve.

Five Airmen Perish

London, Feb. 5 (AP)—Five U. S. airmen perished Saturday night when a U. S. B-50 bomber crashed in a ploughed field near its home base in Bassingbourne, Cambridgeshire, shortly after taking off. Three other crewmen escaped unhurt from the burning plane. A U. S. Air Force spokesman said the names of the dead would not be announced before tomorrow, pending notification of next of kin.

Central Front, Korea (AP)—The military policeman in Korea contributes his share of valor, fighting and dying.

He wears his armband proudly.

He wages a continuous fight against guerrillas and slippery infiltrating enemy troops. He has even seen notable duty in the front lines.

Col. William M. Campbell, provost marshal of the Tenth Corps said:

"It took this strange Korean War to make military policemen realize they were just as much a part of the fighting team as the infantry soldier. Those who did not realize it right away damn soon learned."

MPs fought from foxholes at Nunu and ran the seven mile gantlet of fire there.

"My MP company lost ten jeeps, six motorcycles and one truck in that pass at Kunu," said Jimmy Tune, a military policeman of Greenville, Tex.

Frequently Ambushed

On the narrow, treacherous mountain roads of Korea, military police patrols, escort convoys and other vehicles are frequently ambushed. They are experts at breaking up enemy roadblocks.

A few nights ago four MPs were ambushed on a Central Korean road. They radioed for aid and began fighting off the enemy. Soon other MPs arrived. They killed eight Reds and broke up the roadblock.

Military police—army and marine—fought in the historic battles at Hagaru and Koto on the northeast front and played a big part in the successful withdrawal to Hamhung. A Tenth Corps MP hero of Hagaru is Cpl. James C. Foster of Shelby, N. C.

Some of his buddies, all veterans of the northeast Korean action, told how Foster spent a whole day evacuating wounded under fire. Finally, though bullets hailed around him, he crawled out on the ice of Changjin Reservoir to rescue a wounded soldier.

Jokes About Pass

"Bullets ripped through the sleeve of Foster's parka, through his collar, and a bullet split the hand guard of his rifle," related Pcf. Reis Kash, of Cincinnati. "But Foster reached the man and carried him off the ice. Then the wounded man saw that he was being rescued by an MP and said 'Here I am in trouble, and I don't have a pass'."

Military police maintain outpost checkpoints on lonely, dangerous roads. In towns and villages they keep order and control traffic. When the army sweeps through any captured town it is often military police who make the hazardous house to house searches for possible hiding enemy.

They take over army prisoners and establish and operate stockades. They screen the streams of refugees for infiltrating enemy.

"I stopped two oxcarts in succession," Kash grinned. "One was filled with mortar shells and the other with grenades."

Roundup on Taxes

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Tax Commission is conducting an intensified search to see if people pay the full state tax on their income. The state agency said yesterday that its current roundup of information on individual earnings was the broadest ever undertaken. It requires more than 400,000 employers in the state to file information reports on all resident employes who received more than $1,100 last year if single, or more than $2750 if married.

Phone Service Again

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Radio telephone service to Korea, through a South Korean government station at Pusan, has been re-established by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the firm announced yesterday. The service was disrupted early last month when United Nations forces withdrew from Seoul.

POSITIVE SPIRIT IN FRANCE

French Prime Minister Pleven's visit to Washington signifies a heartening new sense of realism in French policy. It seems to suggest France has a keener awareness than Britain of the need for a firm stand against Red aggression everywhere.

Even before Pleven came, France had declared its intent to back the United States in the United Nations on the issue of branding Red China an aggressor.

Reports of the Pleven talks with President Truman add substance to this intent. France is understood to be willing to support economic sanctions against China if they're urged by us.

It has often in recent weeks given fresh assurances of its determination to keep its 150,000 troops in Indo-China until the rebel Viet Minh forces are defeated. But some advices say the French would pull out if we thought it the best course.

In return for these assurances, the French naturally want more economic and military aid from us in Indo-China, though they don't want our manpower. And if Red China should start actively helping the rebels in Viet Nam, the French want us to back them in seeking UN condemnation of the Chinese for their aggression.

It is no sudden burst of moral fervor that induces the French to show this stiffer attitude. Diplomacy is the art of give-and-take. They appreciate that if they want something from us, they have to give something, too.

Indications are that the French are actually prepared to put up a sterner front in Europe as well. It has become the fashion lately to discount completely the value of the French soldier in any European showdown with Russia. But Pleven is said to have assured Mr. Truman the French will rearm at a satisfactory pace and will fight. They are even ready, so the reports go, to accept real West German rearmament.

What Pleven told the President on these points may not be evident in the French prime minister's public utterances at home in the months ahead. For this is election year in France, and politicians there are no doubt much like our own. They can't often say what they really believe.

For campaign purposes, French leaders will have to exhibit eagerness for new talks with Russia, even though they know little might thus be achieved. They'll have to accept German rearmament slowly and grudgingly.

Right now French Communists hold 30 per cent of the seats in France's National Assembly, making them the country's biggest party. Pleven and other moderates want to reduce their numbers substantially at the polls this fall. It's a delicate job to win millions of new votes among the war-weary French and still pursue a sound, courages policy in the world struggle against Russia.

But it is encouraging that responsible Frenchmen are making the effort. One prime evidence of the different attitude of France and Britain: When Prime Minister Attlee visited Mr. Truman, he sought assurances we wouldn't drop the A-bomb without consulting Britain. When Pleven came, he asked for guarantees that we WOULD use it promptly if Russia attacked in Western Europe.

If this positive spirit can be developed everywhere among free nations, we won't have to fear for our security and our liberty.

GOOD NEWS FROM GEORGIA

The Ku Klux Klan has received a heavy blow in Herman Talmadge's Georgia. The Legislature has passed a bill, which Governor Talmadge had promised to sign, outlawing two Klan practices, the wearing of masks and the burning of fiery crosses. The vote was unanimous in the Senate. In the House only one vote was cast against it. In previous legislatures similar measures were killed.

It is hard to imagine a greater danger to free government than to have irresponsible groups going about beating and killing persons of whom they disapprove. All the more objectionable is the use of disguises, so that the offenders cannot be identified. Other Southern states have recognized the evil, and taken action similar to that which Georgia now takes. They are all to be commended.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

HONOR MILITARY CHAPLAINS

I have received an invitation from the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of the B'nai B'rith to attend a dinner in honor of three chaplains whose services during the past year measured up to the glorious heroism of the four chaplains of the U.S.S. Dorchester.

This particular B'nai B'rith lodge is named after the Jewish chaplain who went down on the Dorchester, and having accepted the honor of using his name, its members sought for a means of serving the armed forces in a suitable maner. As I gather the story, it would seem that out of conversations with Chaplain Joshua L. Goldberg of the navy, the lodge reached the conclusion that they would give awards to three chaplains each year who ". . . typify the devotion and sacrifice of the four chaplains who went down together when the U.S.S. Dorchester sank on Feb. 3, 1943. . . ."

That was done at the Waldorf-Astoria on Sunday night, but this article is being written prior to the event because the broader implications of the concept make the awards, and not the banquet, important.

The chaplain services in our armed forces represent a distinctively American recognition of the rights of an individual, under all conditions, to freedom of faith, to an acknowledgment of his God and to freedom of access to religious worship without let or hindrance. This has been American tradition for three centuries, with a few unfortunate and much criticized lapses in colonial times.

The chaplain, then, in our armed services, represents not only his own church but all churches; he speaks not for a sect or a cult but for the men of God in our nation; he is not only a professional clergyman but the conscience of our nation among the fighting men, and he comes to these men, and women, too, in these days, almost as a parent.

It is an acknowledgment of the indisputable fact that our nation was founded in the spirit of the Creator, as the Declaration of Independence so clearly stipulates. So in war and peace, the men of God hold before our people "the laws of nature and of nature's God" and the broad concept that "all men are created equal" and possess "unalienable rights," and among those rights must be the right to be close to one's faith and traditions even in the circumstances of war.

The heroism and self-sacrifice of the chaplains of all faiths is an American saga. At this particular banquet of the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of B'nai B'rith, awards were given to two Protestants and a Catholic: Commander Robert M. Schwyhart of the navy; Major Merritt O. Slawson of the airforce; and Captain Herman G. Felhoelter of the army.

According to the program, Abel Greenberg, president of the lodge, offered the awards, which were received by the chief chaplains of each service in the presence of Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

Chaplain Felhoelter died in action on the Kum river in the Korean war. Himself wounded, Father Felhoelter voluntarily remained behind to aid the dying and wounded and "when last seen was still ministering" in the service to his men. "His valorous action was an inspiration to every member of his regiment. . . ."

Of Chaplain Slawson, it is said in a citation that he "distinguished himself by an outstanding spirit of charity and sacrifice which manifested itself in his ministrations to all personnel regardless of race, rank or position. He has exerted himself in an extraordinary manner to bring courage as well as practical assistance to his men under any and all conditions."

Chaplain Schwyhart serves the First Marine Division and has shown "great steadfastness in the face of adversity; notable courage when circumstances tended to promote fear and discouragement; a broad charity which manifested itself in service to all his men regardless of their creed, rank, or position. . . ."

Here are our three faiths standing solidly together in time of war. Irrespective of differences, in the nation's peril, they cooperate in the spirit of the four chaplains who gave their lives that other men might live.

Their story should be repeated often that those who fail to understand the depth of religious sensibilities in American life may hear of it anew year by year. And it is symbolic that a Jewish lodge should so honor the chaplains of the two other faiths in this age when atheism and bigotry ride the earth.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

EMOTIONAL ILL HEALTH

If we were asked what ailment or diability caused most absence from work, most of us would probably say the common cold, headache, and rheumatism, in that order. It may surprise us to learn that emotional ill health is the major cause of lost time in industry.

In Industrial Health, Dr. H. Graham Ross, writes on emotional ill health, basing his conclusions on a series of studies by McGill University Industrial Relations Center. Industrial Health is published by the Health League of Canada, a most worthy organization.

Dr. Ross concludes that emotional disturbances account for more than 50 per cent of industrial illness. Emotionally disturbed people also make up the accident-prone groups in industry, since emotional disturbances may be due either to causes outside the employe's work, or by tensions deriving from the work itself.

A major cause of tension and tiredness in the factory worker is that on the modern assembly line, the work is so divided that a man often performs a piece of work that has no meaning to him in relation to the finished job.

The tendency to excessive tension is further increased by such factors as undefined responsibility, divided responsibility, excessive responsibility and responsibility without authority.

Human relations also play an important part in producing emotional states in such cases as the following:

1. Employers' job standards and those of the employee may differ and cause tensions.

2. The worker may have inadequate qualifications, which means he is working under a handicap. This keeps the worker unusually tensed as he tries to keep his work up to standard requirements.

3. There may be inadequate supervision. Over-direction or underdirection by the supervisor will produce a sense of frustration or insecurity, leading to excessive tension.

We know what tensions mean to us not only at work but in all the circumstances of life, and we can readily understand why emotional disturbances and their tensions take the mental and emotional strength from the worker and cause him to feel unfit for his daily work.

Tenseness always tires.

Only as Strong as the Weakest Link

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It's still an official secret but the United States will soon be independent of the rest of the world when it comes to opium.

This independence will be obtained by planting about 30,000 acres of poppies in California and the far west; second, by using a new substitute for morphine—methodine.

Most people don't realize it, but the hospitals of the United States could hardly function without opium. In addition, opium and its derivatives—morphine and codeine—would be indispensable in an atomic-bomb disaster. Yet our chief sources of opium are now either under or near Communist domination. One opium area, China, is now completely Communist, while another, Iran, could be taken over by Russia in a few days. A third source, Macedonia, is on the precarious edge of the Iron Curtain.

Therefore, having learned a lesson in World War II, when we let the Japanese take over the quinine supply of the Dutch East Indies, the National Research Council and the Munitions Board, under Chairman Jack Small, are getting prepared for an eventual opium shortage.

First, a synthetic substitute for morphine, methodine, according to Dr. Isaac Starr of the University of Pennsylvania, can be manufactured from available domestic chemicals. Furthermore, it can be produced at only a fraction of the cost of morphine.

Second, the Munitions Board has been collecting opium-bearing poppies through several secret research farms in the west, and now has on hand enough poppy seed to plant 30,000 acres. In a few months more, sufficient seed will be available for 70,000 acres and this acreage, yielding two crops a year, will be enough to supply the entire nation.

Note 1—Exact location of the poppy farms is being kept a secret for fear they will become the Mecca of dope addicts.

Note 2—Word of the new U. S. opium supply will bring howls of anguish to the international opium monopoly which has been hiking prices to American purchasers.

Taft vs. Ike

It is now exactly 17 months before the two great American political parties hold their conventions and select the two candidates who will battle it out to become president of the United States. But even 17 months in advance, the backstage wires are being pulled and the groundwork laid for that battle.

In the Republican camp two men are definitely emerging on the presidential horizon—Taft and Eisenhower.

This was admitted by rotund, likable Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, one of Senator Taft's most devoted presidential promoters, who recently discussed Taft's chances of defeating Eisenhower.

"Ike will have to take a stand on 18-year-olds," he explained privately to friends, "and that will get all the mothers sore at him.

"Then he's been over in Germany talking to the Nazi generals," Brown continued, "and that isn't going to please the Jewish voters.

"And he's taking a stand on sending troops to Europe, which will get a lot of other people sore at him. So," concluded Congressman Brown, "Ike hasn't got a chance against Taft."

Note—It is significant, however, that Taft himself has now hedged a little on his original stand against sending troops to Europe.

Bread Prices

Correction—In recently reviewing a study of food prices made by the Senate Food Investigating Subcommittee, both this column and the committee apparently were in error regarding the margin of profit made by bakers. Further study convinces this writer that the baker's margin is not unreasonable, and that the average baker seldom makes more than half a cent on each pound of bread. While the price of bread has increased, the prices of its ingredients have also shot up, in some cases proportionately more. In fairness to the baking industry, I am delighted to set these facts straight.

People-to-People Friendship

Just as the Howard University Negro players toured Norway a year ago to offset the propaganda of Negro singer Paul Robeson, so an orchestra from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh has recently toured Yugoslavia to build good will with the people of that country.

The Duquesne orchestra, many of them the sons of Pennsylvania steel workers who migrated here from Yugoslavia, probably accomplished more than diplomacy could do in 20 years.

"The Russians," commented an excited Yugoslav leader to U. S. Ambassador Allen, "come in glum and glowering. They want to take everything out for themselves. But these tamburitzans are smiling and happy. They give to us. We are all for Americanski system."

The Duquesne youngsters, all of Yugoslav descent with such hyphenated names as Pat Jordanoff, sang and danced before more than 100,000 wildly cheering Yugoslavs singing Yugoslav folk songs, as well as cowboy songs and American folk dances.

Ambassador Allen, introducing them at Lyublyana, said: "These are the descendants of your own heroic people. In the United States people are free to carry on the culture of their parents. We are proud of the Yugoslav contribution to our culture."

The Duquesne students found the Yugoslav people united on one big point, a roaring contempt and dislike for Moscow.

Washington Pipeline

Senator Capehart of Indiana has challenged Vice President Barkley and Senators Chapman and Clements of Kentucky to a duck-roasting contest. It all started over a news clipping that better ducks are roasted in Kentucky than in Indiana. . . . The air force has improved its devices for steering bombs to their targets. In the future, the air force will almost be able to drop a bomb on a dime. . . . So many American exports are winding up behind the Iron Curtain (sent via our allies) that President Truman will name Robert J. Lynch, the former State Department official, as assistant secretary of commerce to block this Iron Curtain trade. . . . The army would like to stop U. S. veterans wounded in Korea from talking about their war experiences after they get back. Cautious Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, the army's press mogul, regards most of these stories as bad publicity, but fears the reaction would be worse if the army were caught trying to gag wounded G.I.'s.

Imaginary Dispatch Kids British in Recent Tactics Regarding Korean Situation in U.N.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 5 — Many people here have had a good laugh over an article in the London "Economist" twitting the British government on its recent tactics in the U.N. in connection with the Korean situation. It is in the form of an imaginary dispatch dated about a year hence—January 22, 1952 — from a British correspondent at Lake Success. It reads as follows:

"Since the withdrawal of the United Nations forces from Bonn, opinion in the assembly has been veering in favour of the American view that it is necessary to abandon Germany altogether in order to restore peace in Europe. The British delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, has, indeed, continued to press for the condemnation of Russia as an aggressor, arguing that the whole purpose of the United Nations would be stultified if the assembly refused to stigmatise the Russian invasion of west Germany as an aggression. The American delegate, Mr. Warren Austin, however, is urging caution: He maintains that hasty action would not be in the interests of peace and that time is needed to study the latest Russian counter-proposals, which should be given the most careful consideration.

"The proposal of the United Nations Political Committee for a cease-fire in Germany, to be followed by a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, was rejected by Russia, who insisted that Russian basic terms for a settlement must be accepted before the victorious Russian volunteers could be advised to desist from their offensive. The Russian demand is that all foreign troops must be withdrawn from Germany and that the internal affairs of Germany must be settled by the Germans themselves; as all German politicians who have not either escaped across the Rhine or joined the Communists have now been shot, Moscow is confident that Herr Ulbright will be able to handle the situation without difficulty. The Russians are willing to accept the proposal for a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers on condition that representatives of Italy, Iraq and Mongolia are added to it and that the conference is held in Leningrad.

"The British army having suffered 50,000 casualties in the fighting in Germany, British public opinion is in a somewhat excitable mood and the government is being sharply criticized by the opposition for the ineffectiveness of its European policy.

The prime minister has pointed out that the R.A.F. cannot be used for bombing beyond the boundary of the British zone without a decision of the United Nations, but he has promised to do all he can to get the United Nations to declare Russia an aggressor, even though it is generally recognized that no sanctions are likely to be imposed. Opinion in well-informed circles in Washington, however, is that America must be wary of being drawn into an extension of hostilities; it is felt that the British are liable to be headstrong in their reactions to events in Europe and that their old imperial traditions are making them unduly bellicose. The State Department has not yet abandoned its hope of detaching Russia from China, and appreciates any policy which might have the effect of driving Stalin into the arms of Mao.

"Senator Bebop has made an important speech at Cincinnati, in which he warned the American people against allowing American troops to be tied up in Europe when there was such a serious danger of a Russo-Chinese attack on Alaska, Japan and the Philippines. He said it was very unfortunate that nobody seemed to be able to exercise any control over General Eisenhower, who had evidently underestimated the prospects of Russian intervention when he pursued the East German invaders back across the zonal boundary. Everything should be done to restore peace as quickly as possible, so that there should be no damage to the old friendship between the Russian and American peoples. The Russians, he declared, were a proud people who would not long be subservient to the mandarins of the Forbidden City.

"A deep impression has also been made by an address delivered to the Foreign Policy Association by Mr. John K. Poffenheimer of Adriatic Exports Inc., who told his audience that he had been doing excellent business in trade from Trieste behind the Iron Curtain and that, if only America would do nothing to interfere with Russian expansion, there was no reason why this trade should not go on for a few years longer. He said that communism in Europe could not be stopped by force, and the sooner Britain realized this, the better.

"The Indian prime minister has also given a press conference in Mexico opposing the idea of declaring Russia an aggressor. The Russians, he said, had suffered great humiliations in the period before Peter the Great, and naturally it would take them a long time to get over it; they were very sensitive to criticism and, if they were to be branded as aggressors simply because they had committed an act of aggression, it might spoil the chances of peaceful negotiation. The Indian delegation in the assembly has been taking a similar line with the support of the bloc of Asian and Arab countries.

"The latest news from Germany is that the Russians have crossed the Rhine on a broad front and that an armoured spearhead has penetrated into Aachen. The Political Committee of the assembly has today voted for an adjournment to consider Mr. Vyshinsky's clarification of the Russian terms for a cease-fire. Sir Gladyn Jebb strongly opposed the adjournment, declaring that the new Russian statement was a transparent attempt to divide the free world and delay the exercise of the gaseic functions of the United Nations. Mr. Warren Austin, however, urged that delegates must have time to consult their governments about the 'new situation' and said that on the opinion of his government the United Nations 'should not at this stage take a new and important decision.'"

Questions — Answers

Q—Why are so many religious candles made of beeswax?

A—The bee, its honey, and beeswax have carried a religious meaning for centuries, and nearly half the commercial output of beeswax is used in this country alone for religious purposes. It was an early Christian belief that beeswax was produced by virgin bees and therefore was symbolic of the purity of the Virgin Mary.

Even before Pleven came, France had declared its intent to back the United States in the United Nations on the issue of branding Red China an aggressor.

Reports of the Pleven talks with President Truman add substance to this intent. France is understood to be willing to support economic sanctions against China if they're urged by us.

It has often in recent weeks given fresh assurances of its determination to keep its 150,000 troops in Indo-China until the rebel Viet Minh forces are defeated. But some advices say the French would pull out if we thought it the best course.

In return for these assurances, the French naturally want more economic and military aid from us in Indo-China, though they don't want our manpower. And if Red China should start actively helping the rebels in Viet Nam, the French want us to back them in seeking UN condemnation of the Chinese for their aggression.

It is no sudden burst of moral fervor that induces the French to show this stiffer attitude. Diplomacy is the art of give-and-take. They appreciate that if they want something from us, they have to give something, too.

Indications are that the French are actually prepared to put up a sterner front in Europe as well. It has become the fashion lately to discount completely the value of the French soldier in any European showdown with Russia. But Pleven is said to have assured Mr. Truman the French will rearm at a satisfactory pace and will fight. They are even ready, so the reports go, to accept real West German rearmament.

What Pleven told the President on these points may not be evident in the French prime minister's public utterances at home in the months ahead. For this is election year in France, and politicians there are no doubt much like our own. They can't often say what they really believe.

For campaign purposes, French leaders will have to exhibit eagerness for new talks with Russia, even though they know little might thus be achieved. They'll have to accept German rearmament slowly and grudgingly.

Right now French Communists hold 30 per cent of the seats in France's National Assembly, making them the country's biggest party. Pleven and other moderates want to reduce their numbers substantially at the polls this fall. It's a delicate job to win millions of new votes among the war-weary French and still pursue a sound, courages policy in the world struggle against Russia.

But it is encouraging that responsible Frenchmen are making the effort. One prime evidence of the different attitude of France and Britain: When Prime Minister Attlee visited Mr. Truman, he sought assurances we wouldn't drop the A-bomb without consulting Britain. When Pleven came, he asked for guarantees that we WOULD use it promptly if Russia attacked in Western Europe.

If this positive spirit can be developed everywhere among free nations, we won't have to fear for our security and our liberty.

GOOD NEWS FROM GEORGIA

The Ku Klux Klan has received a heavy blow in Herman Talmadge's Georgia. The Legislature has passed a bill, which Governor Talmadge had promised to sign, outlawing two Klan practices, the wearing of masks and the burning of fiery crosses. The vote was unanimous in the Senate. In the House only one vote was cast against it. In previous legislatures similar measures were killed.

It is hard to imagine a greater danger to free government than to have irresponsible groups going about beating and killing persons of whom they disapprove. All the more objectionable is the use of disguises, so that the offenders cannot be identified. Other Southern states have recognized the evil, and taken action similar to that which Georgia now takes. They are all to be commended.

HONOR MILITARY CHAPLAINS

I have received an invitation from the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of the B'nai B'rith to attend a dinner in honor of three chaplains whose services during the past year measured up to the glorious heroism of the four chaplains of the U.S.S. Dorchester.

This particular B'nai B'rith lodge is named after the Jewish chaplain who went down on the Dorchester, and having accepted the honor of using his name, its members sought for a means of serving the armed forces in a suitable maner. As I gather the story, it would seem that out of conversations with Chaplain Joshua L. Goldberg of the navy, the lodge reached the conclusion that they would give awards to three chaplains each year who ". . . typify the devotion and sacrifice of the four chaplains who went down together when the U.S.S. Dorchester sank on Feb. 3, 1943. . . ."

That was done at the Waldorf-Astoria on Sunday night, but this article is being written prior to the event because the broader implications of the concept make the awards, and not the banquet, important.

The chaplain services in our armed forces represent a distinctively American recognition of the rights of an individual, under all conditions, to freedom of faith, to an acknowledgment of his God and to freedom of access to religious worship without let or hindrance. This has been American tradition for three centuries, with a few unfortunate and much criticized lapses in colonial times.

The chaplain, then, in our armed services, represents not only his own church but all churches; he speaks not for a sect or a cult but for the men of God in our nation; he is not only a professional clergyman but the conscience of our nation among the fighting men, and he comes to these men, and women, too, in these days, almost as a parent.

It is an acknowledgment of the indisputable fact that our nation was founded in the spirit of the Creator, as the Declaration of Independence so clearly stipulates. So in war and peace, the men of God hold before our people "the laws of nature and of nature's God" and the broad concept that "all men are created equal" and possess "unalienable rights," and among those rights must be the right to be close to one's faith and traditions even in the circumstances of war.

The heroism and self-sacrifice of the chaplains of all faiths is an American saga. At this particular banquet of the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of B'nai B'rith, awards were given to two Protestants and a Catholic: Commander Robert M. Schwyhart of the navy; Major Merritt O. Slawson of the airforce; and Captain Herman G. Felhoelter of the army.

According to the program, Abel Greenberg, president of the lodge, offered the awards, which were received by the chief chaplains of each service in the presence of Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

Chaplain Felhoelter died in action on the Kum river in the Korean war. Himself wounded, Father Felhoelter voluntarily remained behind to aid the dying and wounded and "when last seen was still ministering" in the service to his men. "His valorous action was an inspiration to every member of his regiment. . . ."

Of Chaplain Slawson, it is said in a citation that he "distinguished himself by an outstanding spirit of charity and sacrifice which manifested itself in his ministratons to all personnel regardless of race, rank or position. He has exerted himself in an extraordinary manner to bring courage as well as practical assistance to his men under any and all conditions."

Chaplain Schwyhart serves the First Marine Division and has shown "great steadfastness in the face of adversity; notable courage when circumstances tended to promote fear and discouragement; a broad charity which manifested itself in service to all his men regardless of their creed, rank, or position. . . ."

Here are our three faiths standing solidly together in time of war. Irrespective of differences in the nation's peril, they cooperate in the spirit of the four chaplains who gave their lives that other men might live.

Their story should be repeated often that those who fail to understand the depth of religious sensibilities in American life may hear of it anew year by year. And it is symbolic that a Jewish lodge should so honor the chaplains of the two other faiths in this age when atheism and bigotry ride the earth.

That Body of Yours

EMOTIONAL ILL HEALTH

If we were asked what ailment or diability caused most absence from work, most of us would probably say the common cold, headache, and rheumatism, in that order. It may surprise us to learn that emotional ill health is the major cause of lost time in industry.

In Industrial Health, Dr. H. Graham Ross, writes on emotional ill health, basing his conclusions on a series of studies by McGill University Industrial Relations Center. Industrial Health is published by the Health League of Canada, a most worthy organization.

Dr. Ross concludes that emotional disturbances account for more than 50 per cent of industrial illness. Emotionally disturbed people also make up the accident-prone groups in industry, since emotional disturbances may be due either to causes outside the employe's work, or by tensions deriving from the work itself

A major cause of tension and tiredness in the factory worker is that on the modern assembly line, the work is so divided that a man often performs a piece of work that has no meaning to him in relation to the finished job.

The tendency to excessive tension is further increased by such factors as undefined responsibility, divided responsibility, excessive responsibility and responsibility without authority.

Human relations also play an important part in producing emotional states in such cases as the following:

1. Employers' job standards and those of the employe may differ and cause tensions.

2. The worker may have inadequate qualifications, which means he is working under a handicap. This keeps the worker unusually tensed as he tries to keep his work up to standard requirements.

3. There may be inadequate supervision. Over-direction or underdirection by the supervisor will produce a sense of frustration or insecurity, leading to excessive tension.

We know what tensions mean to us not only at work but in all the circumstances of life, and we can readily understand why emotional disturbances and their tensions take the mental and emotional strength from the worker and cause him to feel unfit for his daily work.

Tenseness always tires.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It's still an official secret but the United States will soon be independent of the rest of the world when it comes to opium.

This independence will be obtained by planting about 30,000 acres of poppies in California and the far west; second, by using a new substitute for morphine—methodine.

Most people don't realize it, but the hospitals of the United States could hardly function without opium. In addition, opium and its derivatives—morphine and codeine—would be indispensable in an atomic-bomb disaster. Yet our chief sources of opium are now either under or near Communist domination. One opium area, China, is now completely Communist, while another, Iran, could be taken over by Russia in a few days. A third source, Macedonia, is on the precarious edge of the Iron Curtain.

Therefore, having learned a lesson in World War II, when we let the Japanese take over the quinine supply of the Dutch East Indies, the National Research Council and the Munitions Board, under Chairman Jack Small, are getting prepared for an eventual opium shortage.

First, a synthetic substitute for morphine, methodine, according to Dr. Isaac Starr of the University of Pennsylvania, can be manufactured from available domestic chemicals. Furthermore, it can be produced at only a fraction of the cost of morphine.

Second, the Munitions Board has been collecting opium-bearing poppies through several secret research farms in the west, and now has on hand enough poppy seed to plant 30,000 acres. In a few months more, sufficient seed will be available for 70,000 acres and this acreage, yielding two crops a year, will be enough to supply the entire nation.

Note 1—Exact location of the poppy farms is being kept a secret for fear they will become the Mecca of dope addicts.

Note 2—Word of the new U. S. opium supply will bring howls of anguish to the international opium monopoly which has been hiking prices to American purchasers.

Taft vs. Ike

It is now exactly 17 months before the two great American political parties hold their conventions and select the two candidates who will battle it out to become president of the United States. But even 17 months in advance, the backstage wires are being pulled and the groundwork laid for that battle.

In the Republican camp two men are definitely emerging on the presidential horizon—Taft and Eisenhower.

This was admitted by rotund, likable Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, one of Senator Taft's most devoted presidential promoters, who recently discussed Taft's chances of defeating Eisenhower.

"Ike will have to take a stand on 18-year-olds," he explained privately to friends, "and that will get all the mothers sore at him.

"Then he's been over in Germany talking to the Nazi generals," Brown continued, "and that isn't going to please the Jewish voters.

"And he's taking a stand on sending troops to Europe, which will get a lot of other people sore at him. So," concluded Congressman Brown, "Ike hasn't got a chance against Taft."

Note—It is significant, however, that Taft himself has now hedged a little on his original stand against sending troops to Europe.

Bread Prices

Correction—In recently reviewing a study of food prices made by the Senate Food Investigating Subcommittee, both this column and the committee apparently were in error regarding the margin of profit made by bakers. Further study convinces this writer that the baker's margin is not unreasonable, and that the average baker seldom makes more than half a cent on each pound of bread. While the price of bread has increased, the prices of its ingredients have also shot up, in some cases proportionately more. In fairness to the baking industry, I am delighted to set these facts straight.

People-to-People Friendship

Just as the Howard University Negro players toured Norway a year ago to offset the propaganda of Negro singer Paul Robeson, so an orchestra from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh has recently toured Yugoslavia to build good will with the people of that country.

The Duquesne orchestra, many of them the sons of Pennsylvania steel workers who migrated here from Yugoslavia, probably accomplished more than diplomacy could do in 20 years.

"The Russians," commented an excited Yugoslav leader to U. S. Ambassador Allen, "come in glum and glowering. They want to take everything out for themselves. But these tamburitzans are smiling and happy. They give to us. We are all for Americanski system."

The Duquesne youngsters, all of Yugoslav descent with such hyphenated names as Pat Jordanoff, sang and danced before more than 100,000 wildly cheering Yugoslavs singing Yugoslav folk songs, as well as cowboy songs and American folk dances.

Ambassador Allen, introducing them at Lyublyana, said: "These are the descendants of your own heroic people. In the United States people are free to carry on the culture of their parents. We are proud of the Yugoslav contribution to our culture."

The Duquesne students found the Yugoslav people united on one big point, a roaring contempt and dislike for Moscow.

Washington Pipeline

Senator Capehart of Indiana has challenged Vice President Barkley and Senators Chapman and Clements of Kentucky to a duck-roasting contest. It all started over a news clipping that better ducks are roasted in Kentucky than in Indiana. . . . The air force has improved its devices for steering bombs to their targets. In the future, the air force will almost be able to drop a bomb on a dime. . . . So many American exports are winding up behind the Iron Curtain (sent via our allies) that President Truman will name Robert J. Lynch, the former State Department official, as assistant secretary of commerce to block this Iron Curtain trade. . . . The army would like to stop U. S. veterans wounded in Korea from talking about their war experiences after they get back. Cautious Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, the army's press mogul, regards most of these stories as bad publicity, but fears the reaction would be worse if the army were caught trying to gag wounded G.I.'s.

Imaginary Dispatch Kids British in Recent Tactics Regarding Korean Situation in U.N.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 5 — Many people here have had a good laugh over an article in the London "Economist" twitting the British government on its recent tactics in the U.N. in connection with the Korean situation. It is in the form of an imaginary dispatch dated about a year hence—January 22, 1952 — from a British correspondent at Lake Success. It reads as follows:

"Since the withdrawal of the United Nations forces from Bonn, opinion in the assembly has been veering in favour of the American view that it is necessary to abandon Germany altogether in order to restore peace in Europe. The British delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, has, indeed, continued to press for the condemnation of Russia as an aggressor, arguing that the whole purpose of the United Nations would be stultified if the assembly refused to stigmatise the Russian invasion of west Germany as an aggression. The American delegate, Mr. Warren Austin, however, is urging caution: He maintains that hasty action would not be in the interests of peace and that time is needed to study the latest Russian counter-proposals, which should be given the most careful consideration.

"The proposal of the United Nations Political Committee for a cease-fire in Germany, to be followed by a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, was rejected by Russia, who insisted that Russian basic terms for a settlement must be accepted before the victorious Russian volunteers could be advised to desist from their offensive. The Russian demand is that all foreign troops must be withdrawn from Germany and that the internal affairs of Germany must be settled by the Germans themselves; as all German politicians who have not either escaped across the Rhine or joined the Communists have now been shot, Moscow is confident that Herr Ulbright will be able to handle the situation without difficulty. The Russians are willing to accept the proposal for a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers on condition that representatives of Italy, Iraq and Mongolia are added to it and that the conference is held in Leningrad.

"The British army having suffered 50,000 casualties in the fighting in Germany, British public opinion is in a somewhat excitable mood and the government is being sharply criticized by the opposition for the ineffectiveness of its European policy.

The prime minister has pointed out that the R.A.F. cannot be used for bombing beyond the boundary of the British zone without a decision of the United Nations, but he has promised to do all he can to get the United Nations to declare Russia an aggressor, even though it is generally recognized that no sanctions are likely to be imposed. Opinion in well-informed circles in Washington, however, is that America must be wary of being drawn into an extension of hostilities; it is felt that the British are liable to be headstrong in their reactions to events in Europe and that their old imperial traditions are making them unduly bellicose. The State Department has not yet abandoned its hope of detaching Russia from China, and deprecates any policy which might have the effect of driving Stalin into the arms of Mao.

"Senator Bebop has made an important speech at Cincinnati, in which he warned the American people against allowing American troops to be tied up in Europe when there was such a serious danger of a Russo-Chinese attack on Alaska, Japan and the Philippines. He said it was very unfortunate that nobody seemed to be able to exercise any control over General Eisenhower, who had evidently underestimated the prospects of Russian intervention when he pursued the East German invaders back across the zonal boundary. Everything should be done to restore peace as quickly as possible, so that there should be no damage to the old friendship between the Russian and American peoples. The Russians, he declared, were a proud people who would not long be subservient to the mandarins of the Forbidden City.

"A deep impression has also been made by an address delivered to the Foreign Policy Association by Mr. John K. Poffenheimer of Adriatic Exports Inc., who told his audience that he had been doing excellent business in trade from Trieste behind the Iron Curtain and that, if only America would do nothing to interfere with Russian expansion, there was no reason why this trade should not go on for a few years longer. He said that communism in Europe could not be stopped by force, and the sooner Britain realized this, the better.

"The Indian prime minister has also given a press conference in Mexico opposing the idea of declaring Russia an aggressor. The Russians, he said, had suffered great humiliations in the period before Peter the Great, and naturally it would take them a long time to get over it; they were very sensitive to criticism and, if they were to be branded as aggressors simply because they had committed an act of aggression, it might spoil the chances of peaceful negotiation. The Indian delegation in the assembly has been taking a similar line with the support of the bloc of Asian and Arab countries.

"The latest news from Germany is that the Russians have crossed the Rhine on a broad front and that an armoured spearhead has penetrated into Aachen. The Political Committee of the assembly has today voted for an adjournment to consider Mr. Vyshinsky's clarification of the Russian terms for a cease-fire. Sir Gladyn Jebb strongly opposed the adjournment, declaring that the new Russian statement was a transparent attempt to divide the free world and delay the exercise of the pacific functions of the United Nations. Mr. Warren Austin, however, urged that delegates must have time to consult their governments about the 'new situation' and said that of the opinion of his government the United Nations 'should not at this stage take a new and important decision.'"

Q—Why are so many religious candles made of beeswax?

A—The bee, its honey, and beeswax have carried a religious meaning for centuries, and nearly half the commercial output of beeswax is used in this country alone for religious purposes. It was an early Christian belief that beeswax was produced by virgin bees and therefore was symbolic of the purity of the Virgin Mary.

POSITIVE SPIRIT IN FRANCE

French Prime Minister Pleven's visit to Washington signifies a heartening new sense of realism in French policy. It seems to suggest France has a keener awareness than Britain of the need for a firm stand against Red aggression everywhere.

Even before Pleven came, France had declared its intent to back the United States in the United Nations on the issue of branding Red China an aggressor.

Reports of the Pleven talks with President Truman add substance to this intent. France is understood to be willing to support economic sanctions against China if they're urged by us.

HONOR MILITARY CHAPLAINS

I have received an invitation from the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of the B'nai B'rith to attend a dinner in honor of three chaplains whose services during the past year measured up to the glorious heroism of the four chaplains of the U.S.S. Dorchester.

"His valorous action was an inspiration to every member of his regiment. . . ."

Of Chaplain Slawson, it is said in a citation that he "distinguished himself by an outstanding spirit of charity and sacrifice which manifested itself in his ministratons to all personnel regardless of race, rank or position. He has exerted himself in an extraordinary manner to bring courage as well as practical assistance to his men under any and all conditions."

Chaplain Schwyhart serves the First Marine Division and has shown "great steadfastness in the face of adversity; notable courage when circumstances tended to promote fear and discouragement; a broad charity which manifested itself in service to all his men regardless of their creed, rank, or position. . . ."

Here are our three faiths standing solidly together in time of war. Irrespective of differences, in the nation's peril, they cooperate in the spirit of the four chaplains who gave their lives that other men might live.

Their story should be repeated often that those who fail to understand the depth of religious sensibilities in American life may hear of it anew year by year. And it is symbolic that a Jewish lodge should so honor the chaplains of the two other faiths in this age when atheism and bigotry ride the earth.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

EMOTIONAL ILL HEALTH

If we were asked what ailment or diability caused most absence from work, most of us would probably say the common cold, headache, and rheumatism, in that order. It may surprise us to learn that emotional ill health is the major cause of lost time in industry.

In Industrial Health, Dr. H. Graham Ross, writes on emotional ill health, basing his conclusions on a series of studies by McGill University Industrial Relations Center. Industrial Health is published by the Health League of Canada, a most worthy organization.

Dr. Ross concludes that emotional disturbances account for more than 50 per cent of industrial illness. Emotionally disturbed people also make up the accident-prone groups in industry, since emotional disturbances may be due either to causes outside the employe's work, or by tensions deriving from the work itself

A major cause of tension and tiredness in the factory worker is that on the modern assembly line, the work is so divided that a man often performs a piece of work that has no meaning to him in relation to the finished job.

The tendency to excessive tension is further increased by such factors as undefined responsibility, divided responsibility, excessive responsibility and responsibility without authority.

Human relations also play an important part in producing emotional states in such cases as the following:

1. Employers' job standards and those of the employe may differ and cause tensions.

2. The worker may have inadequate qualifications, which means he is working under a handicap. This keeps the worker unusually tensed as he tries to keep his work up to standard requirements.

3. There may be inadequate supervision. Over-direction or underdirection by the supervisor will produce a sense of frustration or insecurity, leading to excessive tension.

We know what tensions mean to us not only at work but in all the circumstances of life, and we can readily understand why emotional disturbances and their tensions take the mental and emotional strength from the worker and cause him to feel unfit for his daily work.

Tenseness always tires.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It's still an official secret but the United States will soon be independent of the rest of the world when it comes to opium.

This independence will be obtained by planting about 30,000 acres of poppies in California and the far west; second, by using a new substitute for morphine—methodine.

Most people don't realize it, but the hospitals of the United States could hardly function without opium. In addition, opium and its derivatives—morphine and codeine—would be indispensable in an atomic-bomb disaster. Yet our chief sources of opium are now either under or near Communist domination. One opium area, China, is now completely Communist, while another, Iran, could be taken over by Russia in a few days. A third source, Macedonia, is on the precarious edge of the Iron Curtain.

Therefore, having learned a lesson in World War II, when we let the Japanese take over the quinine supply of the Dutch East Indies, the National Research Council and the Munitions Board, under Chairman Jack Small, are getting prepared for an eventual opium shortage.

First, a synthetic substitute for morphine, methodine, according to Dr. Isaac Starr of the University of Pennsylvania, can be manufactured from available domestic chemicals. Furthermore, it can be produced at only a fraction of the cost of morphine.

Second, the Munitions Board has been collecting opium-bearing poppies through several secret research farms in the west, and now has on hand enough poppy seed to plant 30,000 acres. In a few months more, sufficient seed will be available for 70,000 acres and this acreage, yielding two crops a year, will be enough to supply the entire nation.

Note 1—Exact location of the poppy farms is being kept a secret for fear they will become the Mecca of dope addicts.

Note 2—Word of the new U. S. opium supply will bring howls of anguish to the international opium monopoly which has been hiking prices to American purchasers.

Taft vs. Ike

It is now exactly 17 months before the two great American political parties hold their conventions and select the two candidates who will battle it out to become president of the United States. But even 17 months in advance, the backstage wires are being pulled and the groundwork laid for that battle.

In the Republican camp two men are definitely emerging on the presidential horizon—Taft and Eisenhower.

This was admitted by rotund, likable Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, one of Senator Taft's most devoted presidential promoters, who recently discussed Taft's chances of defeating Eisenhower.

"Ike will have to take a stand on 18-year-olds," he explained privately to friends, "and that will get all the mothers sore at him.

"Then he's been over in Germany talking to the Nazi generals," Brown continued, "and that isn't going to please the Jewish voters.

"And he's taking a stand on sending troops to Europe, which will get a lot of other people sore at him. So," concluded Congressman Brown, "Ike hasn't got a chance against Taft."

Note—It is significant, however, that Taft himself has now hedged a little on his original stand against sending troops to Europe.

Bread Prices

Correction—In recently reviewing a study of food prices made by the Senate Food Investigating Subcommittee, both this column and the committee apparently were in error regarding the margin of profit made by bakers. Further study convinces this writer that the baker's margin is not unreasonable, and that the average baker seldom makes more than half a cent on each pound of bread. While the price of bread has increased, the prices of its ingredients have also shot up, in some cases proportionately more. In fairness to the baking industry, I am delighted to set these facts straight.

People-to-People Friendship

Just as the Howard University Negro players toured Norway a year ago to offset the propaganda of Negro singer Paul Robeson, so an orchestra from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh has recently toured Yugoslavia to build good will with the people of that country.

The Duquesne orchestra, many of them the sons of Pennsylvania steel workers who migrated here from Yugoslavia, probably accomplished more than diplomacy could do in 20 years.

"The Russians," commented an excited Yugoslav leader to U. S. Ambassador Allen, "come in glum and glowering. They want to take everything out for themselves. But these tamburitzans are smiling and happy. They give to us. We are all for Americanski system."

The Duquesne youngsters, all of Yugoslav descent with such hyphenated names as Pat Jordanoff, sang and danced before more than 100,000 wildly cheering Yugoslavs singing Yugoslav folk songs, as well as cowboy songs and American folk dances.

Ambassador Allen, introducing them at Lyublyana, said: "These are the descendants of your own heroic people. In the United States people are free to carry on the culture of their parents. We are proud of the Yugoslav contribution to our culture."

The Duquesne students found the Yugoslav people united on one big point, a roaring contempt and dislike for Moscow.

Washington Pipeline

Senator Capehart of Indiana has challenged Vice President Barkley and Senators Chapman and Clements of Kentucky to a duck-roasting contest. It all started over a news clipping that better ducks are roasted in Kentucky than in Indiana. . . . The air force has improved its devices for steering bombs to their targets. In the future, the air force will almost be able to drop a bomb on a dime. . . . So many American exports are winding up behind the Iron Curtain (sent via our allies) that President Truman will name Robert J. Lynch, the former State Department official, as assistant secretary of commerce to block this Iron Curtain trade. . . . The army would like to stop U. S. veterans wounded in Korea from talking about their war experiences after they get back. Cautious Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, the army's press mogul, regards most of these stories as bad publicity, but fears the reaction would be worse if the army were caught trying to gag wounded G.I.'s.

Imaginary Dispatch Kids British in Recent Tactics Regarding Korean Situation in U.N.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 5 — Many people here have had a good laugh over an article in the London "Economist" twitting the British government on its recent tactics in the U.N. in connection with the Korean situation. It is in the form of an imaginary dispatch dated about a year hence—January 22, 1952 — from a British correspondent at Lake Success. It reads as follows:

"Since the withdrawal of the United Nations forces from Bonn, opinion in the assembly has been veering in favour of the American view that it is necessary to abandon Germany altogether in order to restore peace in Europe. The British delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, has, indeed, continued to press for the condemnation of Russia as an aggressor, arguing that the whole purpose of the United Nations would be stultified if the assembly refused to stigmatise the Russian invasion of west Germany as an aggression. The American delegate, Mr. Warren Austin, however, is urging caution: He maintains that hasty action would not be in the interests of peace and that time is needed to study the latest Russian counter-proposals, which should be given the most careful consideration.

"The proposal of the United Nations Political Committee for a cease-fire in Germany, to be followed by a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, was rejected by Russia, who insisted that Russian basic terms for a settlement must be accepted before the victorious Russian volunteers could be advised to desist from their offensive. The Russian demand is that all foreign troops must be withdrawn from Germany and that the internal affairs of Germany must be settled by the Germans themselves; as all German politicians who have not either escaped across the Rhine or joined the Communists have now been shot, Moscow is confident that Herr Ulbright will be able to handle the situation without difficulty. The Russians are willing to accept the proposal for a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers on condition that representatives of Italy, Iraq and Mongolia are added to it and that the conference is held in Leningrad.

"The British army having suffered 50,000 casualties in the fighting in Germany, British public opinion is in a somewhat excitable mood and the government is being sharply criticized by the opposition for the ineffectiveness of its European policy.

The prime minister has pointed out that the R.A.F. cannot be used for bombing beyond the boundary of the British zone without a decision of the United Nations, but he has promised to do all he can to get the United Nations to declare Russia an aggressor, even though it is generally recognized that no sanctions are likely to be imposed. Opinion in well-informed circles in Washington, however, is that America must be wary of being drawn into an extension of hostilities; it is felt that the British are liable to be headstrong in their reactions to events in Europe and that their old imperial traditions are making them unduly bellicose. The State Department has not yet abandoned its hope of detaching Russia from China, and deprecates any policy which might have the effect of driving Stalin into the arms of Mao.

"Senator Bebop has made an important speech at Cincinnati, in which he warned the American people against allowing American troops to be tied up in Europe when there was such a serious danger of a Russo-Chinese attack on Alaska, Japan and the Philippines. He said it was very unfortunate that nobody seemed to be able to exercise any control over General Eisenhower, who had evidently underestimated the prospects of Russian intervention when he pursued the East German invaders back across the zonal boundary. Everything should be done to restore peace as quickly as possible, so that there should be no damage to the old friendship between the Russian and American peoples. The Russians, he declared, were a proud people who would not long be subservient to the mandarins of the Forbidden City.

"A deep impression has also been made by an address delivered to the Foreign Policy Association by Mr. John K. Poffenheimer of Adriatic Exports Inc., who told his audience that he had been doing excellent business in trade from Trieste behind the Iron Curtain and that, if only America would do nothing to interfere with Russian expansion, there was no reason why this trade should not go on for a few years longer. He said that communism in Europe could not be stopped by force, and the sooner Britain realized this, the better.

"The Indian prime minister has also given a press conference in Mexico opposing the idea of declaring Russia an aggressor. The Russians, he said, had suffered great humiliations in the period before Peter the Great, and naturally it would take them a long time to get over it; they were very sensitive to criticism and, if they were to be branded as aggressors simply because they had committed an act of aggression, it might spoil the chances of peaceful negotiation. The Indian delegation in the assembly has been taking a similar line with the support of the bloc of Asian and Arab countries.

"The latest news from Germany is that the Russians have crossed the Rhine on a broad front and that an armoured spearhead has penetrated into Aachen. The Political Committee of the assembly has today voted for an adjournment to consider Mr. Vyshinsky's clarification of the Russian terms for a cease-fire. Sir Gladyn Jebb strongly opposed the adjournment, declaring that the new Russian statement was a transparent attempt to divide the free world and delay the exercise of the pacific functions of the United Nations. Mr. Warren Austin, however, urged that delegates must have time to consult their governments about the 'new situation' and said that on the opinion of his government the United Nations 'should not at this stage take a new and important decision.'"

Questions — Answers

Q—Why are so many religious candles made of beeswax?

A—The bee, its honey, and beeswax have carried a religious meaning for centuries, and nearly half the commercial output of beeswax is used in this country alone for religious purposes. It was an early Christian belief that beeswax was produced by virgin bees and therefore was symbolic of the purity of the Virgin Mary.

Citrus Toxins Studied

Berkeley (AP)—Chemists at the University of California report the theory that an organic toxic material in soils cropped to citrus plants may have a detrimental effect on citrus seedlings. The study has been prompted by the results of tests with soil fumigation against fungi known to be associated with decaying feeder roots. The treatment increased the growth of citrus seedlings 25 to 100 per cent.

William Windram Married Saturday To Frances Krzemien

Miss Frances Catherine Krzemien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krzemien, 85 Eaton street, Springville, became the bride of William Kendall Windram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Windram, Millbrook drive, Port Ewen, Saturday, Feb. 3, at 2 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. S. Zimmerman, pastor of St. Aloysius Church, in the church rectory.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rose point satin gown, with a fitted bodice and softly pleated skirt and matching train, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore an imported fingertip illusion veil fastened to an orange blossom headpiece, and carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Miss Rose Krzemien of 144 Branford road, Rochester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of powder blue net and lace over taffeta, with a yellow rose headpiece and bouquet.

Frank Morstatt of Garnerville, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for 75 guests was held at Hotel Hamburg, Hamburg.

For their wedding trip the couple will motor to Florida for a month's vacation. The bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit for traveling, with matching accessories, and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city.

The bride attended Griffith Institute, and received her R.N. degree from Buffalo General Hospital.

Over 300 Attend Hospital Dance

More than 300 patrons attended the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary dance, held Saturday evening in the crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Dancing, scheduled to last from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. was stretched an hour longer by popular request, as Larry Bloom and his highly danceable orchestra swung through the familiar strains of some of the world's best loved dance music.

Another enjoyable feature of the gala formal affair included Pete Roberts' vocal selections, featuring old time favorites, and "Hit Parade" numbers.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for hospital projects planned by the Auxiliary.

WHEN COURTESY AND LOYALTY CLASH

No wonder a sister writes: "What should I have done when someone made a very derogatory remark about one of the actresses while we were looking at television? The actress is my sister—a relationship which few people outside of my personal circle know because she uses a professional name. The man, whose friends these were, squirmed and I seethed. Against my better sense of decent loyalty I let it go and I've sort of hated myself ever since."

You were quite right to remain silent. To have said anything would merely have embarrassed your guest, and would have been of very little comfort to you.

Setting No Precedent

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary in future years to give Christmas presents to our holiday hosts this year? As we were staying with them we took a present for each to add to those under the tree. We had never before bought them for these friends.

Answer: Not at all necessary unless for the same reason.

Message to Bride's Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: A woman who used to work here has a daughter who is being married. We'd all like to send a telegram from the office to the mother but wonder whether her husband should also be included?

Answer: If the father is a stranger to them, it would be natural and quite proper for her old associates to send a personal message to the mother alone.

Wedding Lists Unfair

Dear Mrs. Post: We can invite only a hundred guests to the wedding reception. The people who make up the list are all relations, and the older friends of both my family and the grooms. Except for the wedding attendants none of the guests will be our younger friends. Is this fair?

Answer: It certainly would be fair to adjust the list somewhat according to your affection.

Rye Teacher Is Killed In Headon Car Crash

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 5 (AP)— Mrs. Helen Johnson, 45, of 7 Indian Hill road, Rye, N. Y., a teacher for 20 years in Greenwich elementary schools, was killed yesterday when her auto crossed the esplanade on the Merritt Parkway, near Long Ridge road here, and crashed headon into an east bound car.

Three other persons were injured—her husband, Melville Johnson, 48, lacerations of the chin; the driver of the other car, John Belloduono, 22, and a passenger in his auto, Warren Geiger, 19, both of Middletown, possible fractures of the jaw.

They were taken to Stamford Hospital.

Four other east bound cars were involved in minor accidents due to the sudden stop of the Belloduono auto after it was hit.

These drivers were Arthur Schulte, 44, of 3 East 71st street, New York city; David Pinkas of 103 Washington street, South Norwalk, Robert Gilhuly, 20, of Wakeland road, Fairfield, and Paul Sullivan, 44, of 153 Arch street, New Britain.

They escaped injury.

The information about the accident was supplied by State Police Officer Robert J. Murphy.

Mrs. Johnson was thrown out of the car by the impact and suffered a crushed skull, Murphy said the cause of the accident was under investigation.

Miss Frances Catherine Krzemien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krzemien, 85 Eaton street, Springville, became the bride of William Kendall Windram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Windram, Millbrook drive, Port Ewen, Saturday, Feb. 3, at 2 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. S. Zimmerman, pastor of St. Aloysius Church, in the church rectory.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rose point satin gown, with a fitted bodice and softly pleated skirt and matching train, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore an imported fingertip illusion veil fastened to an orange blossom headpiece, and carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Miss Rose Krzemien of 144 Branford road, Rochester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of powder blue net and lace over taffeta, with a yellow rose headpiece and bouquet.

Frank Morstatt of Garnerville, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for 75 guests was held at Hotel Hamburg, Hamburg.

For their wedding trip the couple will motor to Florida for a month's vacation. The bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit for traveling, with matching accessories, and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city.

The bride attended Griffith Institute, and received her R.N. degree from Buffalo General Hospital.

Over 300 Attend Hospital Dance

More than 300 patrons attended the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary dance, held Saturday evening in the crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Dancing, scheduled to last from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. was stretched an hour longer by popular request, as Larry Bloom and his highly danceable orchestra swung through the familiar strains of some of the world's best loved dance music.

Another enjoyable feature of the gala formal affair included Pete Roberts' vocal selections, featuring old time favotites, and "Hit Parade" numbers.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for hospital projects planned by the Auxiliary.

Miss Frances Catherine Krzemien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krzemien, 85 Eaton street, Springville, became the bride of William Kendall Windram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Windram, Millbrook drive, Port Ewen, Saturday, Feb. 3, at 2 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. S. Zimmerman, pastor of St. Aloysius Church, in the church rectory.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rose point satin gown, with a fitted bodice and softly pleated skirt and matching train, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore an imported fingertip illusion veil fastened to an orange blossom headpiece, and carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Miss Rose Krzemien of 144 Branford road, Rochester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of powder blue net and lace over taffeta, with a yellow rose headpiece and bouquet.

Frank Morstatt of Garnerville, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for 75 guests was held at Hotel Hamburg, Hamburg.

For their wedding trip the couple will motor to Florida for a month's vacation. The bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit for traveling, with matching accessories, and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city.

The bride attended Griffith Institute, and received her R.N. degree from Buffalo General Hospital.

Over 300 Attend Hospital Dance

More than 300 patrons attended the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary dance, held Saturday evening in the crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Dancing, scheduled to last from 10 p m. to 2 a. m. was stretched an hour longer by popular request, as Larry Bloom and his highly danceable orchestra swung through the familiar strains of some of the world's best loved dance music.

Another enjoyable feature of the gala formal affair included Pete Roberts' vocal selections, featuring old time favotites, and "Hit Parade" numbers.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for hospital projects planned by the Auxiliary.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WHEN COURTESY AND LOYALTY CLASH

No wonder a sister writes: "What should I have done when someone made a very derogatory remark about one of the actresses while we were looking at television? The actress is my sister—a relationship which few people outside of my personal circle know because she uses a professional name. The man, whose friends these were, squirmed and I seethed. Against my better sense of decent loyalty I let it go and I've sort of hated myself ever since."

You were quite right to remain silent. To have said anything would merely have embarrassed your guest, and would have been of very little comfort to you.

Setting No Precedent

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary in future years to give Christmas presents to our holiday hosts this year? As we were staying with them we took a present for each to add to those under the tree. We had never before bought them for these friends.

Answer: Not at all necessary unless for the same reason.

Message to Bride's Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: A woman who used to work here has a daughter who is being married. We'd all like to send a telegram from the office to the mother but wonder whether her husband should also be included?

Answer: If the father is a stranger to them, it would be natural and quite proper for her old associates to send a personal message to the mother alone.

Wedding Lists Unfair

Dear Mrs. Post: We can invite only a hundred guests to the wedding reception. The people who make up the list are all relations, and the older friends of both my family and the grooms. Except for the wedding attendants none of the guests will be our younger friends. Is this fair?

Answer: It certainly would be fair to adjust the list somewhat according to your affection.

Rye Teacher Is Killed In Headon Car Crash

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 5 (AP)— Mrs. Helen Johnson, 45, of 7 Indian Hill road, Rye, N. Y., a teacher for 20 years in Greenwich elementary schools, was killed yesterday when her auto crossed the esplanade on the Merritt Parkway, near Long Ridge road here, and crashed headon into an east bound car.

Three other persons were injured—her husband, Melville Johnson, 48, lacerations of the chin; the driver of the other car, John Belloduono, 22, and a passenger in his auto, Warren Geiger, 19, both of Middletown, possible fractures of the jaw.

They were taken to Stamford Hospital.

Four other east bound cars were involved in minor accidents due to the sudden stop of the Belloduono auto after it was hit.

These drivers were Arthur Schulte, 44, of 3 East 71st street, New York city; David Pinkas of 103 Washington street, South Norwalk, Robert Gilhuly, 20, of Wakeland road, Fairfield, and Paul Sullivan, 44, of 153 Arch street, New Britain.

They escaped injury.

The information about the accident was supplied by State Police Officer Robert J. Murphy.

Mrs. Johnson was thrown out of the car by the impact and suffered a crushed skull, Murphy said the cause of the accident was under investigation.

Newton discovered that a prism breaks light into colors.

What Is Thrift?

If you practice real thrift, you will find it includes these things:

1. SPEND, but do not waste. This means the careful use of money, of materials, of time and energy.

2. SAVE, but do not hoard. Set aside regularly a part of your pay so you will have a financial reserve to see you through emergencies and to enable you to take advantage of opportunities which may come to you.

3. DO NOT GET INTO DEBT beyond your ability to pay. Remember, there is always a day of reckoning.

Are you building up your reserve fund? Systematic deposits in the Kingston Savings Bank account is a convenient way to build up such a reserve.

Dental Health For Children

(Today is National Children's Dental Health Day. This third annual observance is sponsored by the nation's dentists in an effort to improve the dental health of all American children. The Kingston Daily Freeman, in cooperation with the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, today begins a series of five authoritative articles on dental health for children.)

There are 20 teeth in a child's first set—10 in each jaw. Care of these teeth is essential to the child's later dental and general health.

Since the child uses his primary or first teeth for many years, it is important that they be kept in the healthiest possible condition in order to perform their chief function of chewing food effectively.

In addition to being necessary for mastication, they give form and symmetry to the face and they serve as guides for permanent teeth that are forming beneath them and that will later replace them.

If one or more of the first teeth are lost prematurely or badly decayed, their permanent successors may come in irregularly.

Many have the mistaken belief that first teeth have no roots. As a matter of fact, they have well developed roots, but nature removes them when they are no longer necessary, and by the time the permanent teeth are ready to erupt, the roots of the first teeth usually have completely disappeared and only the crowns remain.

How best to care for the first teeth, which are just as important to the young child as permanent teeth are to the older child and adults?

Future articles in this series will tell in detail what should be done to improve the child's dental health.

Parents should realize, however, that the child should be taken to the dentist for a thorough dental examination within a reasonable time after the full set of primary teeth have erupted—usually at from 20 to 30 months.

Thereafter, a visit should be made to the dentist every six months, or as often as the dentist advises.

Many 2½ and 3-year-old children have decayed teeth, but usually the cavity is so small that most dental operations can be performed without discomfort.

For that reason, the child should be taken to the dentist early, before long operations become necessary.

The dentist will examine the child's teeth and remove any stains or foreign material that may be on them. He will remove any decay and put in a small permanent filling. If necessary, he will take X-ray pictures to make sure that no decayed spots have been overlooked.

If, despite the best of care, a primary tooth becomes badly decayed, it must be removed. When this happens, the dentist may insert a space maintainer to prevent other teeth from drifting and thus prevent crowding or other irregularities of the teeth.

Parents should consult with the dentist about the type of services needed, diet and home care of the mouth.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 4—In addressing these facts and comments to Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, the chairman of the committee investigating underworld crime, I will adopt a conversational form for flexibility and ease.

Senator, for several years I have taken an interest in the underworld of Hollywood, Los Angeles and Beverly Hills. Much of this time I have wondered—well, no, I haven't exactly wondered because I think I can accurately surmise the answer — why the character known as Allen Smiley, a very bad criminal in that league, has not been deported. This is a classical case. This man's real name is Aaron Smehoff, and Smiley is just the alias of a ganster. He was born in Belitza, Russia, wherever that is, and he claims derivative citizenship in Canada because his father was naturalized in Winnipeg in 1921.

Smiley, as we may call him, sneaked into this country about 1923 from Windsor to Detroit. He took a chance on a sneak trip to Canada, possibly for a sentimental visit to his family, or to stick up somebody, because another illegal entry, from Canada, by boat, into California, in 1944 is in his record with the Bureau of Immigration. He is now under sentence of one year in the custody of the attorney general of the United States for falsely claiming citizenship in our country.

The court didn't mean that the honorable attorney general should bed him down on a couch in his office so this means one year in some Danbury or Lewisburg. This false claim of citizenship was made on the occasion of one of his arrests in California. There were three such claims in three pinches and he was convicted on three counts, but this ratty specimen was able to carry his case up to the door of Supreme Court, where he was denied certiorari, and twice to the Circuit Court of Appeals before he exhausted all his resources except the final one of presidential clemency, which is by no means out of the question. It is not out of the question because Smiley is in the money now, down in Houston, where he got into oil with a man named Lenoire M. Josie, whose taste in personal friends is his own business.

You are a Democrat, senator. You seem to wield a sword that knows no brother because I saw where you knocked off my friends, Captain Dan Gilbert, the Chicago detective, a Democrat, knowns as The Fist to some clients of his official attention, when Dan ran for sheriff last fall. By your disclosure of Dan's wealth acquired through the practice of thrift on a modest wage, people were given to suspect Dan had been up to nefarious works. I was put out because I had always wanted a gold sheriff's badge and Dan'l had promised me Number One. The kiss of death again.

Smiley was a member of the Hollywood mob that Leo Durocher got mixed up with when he was manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and loaned his New York apartment to George Raft, who took a sucker for $15,000 in a crap-game there. Durocher is no milliner, but he found himself in the roughest company he ever knew when he started helling around Hollywood with Smiley and Bugsy Siegel. I don't have to tell you what a bad man Siegel was and I will resist a temptation to dwell on his incongruous athleticism along with his criminal way of life, but you know he was a member of the old mob Lepke, Gurrah, Siegel and Lansky, general practitioners. There was a gap of about $1,500,000 between the money used to build and open the doors of the Flamingo, Bugsy's de luxe hotel and gambling house in Las Vegas, Nev., and the money that was actually accounted for. The W.P.B. investigated the acquisition of certain scarce materials in that job, but nothing came of it. It cost about $5,500,000 and about $4,000,000 was accounted for. The difference probably was black market money.

Smiley was sitting with Siegel when someone shot him dead with a rifle as he sat in the living room of his girl, Virginia Hill, in Beverly Hills, but it does not appear that Smiley had a professional interest in that killing. In fact, he was working for Siegel. He was a bite, which is a fellow who yells threats of grievous bodily harm at customers who leave markers overlong or bounce insincere checks. Smiley used the name John Dett in that business. Cute, hey? He was arrested in a cutting at a natal gala at the home of a leader of the Hollywood world of make-believe where they bobbed an actor's nose with a ham-knife, but got off, and his other arrests include one for murder at Long Beach, Calif. He beat that, too. The only conviction that I have found is one for robbery, in San Francisco, for which he was sentenced to Preston Reformatory.

Senator Kefauver, your committee has just got to get this crook deported and dig out the reasons why he has been able to hang around Hollywood, notorious and impudent, all these years, and tell us who made this possible. Remember, Siegel was in narcotics, too, and that wouldn't leave Smiley far removed. I say Democratic politicians have been protecting him.

Last summer I got wind of him in Houston living high at the Shamrock. He had obtained the permission of the federal court in California to leave its jurisdiction notwithstanding his criminal notoriety. Who fixed that up? The Houston sheriff picked him up for a frisk, but he proved by invoices and such documents that he really was in oil.

Now I am told that we can't deport him to Russia because the Iron Curtain countries refuse to accept our deportees, and moreover because he may have something in his claim of derivative Canadian citizenship. And Canada won't take him because he is a louse. But we could retaliate by refusing to accept some particularly loathsome deportee from Canada some time. Or Truman could call up the Canadian ambassador. Canadian bureaucrats are human, too, and with his oil money, Smiley might be able to keep some petty Canadian official firmly resolved that Allen Smiley shall never tread the fair soil of the north dominion.

Been nice seeing you, senator. Remember me to the folks.

Says Firms Shun State Because of Insurance Factor

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—The state commerce commissioner contends that new industry shuns New York state "because of the unemployment insurance factor."

The state needs a "true merit rating formula" for employers' unemployment insurance tax, Harold Keller says.

He wants the Legislature to amend the law immediately to give tax credit to employers who achieve employment stability.

Under the present law, each employer of four or more persons is taxed 2.7 per cent of his payroll. The money is put into a special fund for payment of jobless benefits.

The employers are given rebates in the form of tax credits any year that the fund reaches $900,000,000, or three and one-half times the total of employers' contributions for the previous calendar year, whichever is smaller. No rebates have been made for several years.

In his anual report to Governor Dewey and the Legislature, Keller said yesterday that the present law was "badly handicapping New York's competitive position in the present drive to obtain new defense plants."

He said many manufacturing companies, "which the (commerce) department sought to bring to New York, made final decisions to erect new plants in other states—mainly and in some instances solely because of the adverse impact of our unemployment insurance tax, compared with other competing industrial states."

Keller contended that a merit rating formula would not only attract new plants, but would give "incentive to employers presently in the state to maintain constantly high employment."

The commissioner's report also said bad weather had hurt the travel-vacation business in the state last year. But, vacation spending was boosted by a late summer season.

A department survey showed vacationists spent an average $80.35 last year, compared with $79.55 in 1949.

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—Associated Press photographer Jim Martenhoff, injured in a jeep accident Saturday on the western Korean front, was flown to Tokyo last night. He was undergoing medical examination today. His injuries consisted mainly of bruises and contusions. It first was feared he had suffered a broken nose and concussion. The jeep in which he was riding was forced off a road by a weapons carrier. Martenhoff arrived in Korea about a month ago. He worked on newspapers at Rockville Center, N. Y., and Hempstead, N. Y., before he joined The Associated Press.

SAUERKRAUT IS EASY ON BUDGET

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

The season of Lent and the season of rising meat prices correspond this year. So does the abundance of sauerkraut made from 1950's bumper cabbage crop. Put them together and what have you got?—a few succulent ideas to brighten meatless meals.

Mrs. Wilson Compton, wife of the president of the State College of Washington in Pullman, Wash., praises the flavor combination of Washington state apples and sauerkraut.

As the mother of four children and the wife of a prominent man, Mrs. Compton has learned to give a gourmet twist to the simplest food. The two following recipes are popular at the president's house.

Sauerkraut-Stuffed Apples (4-6 Servings)

Six large cooking apples, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, 2 cups chopped apple pulp, 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg..

Remove slice from each apple top; core, and scoop out pulp, leaving a thin shell. In a mixing bowl, combine sauerkraut, apple, butter and nutmeg. Stuff apples, packing firmly.

Place stuffed apples in a baking dish containing ¼ inch of water. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) one hour, or until apples are done.

Sauerkraut With Sauteed Apple Rings

(Makes 4-6 Servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings, 2 tablespoons caraway seeds, salt, freshly ground pepper, 3 red cooking apples, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings.

In a saucepan, combine sauerkraut and butter or drippings; simmer 30 minutes. Season with caraway seeds, salt and pepper. Wash, core and slice unpeeled apples in ½-inch slices.

In a heavy skillet, heat butter or drippings; saute apple rings until tender, but be careful not to break. Mound cooked sauerkraut in center of platter and surround with apple rings. Serve piping hot.

Dental Health For Children

(Today is National Children's Dental Health Day. This third annual observance is sponsored by the nation's dentists in an effort to improve the dental health of all American children. The Kingston Daily Freeman, in cooperation with the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, today begins a series of five authoritative articles on dental health for children.)

There are 20 teeth in a child's first set—10 in each jaw. Care of these teeth is essential to the child's later dental and general health.

Since the child uses his primary or first teeth for many years, it is important that they be kept in the healthiest possible condition in order to perform their chief function of chewing food effectively.

In addition to being necessary for mastication, they give form and symmetry to the face and they serve as guides for permanent teeth that are forming beneath them and that will later replace them.

If one or more of the first teeth are lost prematurely or badly decayed, their permanent successors may come in irregularly.

Many have the mistaken belief that first teeth have no roots. As a matter of fact, they have well developed roots, but nature removes them when they are no longer necessary, and by the time the permanent teeth are ready to erupt, the roots of the first teeth usually have completely disappeared and only the crowns remain.

How best to care for the first teeth, which are just as important to the young child as permanent teeth are to the older child and adults?

Future articles in this series will tell in detail what should be done to improve the child's dental health.

Parents should realize, however, that the child should be taken to the dentist for a thorough dental examination within a reasonable time after the full set of primary teeth have erupted—usually at from 20 to 30 months.

Thereafter, a visit should be made to the dentist every six months, or as often as the dentist advises.

Many 2½- and 3-year-old children have decayed teeth, but usually the cavity is so small that most dental operations can be performed without discomfort.

For that reason, the child should be taken to the dentist early, before long operations become necessary.

The dentist will examine the child's teeth and remove any stains or foreign material that may be on them. He will remove any decay and put in a small permanent filling. If necessary, he will take X-ray pictures to make sure that no decayed spots have been overlooked.

If, despite the best of care, a primary tooth becomes badly decayed, it must be removed. When this happens, the dentist may insert a space maintainer to prevent other teeth from drifting and thus prevent crowding or other irregularities of the teeth.

The season of Lent and the season of rising meat prices correspond this year. So does the abundance of sauerkraut made from 1950's bumper cabbage crop. Put them together and what have you got?—a few succulent ideas to brighten meatless meals.

Mrs. Wilson Compton, wife of the president of the State College of Washington in Pullman, Wash., praises the flavor combination of Washington state apples and sauerkraut.

As the mother of four children and the wife of a prominent man, Mrs. Compton has learned to give a gourmet twist to the simplest food. The two following recipes are popular at the president's house.

Sauerkraut-Stuffed Apples
(4-6 Servings)

Six large cooking apples, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, 2 cups chopped apple pulp, 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg..

Remove slice from each apple top; core, and scoop out pulp, leaving a thin shell. In a mixing bowl, combine sauerkraut, apple, butter and nutmeg. Stuff apples, packing firmly.

Place stuffed apples in a baking dish containing ¼ inch of water. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) one hour, or until apples are done.

Sauerkraut With Sauteed Apple Rings
(Makes 4-6 Servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings, 2 tablespoons caraway seeds, salt, freshly ground pepper, 3 red cooking apples, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings.

In a saucepan, combine sauerkraut and butter or drippings; simmer 30 minutes. Season with caraway seeds, salt and pepper. Wash, core and slice unpeeled apples in ½-inch slices.

In a heavy skillet, heat butter or drippings; saute apple rings until tender, but be careful not to break. Mound cooked sauerkraut in center of platter and surround with apple rings. Serve piping hot.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, French toast, crisp bacon, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Casserole of dried limas, canned tomatoes and onions and cheese, crusty bread or rolls, butter or fortified margarine, ginger pears, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Fruit cup, baked salmon steaks, creamed potatoes, sauerkraut-stuffed apples, vegetable relishes or asparagus salad, biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, bing cherry pudding, coffee, milk.

Dental Health For Children

(Today is National Children's Dental Health Day. This third annual observance is sponsored by the nation's dentists in an effort to improve the dental health of all American children. The Kingston Daily Freeman, in cooperation with the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, today begins a series of five authoritative articles on dental health for children.)

There are 20 teeth in a child's first set—10 in each jaw. Care of these teeth is essential to the child's later dental and general health.

Since the child uses his primary or first teeth for many years, it is important that they be kept in the healthiest possible condition in order to perform their chief function of chewing food effectively.

In addition to being necessary for mastication, they give form and symmetry to the face and they serve as guides for permanent teeth that are forming beneath them and that will later replace them.

If one or more of the first teeth are lost prematurely or badly decayed, their permanent successors may come in irregularly.

Many have the mistaken belief that first teeth have no roots. As a matter of fact, they have well developed roots, but nature removes them when they are no longer necessary, and by the time the permanent teeth are ready to erupt, the roots of the first teeth usually have completely disappeared and only the crowns remain.

How best to care for the first teeth, which are just as important to the young child as permanent teeth are to the older child and adults?

Future articles in this series will tell in detail what should be done to improve the child's dental health.

Parents should realize, however, that the child should be taken to the dentist for a thorough dental examination within a reasonable time after the full set of primary teeth have erupted—usually at from 20 to 30 months.

Thereafter, a visit should be made to the dentist every six months, or as often as the dentist advises.

Many 2½ and 3-year-old children have decayed teeth, but usually the cavity is so small that most dental operations can be performed without discomfort.

For that reason, the child should be taken to the dentist early, before long operations become necessary.

The dentist will examine the child's teeth and remove any stains or foreign material that may be on them. He will remove any decay and put in a small permanent filling. If necessary, he will take X-ray pictures to make sure that no decayed spots have been overlooked.

If, despite the best of care, a primary tooth becomes badly decayed, it must be removed. When this happens, the dentist may insert a space maintainer to prevent other teeth from drifting and thus prevent crowding or other irregularities of the teeth.

Parents should consult with the dentist about the type of services needed, diet and home care of the mouth.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 4—In addressing these facts and comments to Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, the chairman of the committee investigating underworld crime, I will adopt a conversational form for flexibility and ease.

Senator, for several years I have taken an interest in the underworld of Hollywood, Los Angeles and Beverly Hills. Much of this time I have wondered—well, no, I haven't exactly wondered because I think I can accurately surmise the answer — why the character known as Allen Smiley, a very bad criminal in that league, has not been deported. This is a classical case. This man's real name is Aaron Smehoff, and Smiley is just the alias of a ganster. He was born in Belitza, Russia, wherever that is, and he claims derivative citizenship in Canada because his father was naturalized in Winnipeg in 1921.

Smiley, as we may call him, sneaked into this country about 1923 from Windsor to Detroit. He took a chance on a sneak trip to Canada, possibly for a sentimental visit to his family, or to stick up somebody, because another illegal entry, from Canada, by boat, into California, in 1944 is in his record with the Bureau of Immigration. He is now under sentence of one year in the custody of the attorney general of the United States for falsely claiming citizenship in our country.

The court didn't mean that the honorable attorney general should bed him down on a couch in his office so this means one year in some Danbury or Lewisburg. This false claim of citizenship was made on the occasion of one of his arrests in California. There were three such claims in three pinches and he was convicted on three counts, but this ratty specimen was able to carry his case up to the door of Supreme Court, where he was denied certiorari, and twice to the Circuit Court of Appeals before he exhausted all his resources except the final one of presidential clemency, which is by no means out of the question. It is not out of the question because Smiley is in the money now, down in Houston, where he got into oil with a man named Lenoire M. Josie, whose taste in personal friends is his own business.

You are a Democrat, senator. You seem to wield a sword that knows no brother because I saw where you knocked off my friends, Captain Dan Gilbert, the Chicago detective, a Democrat, knowns as The Fist to some clients of his official attention, when Dan ran for sheriff last fall. By your disclosure of Dan's wealth acquired through the practice of thrift on a modest wage, people were given to suspect Dan had been up to nefarious works. I was put out because I had always wanted a gold sheriff's badge and Dan'l had promised me Number One. The kiss of death again.

Smiley was a member of the Hollywood mob that Leo Durocher got mixed up with when he was manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and loaned his New York apartment to George Raft, who took a sucker for $15,000 in a crap-game there. Durocher is no milliner, but he found himself in the roughest company he ever knew when he started helling around Hollywood with Smiley and Bugsy Siegel. I don't have to tell you what a bad man Siegel was and I will resist a temptation to dwell on his incongruous athleticism along with his criminal way of life, but you know he was a member of the old mob Lepke, Gurrah, Siegel and Lansky, general practitioners. There was a gap of about $1,500,000 between the money used to build and open the doors of the Flamingo, Bugsy's de luxe hotel and gambling house in Las Vegas, Nev., and the money that was actually accounted for. The W.P.B. investigated the acquisition of certain scarce materials in that job, but nothing came of it. It cost about $5,500,000 and about $4,000,000 was accounted for. The difference probably was black market money.

Smiley was sitting with Siegel when someone shot him dead with a rifle as he sat in the living room of his girl, Virginia Hill, in Beverly Hills, but it does not appear that Smiley had a professional interest in that killing. In fact, he was working for Siegel. He was a bite, which is a fellow who yells threats of grievous bodily harm at customers who leave markers overlong or bounce insincere checks. Smiley used the name John Dett in that business. Cute, hey? He was arrested in a cutting at a natal gala at the home of a leader of the Hollywood world of make-believe where they bobbed an actor's nose with a ham-knife, but got off, and his other arrests include one for murder at Long Beach, Calif. He beat that, too. The only conviction that I have found is one for robbery, in San Francisco, for which he was sentenced to Preston Reformatory.

Senator Kefauver, your committee has just got to get this crook deported and dig out the reasons why he has been able to hang around Hollywood, notorious and impudent, all these years, and tell us who made this possible. Remember, Siegel was in narcotics, too, and that wouldn't leave Smiley far removed. I say Democratic politicians have been protecting him.

Last summer I got wind of him in Houston living high at the Shamrock. He had obtained the permission of the federal court in California to leave its jurisdiction notwithstanding his criminal notoriety. Who fixed that up? The Houston sheriff picked him up for a frisk, but he proved by invoices and such documents that he really was in oil.

Now I am told that we can't deport him to Russia because the Iron Curtain countries refuse to accept our deportees, and moreover because he may have something in his claim of derivative Canadian citizenship. And Canada won't take him because he is a louse. But we could retaliate by refusing to accept some particularly loathsome deportee from Canada some time. Or Truman could call up the Canadian ambassador. Canadian bureaucrats are human, too, and with his oil money, Smiley might be able to keep some petty Canadian official firmly resolved that Allen Smiley shall never tread the fair soil of the north dominion.

Been nice seeing you, senator. Remember me to the folks.

Air National Guard Called for March 1

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP) — Nineteen units of the New York Air National Guard will enter active federal service March 1.

Governor Dewey was notified of the call yesterday by the U. S. Air Force.

The units, based at Niagara Falls, White Plains and Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn, were called for 21 months service "or such other period as may be authorized by law, unless sooner relieved."

They will join the Continental Air Command.

The governor's office listed them as:

From Niagara Falls — 136th fighter Squadron (single engine) and 136th Weather Station.

From White Plains—Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, 106th Bombardment Wing (light); 552d USAF Band, and 106th Medical Group.

From Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn—Hg., 106th Bombardment Group (light); Hq., 106th Maintenance & Supply Group; 106th Maintenance Squadron; 106th Supply Squadron; 106th Motor Vehicle Squadron; Hg. & Hq. Squadron, 106th Air Base Group; 106th Communications Squadron; 106th Air Police Squadron; 106th Food Service Squadron; 106th Installations Squadron; 102nd Bombardment Squadron (light); 102d Weather Station; 114th Bombardment Squadron (light), and 114th Weather Station.

The Presidio of Monterey, Calif., is the oldest army post in continuous use in the United States.

Says Firms Shun State Because of Insurance Factor

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—The state commerce commissioner contends that new industry shuns New York state "because of the unemployment insurance factor."

The state needs a "true merit rating formula" for employers' unemployment insurance tax, Harold Keller says.

He wants the Legislature to amend the law immediately to give tax credit to employers who achieve employment stability.

Under the present law, each employer of four or more persons is taxed 2.7 per cent of his payroll. The money is put into a special fund for payment of jobless benefits.

The employers are given rebates in the form of tax credits any year that the fund reaches $900,000,000, or three and one-half times the total of employers' contributions for the previous calendar year, whichever is smaller. No rebates have been made for several years.

In his anual report to Governor Dewey and the Legislature, Keller said yesterday that the present law was "badly handicapping New York's competitive position in the present drive to obtain new defense plants."

He said many manufacturing companies, "which the (commerce) department sought to bring to New York, made final decisions to erect new plants in other states—mainly and in some instances solely because of the adverse impact of our unemployment insurance tax, compared with other competing industrial states."

Keller contended that a merit rating formula would not only attract new plants, but would give "incentive to employers presently in the state to maintain constantly high employment."

The commissioner's report also said bad weather had hurt the travel-vacation business in the state last year. But, vacation spending was boosted by a late summer season.

A department survey showed vacationists spent an average $80.35 last year, compared with $79.55 in 1949.

Photog Injured

Tokyo, Feb. 5 (AP)—Associated Press photographer Jim Martenhoff, injured in a jeep accident Saturday on the western Korean front, was flown to Tokyo last night. He was undergoing medical examination today. His injuries consisted mainly of bruises and contusions. It first was feared he had suffered a broken nose and concussion. The jeep in which he was riding was forced off a road by a weapons carrier. Martenhoff arrived in Korea about a month ago. He worked on newspapers at Rockville Center, N. Y., and Hempstead, N. Y., before he joined The Associated Press.

More Are Working

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) reported today that the government's civilian workers numbered 2,184,693 in December, an increase of 21,415 or less than one per cent over the previous month. Byrd releases a report on government civilian payrolls every month as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Spending. Byrd said defense and emergency agencies accounted for the increase, while civilian agencies showed a net decrease.

Russ Cunningham leaving the Kingston High School football picture! Sounds unbelievable, but it's true. The hard-working line coach whose genius and industry have moulded the best lines in the DUSO League, year after year, has received orders to report at the Norfolk Naval station within a couple of weeks. Finding a replacement for Russ will not be an easy job. The city will miss him during his 27-month return engagement in the Navy and everybody at K. H. S. will be looking forward to the day when he returns to reclaim his position.

• The Mail Bag and Vince Hart:

Mrs. Rose Hart McDonough, a niece of the late Vince Hart, chides us for certain inaccuracies with respect to the boxing bouts between Nick Zinna and Hart. In an article about Zinna a few days ago, we mentioned only one Zinna-Hart bout and described Zinna as the winner. Mrs. McDonough says there were two meetings between the pair and Mr. Zinna didn't fare so well in the return go. She writes:

"This letter is to inform you of the facts about the Nick Zinna-Vince Hart bouts. There were two and not one as stated in your column. You stated that Nick beat Vince Hart. That was quite true. But, in a return bout, which you failed to mention, Vince beat him and earned the distinction of 'uncrowned lightweight champion of the Hudson Valley.'

"In the first bout, Vince Hart fought from the second to the ninth round with a broken right hand. This injury kept him out of the ring for a long spell.

"In the second and return bout, which was billed at that time as 'Kingston's Battle of the Century' Nick Zinna looked like he was fighting the first bout of his career for he was completely baffled throughout the fight. Nick was a strong fellow and by some miracle he managed to stay on his feet until the last round. At the end of the bout, he was practically carried to his dressing room.

"If you want more conclusive evidence kindly let me know, as I have the entire boxing history of my uncle in a scrap book which belonged to him. I would appreciate it very much if you would let the public know the facts about the two fights." . . . .

(Ed. Note—Mrs. McDonough's version is substantially correct but it differs in detail with accounts we have received from boxing experts and officials of that period. But more of that later.)

• Chet Fox Reminds Erena:

The mail bag brought another communication from the old basketball star, Chet Fox who chides Tony Erena for having a lapse of memory regarding all the details involved in the basketball series between the 1927-28 K. H. S. varsity and the fabulous Chandlers.

"Last evening, in reading over your sports column, I enjoyed your article very much, especially the part where Tony Erena gave you some pointers on the game around 27-28-29. It was all true. I thought perhaps you and your readers would enjoy a little more information about basketball of that period.

"Tony didn't tell you that the Chandler-varsity game marked the first time that a high school team was permitted to play independent opposition such as our Chandler Y. M. C. A. squad. We played them a home and home set. They came up to the Y and we defeated them 46 to 14. We then did go down to the school gym and lost.

"We also had a good 11-game series with the old Port Ewen Spinnenweber team and whipped them 9 out of 11. They had some pretty fair shooters in fellws like Dan Joyce, Jack Short, Addison Short, Al Short, Harold Smith, Wes Hyatt, Earle Terwilliger. I think "Bing" Van Etten joined them later.

"The Chandlers played a total of 102 games, winning 86 and losing only 16, including five tournaments. During the 1929 season, we played 42 games, losing only seven.

"I thought you and the fans, especially Tony, might appreciate a little refresher on that series, seeing as how Tony completely forgot the first half."

(Ed. Note: Or did he?)

Today's anniversary date—Feb. 5, 1944, Iowa defeated Chicago, scoring 103 points, highest basketball score in records of Big 10 conference.

Baseball and Grid Stars in Basketball

Professional basketball returns to the municipal auditorium for a one night stand on Thursday, Feb. 14, when Fred Davi presents the New York Yankees against an all-star area quintet.

According to the lineup released by Davi, the Yankee quintet will feature four major league baseball stars and two members of the New York Giant professional football team.

Four members of last year's Siena College varsity and local stars will furnish the opposition.

The Yankees were organized for basketball this season by Frank Scott, who is an official member of the Yankee front office organization.

The personnel includes:

Monte Irvin—First baseman of the New York Giants, one of the new Negro stars and regarded as one of the best semi-pro basketball players in New Jersey. He stands 6 feet 1 and weighs 210 pounds.

Hank Thompson—Giant third sacker, who holds the record for most double plays from that position and one of the best all-round athletes in the game.

Wes Westrum—Giant catcher and an established basketball player, who needs no introduction in these parts.

Emlin Tunnel—Great defense player for the Giant pro football squad. Tunnel is considered the smartest pass defender in the National Football League and was all-Big Tem as a basketball player at the University of Iowa.

Ed Sharkey—A star guard with the New York Yankees football squad. A former Duke University star athlete, Sharkey stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 230 pounds.

Davi said the game here would mark the final appearance of the season for the Yankees, who are heading for the baseball camps on February 17.

The former professional basketball promoter predicted a large attendance, despite the fact that pro basketball has been in a dormant stage for the past several seasons.

"New York Giant fans probably will be happy to see fellows like Irvin, Thompson and Westrum in a basketball uniform," he added. "These fellows are not just a bunch of big leaguers cashing in on their names while in a basketball uniform. They all have college basketball backgrounds and they will put on a good show."

Heading the Davi squad will be Chuck Northrup, Siena College's high scoring center of last season. The balance of the lineup will be announced later.

Louis Ends Training For Agremonte

Miami, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Former World's Heavyweight Boxing Champion Joe Louis winds up training today for his 10-round meeting with Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in Miami Stadium Wednesday night.

Louis boxed four rounds with Charlie Williams of New York and Dutch Culbertson of Los Angeles yesterday and his handlers said he had reached his peak at 208 pounds, 10 less than he weighed when he lost the title to Ezzard Charles.

Agramonte, who weighs 192, took the day off yesterday but planned a drill today to finish up his training.

Matchmaker Al Weill of New York watched Louis work out yesterday and said the former champion was "as vicious with that right as I ever saw him."

The fight is expected to draw a gate of $50,000, promoters claim.

Lake Katrine Directors Meet Wednesday

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Elliott Clark, Harwich street.

All newly elected directors and officers are requested to be present as President Emerson Mayes has several important items to discuss for the coming year.

The regular club meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 13 at the clubhouse at which time a very interesting movie in color and sound will be shown.

Potter Cagers Win First Half 'Y' Flag

Potter Brothers captured the first round title in the Y.M.C.A. "A" Basketball League by downing Harry's Angels, 67-52, in the final game of a triple-tie playoff.

After a close first half in which the score was knotted seven times, the sporting goods store cagers nailed down the victory with a 19-8 bulge in the third period.

The triumph was another fine performance for the basketeers who won last year's Y League title and have reeled off three straight wins in the second round.

Big Jack Doyle played an excellent game for the Potters and their all-round scoring power and tight zone defense proved too tough for the Angels.

Doyle hit for six fields and four singletons as he and Big Bill East finished in a Mexican standoff in their center duel.

Individual scoring leader was Andy Juhl of the Angels with 19 points.

Potters and Wiltwycks are both unbeaten in the second round of play, with three and two wins respectively and their next meeting is expected to decide the round.

Columbia Faces Ivy League Tests

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Ivy League, almost dormant for the last 14 days, wakes up this week with a six-game basketball schedule that puts particular pressure on unbeaten, leading Columbia.

The Lions, only major undefeated team in the nation, will play three games on the road, starting tomorrow at Harvard and including a game at Dartmouth Wednesday and at Cornell Saturday.

The Cornell game, especially, should be a test for Columbia, winner of 12 straight games this season and 21 in a row over a two-year span. Cornell, beaten by the Lions earlier in the campaign, is second in the league standings with a 4-1 mark compared to the Lions' 5-0.

In other games, Pennsylvania will play at Princeton Wednesday and will be host to Harvard Saturday. Princeton is at Dartmouth also Saturday.

In the only league game last Saturday, Cornell turned back Pennsylvania, 72-54. However, Penn's Ernie Beck scored 16 points to bring his league leading total to 117 with the season half-over.

Weaver Scores 15 For Cadets

For the first time in several weeks, Ed Weaver was not Army's high scorer as the Cadets upset Colgate, 55-48, before 4,500 fans Saturday at the West Point Field House.

However, it was Weaver's two spectacular one-handed bankshots in the last three minutes of play that nailed down the Cadet victory at a time when the Red Raiders were threatening.

Baseball Meeting Wednesday

Colonial City Baseball, Inc., has called a final "do or die" meeting of city baseball fans for Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 8 p. m. at the Stuyvesant Hotel, as the result of developments in the meeting with minor league officials, Sunday in New York.

President Addison Jones of Colonial City, Mayor Oscar Newkirk and Albert Kurdt were closeted with Canadian-American League president, Albert Houghton, and George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, for a couple of hours at the Hotel Roosevelt and emerged from the conference "encouraged and still hopeful."

Jones made a plea for all baseball fans to attend the meeting. "There is still considerable hope that we can become the sixth team in the Can-Am League," he said.

Anti-Chandler Group Claims Enough Votes

Say They Will Force Issues by April 17

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — The major league anti-Chandler forces have nearly twice as many votes as they need to oust Albert B. Chandler from the office of commissioner of baseball, a club owner claimed today.

He also said: "don't be surprised if we have a new commissioner by opening day (April 17)."

The magnate, who declined use of his name, insisted that the seven who voted last December not to renew the commissioner's contract beyond his present term, had gained two more allies during the past two months and now outnumber the pro-Chandler group, nine to seven. Chandler needs 12 votes for re-election.

On the other hand, Chandler is certain he has 10 votes. He privately confined to friends last night that he has lost one backer from the original nine who voted for him at St. Petersburg, Fla., but he has picked up two others. The former Senator from Kentucky is confident he can get the two more votes he needs to win.

The screening committee, however, continues to sift the names of candidates for Chandler's job. Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, one of the four club owners on the committee, said yesterday that "about 20 candidates were being considered." The committee was scheduled to convene again today. It included Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Ellis Ryan of Cleveland. Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, the fourth member, is ill and cannot attend.

Expect Choice

"The committee is doing a remarkable job in screening the candidates," the clubowner said. "Despite what you may hear to the contrary, we definitely are on the road to electing a new commissioner long before Chandler's term expires on April 30, 1952.

"The committee at this moment is down to 10 candidates. Following today's meeting, it is the intention of the committee to call a session of the 16 club owners in 30 days. By then, the list of availables probably will be down to two or three men. Perhaps even one."

A clubowner, who is not a committee member, told the Associated Press Saturday that the list of candidates had been trimmed down to 10 names.

Other than to say that the two newcomers to the anti-Chandler faction were American League clubs, the owner refused to name his new allies. Six suspected anti-Chandler votes include Bob Carpenter, Philadelphia Phillies; Bill DeWitt, St Louis Browns; Charles Comiskey, Chicago White Sox; Fred Saigh, St. Louis Cardinals; Perini and Webb. The seventh has been a mystery from the start.

Kentucky Wildcats With 18-1 Record Easily Rate as Nation's Top Five

L.I.U. Drops Fourth Game on Road

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—It is no surprise that Kentucky leads the collegiate basketball parade today with three-fourths of the season gone. But the way the Wildcats have been clawing away lately—why, it's simply amazing.

Actually, only two missed foul shots have kept Kentucky from an undefeated record. The Wildcats have won 18 games while losing only once, a 43-42 setback to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl tourney. And that defeat might have been averted if Captain Walt Hirsch had connected on one or two of his free throws in the final seconds.

Kentucky, nevertheless, is enjoying one of the finest seasons in history. The Wildcats, have a vise-like grip on the Southeastern Conference race (10-0) and are rated No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll. Some even are comparing these 1951 Blue Grass hotshots with the great Groza-Jones-Beard combination of a few years ago.

Win Four In Week

Last week Kentucky played four league games, and none even resembled a mild struggle. In order, the Wildcats demolished Tulane, 104-68; Louisiana State, 81-59; Mississippi State, 80-60, and, last Saturday, Mississippi, 86-39. Only the L.S.U. was played on Kentucky's home floor.

The Wildcats take it easy this week with only one game, Georgia Tech Saturday at Lexington.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma A. & M., the No. 2 team nationally, faces a busy schedule after a week layoff. After playing at Kansas tonight, the Aggies Thursday play host to Oklahoma, the only team to trip them this year. Oklahoma A. & M. has the same record as Kentucky, 18-1. The Aggies play Drake Saturday at Stillwater.

While Kentucky's stock zoomed to a seasonal high last week, Long Island University and North Carolina State suffered setbacks.

Fourth-ranked L.I.U. concluded a disastrous road trip by losing to St. Louis, 62-57, Saturday. Long Island dropped four of its five road games, losing to Arizona Monday and Kansas State Wednesday.

N.C. State, No. 8, lost to Louisville, 86-70, Wednesday, then dropped its first Southern Conference game after 10 straight victories, to William & Mary, 88-78.

Russ Cunningham leaving the Kingston High School football picture! Sounds unbelievable, but it's true. The hard-working line coach whose genius and industry have moulded the best lines in the DUSO League, year after year, has received orders to report at the Norfolk Naval station within a couple of weeks. Finding a replacement for Russ will not be an easy job. The city will miss him during his 27-month return engagement in the Navy and everybody at K. H. S. will be looking forward to the day when he returns to reclaim his position.

• The Mail Bag and Vince Hart:

Mrs. Rose Hart McDonough, a niece of the late Vince Hart, chides us for certain inaccuracies with respect to the boxing bouts between Nick Zinna and Hart. In an article about Zinna a few days ago, we mentioned only one Zinna-Hart bout and described Zinna as the winner. Mrs. McDonough says there were two meetings between the pair and Mr. Zinna didn't fare so well in the return go. She writes:

"This letter is to inform you of the facts about the Nick Zinna-Vince Hart bouts. There were two and not one as stated in your column. You stated that Nick beat Vince Hart. That was quite true. But, in a return bout, which you failed to mention, Vince beat him and earned the distinction of 'uncrowned lightweight champion of the Hudson Valley.'

"In the first bout, Vince Hart fought from the second to the ninth round with a broken right hand. This injury kept him out of the ring for a long spell.

"In the second and return bout, which was billed at that time as 'Kingston's Battle of the Century' Nick Zinna looked like he was fighting the first bout of his career for he was completely baffled throughout the fight. Nick was a strong fellow and by some miracle he managed to stay on his feet until the last round. At the end of the bout, he was practically carried to his dressing room.

"If you want more conclusive evidence kindly let me know, as I have the entire boxing history of my uncle in a scrap book which belonged to him. I would appreciate it very much if you would let the public know the facts about the two fights." . . . .

(Ed. Note—Mrs. McDonough's version is substantially correct but it differs in detail with accounts we have received from boxing experts and officials of that period. But more of that later.)

• Chet Fox Reminds Erena:

The mail bag brought another communication from the old basketball star, Chet Fox who chides Tony Erena for having a lapse of memory regarding all the details involved in the basketball series between the 1927-28 K. H. S. varsity and the fabulous Chandlers.

"Last evening, in reading over your sports column, I enjoyed your article very much, especially the part where Tony Erena gave you some pointers on the game around 27-28-29. It was all true. I thought perhaps you and your readers would enjoy a little more information about basketball of that period.

"Tony didn't tell you that the Chandler-varsity game marked the first time that a high school team was permitted to play independent opposition such as our Chandler Y. M. C. A. squad. We played them a home and home set. They came up to the Y and we defeated them 46 to 14. We then did go down to the school gym and lost.

"We also had a good 11-game series with the old Port Ewen Spinnenweber team and whipped them 9 out of 11. They had some pretty fair shooters in fellws like Dan Joyce, Jack Short, Addison Short, Al Short, Harold Smith, Wes Hyatt, Earle Terwilliger. I think "Bing" Van Etten joined them later.

"The Chandlers played a total of 102 games, winning 86 and losing only 16, including five tournaments. During the 1928 season, we played 42 games, losing only seven.

"I thought you and the fans, especially Tony, might appreciate a little refresher on that series, seeing as how Tony completely forgot the first half."

(Ed. Note: Or did he?)

Today's anniversary date—Feb. 5, 1944, Iowa defeated Chicago, scoring 103 points, highest basketball score in records of Big 10 conference.

Baseball and Grid Stars in Basketball

Professional basketball returns to the municipal auditorium for a one night stand on Thursday, Feb. 14, when Fred Davi presents the New York Yankees against an all-star area quintet.

According to the lineup released by Davi, the Yankee quintet will feature four major league baseball stars and two members of the New York Giant professional football team.

Four members of last year's Siena College varsity and local stars will furnish the opposition.

The Yankees were organized for basketball this season by Frank Scott, who is an official member of the Yankee front office organization.

The personnel includes:

Monte Irvin—First baseman of the New York Giants, one of the new Negro stars and regarded as one of the best semi-pro basketball players in New Jersey. He stands 6 feet 1 and weighs 210 pounds.

Hank Thompson—Giant third sacker, who holds the record for most double plays from that position and one of the best all-round athletes in the game.

Wes Westrum—Giant catcher and an established basketball player, who needs no introduction in these parts.

Emlin Tunnel—Great defense player for the Giant pro football squad. Tunnel is considered the smartest pass defender in the National Football League and was all-Big Tem as a basketball player at the University of Iowa.

Ed Sharkey—A star guard with the New York Yankees football squad. A former Duke University star athlete, Sharkey stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 230 pounds.

Davi said the game here would mark the final appearance of the season for the Yankees, who are heading for the baseball camps on February 17.

The former professional basketball promoter predicted a large attendance, despite the fact that pro basketball has been in a dormant stage for the past several seasons.

"New York Giant fans probably will be happy to see fellows like Irvin, Thompson and Westrum in a basketball uniform," he added. "These fellows are not just a bunch of big leaguers cashing in on their names while in a basketball uniform. They all have college basketball backgrounds and they will put on a good show."

Heading the Davi squad will be Chuck Northrup, Siena College's high scoring center of last season. The balance of the lineup will be announced later.

Louis Ends Training For Agremonte

Miami, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Former World's Heavyweight Boxing Champion Joe Louis winds up training today for his 10-round meeting with Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in Miami Stadium Wednesday night.

Louis boxed four rounds with Charlie Williams of New York and Dutch Culbertson of Los Angeles yesterday and his handlers said he had reached his peak at 208 pounds, 10 less than he weighed when he lost the title to Ezzard Charles.

Agramonte, who weighs 192, took the day off yesterday but planned a drill today to finish up his training.

Matchmaker Al Weill of New York watched Louis work out yesterday and said the former champion was "as vicious with that right as I ever saw him."

The fight is expected to draw a gate of $50,000, promoters claim.

Lake Katrine Directors Meet Wednesday

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Elliott Clark, Harwich street.

All newly elected directors and officers are requested to be present as President Emerson Mayes has several important items to discuss for the coming year.

The regular club meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 13 at the clubhouse at which time a very interesting movie in color and sound will be shown.

Potter Cagers Win First Half 'Y' Flag

Potter Brothers captured the first round title in the Y.M.C.A. "A" Basketball League by downing Harry's Angels, 67-52, in the final game of a triple-tie playoff.

After a close first half in which the score was knotted seven times, the sporting goods store cagers nailed down the victory with a 19-8 bulge in the third period.

The triumph was another fine performance for the basketeers who won last year's Y League title and have reeled off three straight wins in the second round.

Big Jack Doyle played an excellent game for the Potters and their all-round scoring power and tight zone defense proved too tough for the Angels.

Doyle hit for six fields and four singletons as he and Big Bill East finished in a Mexican standoff in their center duel.

Individual scoring leader was Andy Juhl of the Angels with 19 points.

Potters and Wiltwycks are both unbeaten in the second round of play, with three and two wins respectively and their next meeting is expected to decide the round.

Columbia Faces Ivy League Tests

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Ivy League, almost dormant for the last 14 days, wakes up this week with a six-game basketball schedule that puts particular pressure on unbeaten, leading Columbia.

The Lions, only major undefeated team in the nation, will play three games on the road, starting tomorrow at Harvard and including a game at Dartmouth Wednesday and at Cornell Saturday.

The Cornell game, especially, should be a test for Columbia, winner of 12 straight games this season and 21 in a row over a two-year span. Cornell, beaten by the Lions earlier in the campaign, is second in the league standings with a 4-1 mark compared to the Lions' 5-0.

In other games, Pennsylvania will play at Princeton Wednesday and will be host to Harvard Saturday. Princeton is at Dartmouth also Saturday.

In the only league game last Saturday, Cornell turned back Pennsylvania, 72-54. However, Penn's Ernie Beck scored 16 points to bring his league leading total to 117 with the season half-over.

Weaver Scores 15 For Cadets

For the first time in several weeks, Ed Weaver was not Army's high scorer as the Cadets upset Colgate, 55-48, before 4,500 fans Saturday at the West Point Field House.

However, it was Weaver's two spectacular one-handed bankshots in the last three minutes of play that nailed down the Cadet victory at a time when the Red Raiders were threatening.

Baseball Meeting Wednesday

Colonial City Baseball, Inc., has called a final "do or die" meeting of city baseball fans for Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 8 p. m. at the Stuyvesant Hotel, as the result of developments in the meeting with minor league officials, Sunday in New York.

President Addison Jones of Colonial City, Mayor Oscar Newkirk and Albert Kurdt were closeted with Canadian-American League president, Albert Houghton, and George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, for a couple of hours at the Hotel Roosevelt and emerged from the conference "encouraged and still hopeful."

Jones made a plea for all baseball fans to attend the meeting. "There is still considerable hope that we can become the sixth team in the Can-Am League," he said.

Anti-Chandler Group Claims Enough Votes

Say They Will Force Issues by April 17

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — The major league anti-Chandler forces have nearly twice as many votes as they need to oust Albert B. Chandler from the office of commissioner of baseball, a club owner claimed today.

He also said: "don't be surprised if we have a new commissioner by opening day (April 17)."

The magnate, who declined use of his name, insisted that the seven who voted last December not to renew the commissioner's contract beyond his present term, had gained two more allies during the past two months and now outnumber the pro-Chandler group, nine to seven. Chandler needs 12 votes for re-election.

On the other hand, Chandler is certain he has 10 votes. He privately confined to friends last night that he has lost one backer from the original nine who voted for him at St. Petersburg, Fla., but he has picked up two others. The former Senator from Kentucky is confident he can get the two more votes he needs to win.

The screening committee, however, continues to sift the names of candidates for Chandler's job. Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, one of the four club owners on the committee, said yesterday that "about 20 candidates were being considered." The committee was scheduled to convene again today. It included Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Ellis Ryan of Cleveland. Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, the fourth member, is ill and cannot attend.

Expect Choice

"The committee is doing a remarkable job in screening the candidates," the clubowner said. "Despite what you may hear to the contrary, we definitely are on the road to electing a new commissioner long before Chandler's term expires on April 30, 1952.

"The committee at this moment is down to 10 candidates. Following today's meeting, it is the intention of the committee to call a session of the 16 club owners in 30 days. By then, the list of availables probably will be down to two or three men. Perhaps even one."

A clubowner, who is not a committee member, told the Associated Press Saturday that the list of candidates had been trimmed down to 10 names.

Other than to say that the two newcomers to the anti-Chandler faction were American League clubs, the owner refused to name his new allies. Six suspected anti-Chandler votes include Bob Carpenter, Philadelphia Phillies; Bill DeWitt, St Louis Browns; Charles Comiskey, Chicago White Sox; Fred Saigh, St. Louis Cardinals; Perini and Webb. The seventh has been a mystery from the start.

Kentucky Wildcats With 18-1 Record Easily Rate as Nation's Top Five

L.I.U. Drops Fourth Game on Road

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—It is no surprise that Kentucky leads the collegiate basketball parade today with three-fourths of the season gone. But the way the Wildcats have been clawing away lately—why, it's simply amazing.

Actually, only two missed foul shots have kept Kentucky from an undefeated record. The Wildcats have won 18 games while losing only once, a 43-42 setback to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl tourney. And that defeat might have been averted if Captain Walt Hirsch had connected on one or two of his free throws in the final seconds.

Kentucky, nevertheless, is enjoying one of the finest seasons in history. The Wildcats, have a vise-like grip on the Southeastern Conference race (10-0) and are rated No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll. Some even are comparing these 1951 Blue Grass hotshots with the great Groza-Jones-Beard combination of a few years ago.

Win Four In Week

Last week Kentucky played four league games, and none even resembled a mild struggle. In order, the Wildcats demolished Tulane, 104-68; Louisiana State, 81-59; Mississippi State, 80-60, and, last Saturday, Mississippi, 86-39. Only the L.S.U. was played on Kentucky's home floor.

The Wildcats take it easy this week with only one game, Georgia Tech Saturday at Lexington.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma A. & M., the No. 2 team nationally, faces a busy schedule after a week layoff. After playing at Kansas tonight, the Aggies Thursday play host to Oklahoma, the only team to trip them this year. Oklahoma A. & M. has the same record as Kentucky, 18-1. The Aggies play Drake Saturday at Stillwater.

While Kentucky's stock zoomed to a seasonal high last week, Long Island University and North Carolina State suffered setbacks.

Fourth-ranked L.I.U. concluded a disastrous road trip by losing to St. Louis, 62-57, Saturday. Long Island dropped four of its five road games, losing to Arizona Monday and Kansas State Wednesday.

N.C. State, No. 8, lost to Louisville, 86-70, Wednesday, then dropped its first Southern Conference game after 10 straight victories, to William & Mary, 88-78.

Mangrum Cos Tucson Open

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum won the $1800 Tucson Open Golf tourney yterday because, he figures, it is his turn to win.

"I'm a fatalist," heaid as he shoved the first priz money of $2,000 into his pock. "If it's your turn, you'll win."

The Chicago pro irdied the 18th hole on the eas 6402-yard El Rio Golf and Cntry Club course for a one undepar 69 and a 72-hole total of 269 This gave him a two stroke ge on Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., Lew Worsham, Oakmont, AA., and Jack Burke, Jr., Houon, Tex.

John Bulla, Veron Pa., and Henry Ransom, St. Adrews, Ill., tied for fifth place wi 272, eight under war.

While most of the ation shivered, the tourney wamlayed in a blazing sun with 75-gree temperatures making conions ideal.

Burke, the much-tked about young pro, finished wi a five under par 65 to leapfrogfrom a 12-way tie for 12th placeat the start of the final round int one of the runner-up spots whicearned him $1,066.66.

Russ Cunningham leaving the Kingston High School football picture! Sounds unbelievable, but it's true. The hard-working line coach whose genius and industry have moulded the best lines in the DUSO League, year after year, has received orders to report at the Norfolk Naval station within a couple of weeks. Finding a replacement for Russ will not be an easy job. The city will miss him during his 27-month return engagement in the Navy and everybody at K. H. S. will be looking forward to the day when he returns to reclaim his position.

• The Mail Bag and Vince Hart:

Mrs. Rose Hart McDonough, a niece of the late Vince Hart, chides us for certain inaccuracies with respect to the boxing bouts between Nick Zinna and Hart. In an article about Zinna a few days ago, we mentioned only one Zinna-Hart bout and described Zinna as the winner. Mrs. McDonough says there were two meetings between the pair and Mr. Zinna didn't fare so well in the return go. She writes:

"This letter is to inform you of the facts about the Nick Zinna-Vince Hart bouts. There were two and not one as stated in your column. You stated that Nick beat Vince Hart. That was quite true. But, in a return bout, which you failed to mention, Vince beat him and earned the distinction of 'uncrowned lightweight champion of the Hudson Valley.'

"In the first bout, Vince Hart fought from the second to the ninth round with a broken right hand. This injury kept him out of the ring for a long spell.

"In the second and return bout, which was billed at that time as 'Kingston's Battle of the Century' Nick Zinna looked like he was fighting the first bout of his career for he was completely baffled throughout the fight. Nick was a strong fellow and by some miracle he managed to stay on his feet until the last round. At the end of the bout, he was practically carried to his dressing room.

"If you want more conclusive evidence kindly let me know, as I have the entire boxing history of my uncle in a scrap book which belonged to him. I would appreciate it very much if you would let the public know the facts about the two fights." . . . .

(Ed. Note—Mrs. McDonough's version is substantially correct but it differs in detail with accounts we have received from boxing experts and officials of that period. But more of that later.)

• Chet Fox Reminds Erena:

The mail bag brought another communication from the old basketball star, Chet Fox who chides Tony Erena for having a lapse of memory regarding all the details involved in the basketball series between the 1927-28 K. H. S. varsity and the fabulous Chandlers.

"Last evening, in reading over your sports column, I enjoyed your article very much, especially the part where Tony Erena gave you some pointers on the game around 27-28-29. It was all true. I thought perhaps you and your readers would enjoy a little more information about basketball of that period.

"Tony didn't tell you that the Chandler-varsity game marked the first time that a high school team was permitted to play independent opposition such as our Chandler Y. M. C. A. squad. We played them a home and home set. They came up to the Y and we defeated them 46 to 14. We then did go down to the school gym and lost.

"We also had a good 11-game series with the old Port Ewen Spinnenweber team and whipped them 9 out of 11. They had some pretty fair shooters in fellws like Dan Joyce, Jack Short, Addison Short, Al Short, Harold Smith, Wes Hyatt, Earle Terwilliger. I think "Bing" Van Etten joined them later.

"The Chandlers played a total of 102 games, winning 86 and losing only 16, including five tournaments. During the 1928 season, we played 42 games, losing only seven.

"I thought you and the fans, especially Tony, might appreciate a little refresher on that series, seeing as how Tony completely forgot the first half."

(Ed. Note: Or did he?)

Today's anniversary date—Feb. 5, 1944, Iowa defeated Chicago, scoring 103 points, highest basketball score in records of Big 10 conference.

Baseball and Grid Stars in Basketball

Professional basketball returns to the municipal auditorium for a one night stand on Thursday, Feb. 14, when Fred Davi presents the New York Yankees against an all-star area quintet.

According to the lineup released by Davi, the Yankee quintet will feature four major league baseball stars and two members of the New York Giant professional football team.

Four members of last year's Siena College varsity and local stars will furnish the opposition.

The Yankees were organized for basketball this season by Frank Scott, who is an official member of the Yankee front office organization.

The personnel includes:

Monte Irvin—First baseman of the New York Giants, one of the new Negro stars and regarded as one of the best semi-pro basketball players in New Jersey. He stands 6 feet 1 and weighs 210 pounds.

Hank Thompson—Giant third sacker, who holds the record for most double plays from that position and one of the best all-round athletes in the game.

Wes Westrum—Giant catcher and an established basketball player, who needs no introduction in these parts.

Emlin Tunnel—Great defense player for the Giant pro football squad. Tunnel is considered the smartest pass defender in the National Football League and was all-Big Tem as a basketball player at the University of Iowa.

Ed Sharkey—A star guard with the New York Yankees football squad. A former Duke University star athlete, Sharkey stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 230 pounds.

Davi said the game here would mark the final appearance of the season for the Yankees, who are heading for the baseball camps on February 17.

The former professional basketball promoter predicted a large attendance, despite the fact that pro basketball has been in a dormant stage for the past several seasons.

"New York Giant fans probably will be happy to see fellows like Irvin, Thompson and Westrum in a basketball uniform," he added. "These fellows are not just a bunch of big leaguers cashing in on their names while in a basketball uniform. They all have college basketball backgrounds and they will put on a good show."

Heading the Davi squad will be Chuck Northrup, Siena College's high scoring center of last season. The balance of the lineup will be announced later.

Louis Ends Training For Agromonte

Miami, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Former World's Heavyweight Boxing Champion Joe Louis winds up training today for his 10-round meeting with Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in Miami Stadium Wednesday night.

Louis boxed four rounds with Charlie Williams of New York and Dutch Culbertson of Los Angeles yesterday and his handlers said he had reached his peak at 208 pounds, 10 less than he weighed when he lost the title to Ezzard Charles.

Agramonte, who weighs 192, took the day off yesterday but planned a drill today to finish up his training.

Matchmaker Al Weill of New York watched Louis work out yesterday and said the former champion was "as vicious with that right as I ever saw him."

The fight is expected to draw a gate of $50,000, promoters claim.

Potter Cagers Win First Half 'Y' Flag

Potter Brothers captured the first round title in the Y.M.C.A. "A" Basketball League by downing Harry's Angels, 67-52, in the final game of a triple-tie playoff.

After a close first half in which the score was knotted seven times, the sporting goods store cagers nailed down the victory with a 19-8 bulge in the third period.

The triumph was another fine performance for the basketeers who won last year's Y League title and have reeled off three straight wins in the second round.

Big Jack Doyle played an excellent game for the Potters and their all-round scoring power and tight zone defense proved too tough for the Angels.

Doyle hit for six fields and four singletons as he and Big Bill East finished in a Mexican standoff in their center duel.

Individual scoring leader was Andy Juhl of the Angels with 19 points.

Potters and Wiltwycks are both unbeaten in the second round of play, with three and two wins respectively and their next meeting is expected to decide the round.

Columbia Faces Ivy League Tests

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Ivy League, almost dormant for the last 14 days, wakes up this week with a six-game basketball schedule that puts particular pressure on unbeaten, leading Columbia.

The Lions, only major undefeated team in the nation, will play three games on the road, starting tomorrow at Harvard and including a game at Dartmouth Wednesday and at Cornell Saturday.

The Cornell game, especially, should be a test for Columbia, winner of 12 straight games this season and 21 in a row over a two-year span. Cornell, beaten by the Lions earlier in the campaign, is second in the league standings with a 4-1 mark compared to the Lions' 5-0.

In other games, Pennsylvania will play at Princeton Wednesday and will be host to Harvard Saturday. Princeton is at Dartmouth also Saturday.

In the only league game last Saturday, Cornell turned back Pennsylvania, 72-54. However, Penn's Ernie Beck scored 16 points to bring his league leading total to 117 with the season halfover.

Weaver Scores 15 For Cadets

For the first time in several weeks, Ed Weaver was not Army's high scorer as the Cadets upset Colgate, 55-48, before 4,500 fans Saturday at the West Point Field House.

However, it was Weaver's two spectacular one-handed bankshots in the last three minutes of play that nailed down the Cadet victory at a time when the Red Raiders were threatening.

Baseball Meeting Wednesday

Colonial City Baseball, Inc., has called a final "do or die" meeting of city baseball fans for Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 8 p. m. at the Stuyvesant Hotel, as the result of developments in the meeting with minor league officials, Sunday in New York.

President Addison Jones of Colonial City, Mayor Oscar Newkirk and Albert Kurdt were closeted with Canadian-American League president, Albert Houghton, and George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, for a couple of hours at the Hotel Roosevelt and emerged from the conference "encouraged and still hopeful."

Jones made a plea for all baseball fans to attend the meeting. "There is still considerable hope that we can become the sixth team in the Can-Am League," he said.

Anti-Chandler Group Claims Enough Votes

Say They Will Force Issues by April 17

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — The major league anti-Chandler forces have nearly twice as many votes as they need to oust Albert B. Chandler from the office of commissioner of baseball, a club owner claimed today.

He also said: "don't be surprised if we have a new commissioner by opening day (April 17)."

The magnate, who declined use of his name, insisted that the seven who voted last December not to renew the commissioner's contract beyond his present term, had gained two more allies during the past two months and now outnumber the pro-Chandler group, nine to seven. Chandler needs 12 votes for re-election.

On the other hand, Chandler is certain he has 10 votes. He privately confined to friends last night that he has lost one backer from the original nine who voted for him at St. Petersburg, Fla., but he has picked up two others. The former Senator from Kentucky is confident he can get the two more votes he needs to win.

The screening committee, however, continues to sift the names of candidates for Chandler's job. Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, one of the four club owners on the committee, said yesterday that "about 20 candidates were being considered." The committee was scheduled to convene again today. It included Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Ellis Ryan of Cleveland. Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, the fourth member, is ill and cannot attend.

Expect Choice

"The committee is doing a remarkable job in screening the candidates," the clubowner said. "Despite what you may hear to the contrary, we definitely are on the road to electing a new commissioner long before Chandler's term expires on April 30, 1952.

"The committee at this moment is down to 10 candidates. Following today's meeting, it is the intention of the committee to call a session of the 16 club owners in 30 days. By then, the list of availables probably will be down to two or three men. Perhaps even one."

A clubowner, who is not a committee member, told the Associated Press Saturday that the list of candidates had been trimmed down to 10 names.

Other than to say that the two newcomers to the anti-Chandler faction were American League clubs, the owner refused to name his new allies. Six suspected anti-Chandler votes include Bob Carpenter, Philadelphia Phillies; Bill DeWitt, St Louis Browns; Charles Comiskey, Chicago White Sox; Fred Saigh, St. Louis Cardinals; Perini and Webb. The seventh has been a mystery from the start.

Kentucky Wildcats With 18-1 Record Easily Rate as Nation's Top Five

L.I.U. Drops Fourth Game on Road

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—It is no surprise that Kentucky leads the collegiate basketball parade today with three-fourths of the season gone. But the way the Wildcats have been clawing away lately—why, it's simply amazing.

Actually, only two missed foul shots have kept Kentucky from an undefeated record. The Wildcats have won 18 games while losing only once, a 43-42 setback to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl tourney. And that defeat might have been averted if Captain Walt Hirsch had connected on one or two of his free throws in the final seconds.

Kentucky, nevertheless, is enjoying one of the finest seasons in history. The Wildcats, have a vise-like grip on the Southeastern Conference race (10-0) and are rated No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll. Some even are comparing these 1951 Blue Grass hotshots with the great Groza-Jones-Beard combination of a few years ago.

Win Four In Week

Last week Kentucky played four league games, and none even resembled a mild struggle. In order, the Wildcats demolished Tulane, 104-68; Louisiana State, 81-59; Mississippi State, 80-60, and last Saturday, Mississippi, 86-39. Only the L.S.U. was played on Kentucky's home floor.

The Wildcats take it easy this week with only one game, Georgia Tech Saturday at Lexington.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma A. & M., the No. 2 team nationally, faces a busy schedule after a week layoff. After playing at Kansas tonight, the Aggies Thursday play host to Oklahoma, the only team to trip them this year. Oklahoma A. & M. has the same record as Kentucky, 18-1. The Aggies play Drake Saturday at Stillwater.

While Kentucky's stock zoomed to a seasonal high last week, Long Island University and North Carolina State suffered setbacks.

Fourth-ranked L.I.U. concluded a disastrous road trip by losing to St. Louis, 62-57, Saturday. Long Island dropped four of its five road games, losing to Arizona Monday and Kansas State Wednesday.

N.C. State, No. 8, lost to Louisville, 86-70, Wednesday, then dropped its first Southern Conference game after 10 straight victories, to William & Mary, 88-78.

Five Slum Clearance Projects Are Approved

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman announced last night that the state has approved five New York city slum clearance and low rent housing projects costing $75,685,000.

There will be an immediate state loan of $60,000,000 and a second state loan of $15,685,000 on April 1, Stichman said.

The state also may pay up to $26,648,975 annually in cash subsidies to keep rentals in the five projects down to $9 per room per month. Stichman said these subsidies may run for 50 years and require a total expenditure of $132,448,750.

The commissioner said the city has agreed to match the state subsidies, largely by granting tax relief to the housing projects. Municipal acceptance of this subsidy provision is required by state law.

The plans call for 100 new apartment houses for low income families with a total of 22,000 persons. A total of 5,575 housing units are planned. Clearing of 37 acres of poor housing will be required for the five projects.

Parks, recreation grounds and gardens will be included in the projects.

The five are LaGuardia houses, in lower Manhattan near Chinatown; Schuyler-Hamilton housed in Carnegie hooses, all in Brooklyn, and Soundview houses in the Bronx.

100,000 DPs Due in US To Help in Defense

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — One hundred thousand more displaced persons will be brought from Europe to aid this nation's defense effort, a DP official estimated yesterday.

The figure was given by John W. Gibson, chairman of the U. S. Displaced Persons Commission, who addressed the annual assembly of the Jewish Labor Committee.

Nine occupational specialists are in Europe screening DP's, he said, in the belief that about 100,000 with key skills can be included in the total to be admitted.

Those particularly sought are miners, metal workers, brick and stone masons, tile workers, lumber and lumber products workers and trained nurses.

The buildup of the armed forces, Gibson said, will "leave a deep void that must be filled" in industry and commerce.

The Perfect Crime

By FRANK TRIPP

While a police reporter, I almost came upon a perfect crime. It wasn't exactly a crime; in fact by modern standards of moral conduct it was just a lark—but nobody ever found it out, except as its perpetrator revealed it.

I became a member of the police commission many years ago and still continued as a reporter. No bad hookup for a newshound.

One morning at breakfast a man I knew called on the phone and feverishly said he must see me before I went to the office. He came and told a queer story.

He was a well known business man, civic leader and joiner. He occupied a position in the community he could ill afford to jeopardize. His story is best told the way he told it to me. He said:

"I'm here because you are both police and press and I'm too smart to believe that there ever will be any such thing as a perfect crime. I haven't committed a crime but the result of what I've done could be equally serious to me. I'm going to make a clean breast of it and ask you to help me."

THE TROUBLED MAN continued: "I have a friend of whom I'm fond and we secretly see each other when we can. Last night I took her for a ride over Mt. Zoar and I'm afraid we got caught.

"It was dusk and I was driving along a lonely narrow road when a car loomed ahead. I recognized its driver as my next door neighbor and in the back seat was his wife—and mine.

"I pulled off the road to let them pass and ducked under the cowl of my car. There was only room for me. My girl-friend stayed in plain sight. My wife doesn't know her but she recognized our car and kept looking back.

"I hurried to town and unloaded my friend. I took my car down near East Hill, ran it back from the road and hid it among some bushes. I got up to Charlie Klapproth's as fast as I could leg it; went in and made myself conspicuous.

"Several of my friends were there. We had some drinks and visited until about 10:30. Then I offered to drive one of them home. We walked together to the Masonic Temple where I told him I had parked.

"Of course, my car was not there and we both concluded it had been stolen. We went to police headquarters and reported the theft. Then I phoned my wife.

"She said: 'I knew it; I knew that was our car; I saw it up on Mt. Zoar, with a woman in it.' Then she told, what I already knew, about passing our car so close she almost could have touched it.

"I HAD HER TELL her story to the captain, then I beat it right home. We speculated well into the night about the theft and our prospects of getting a whole car back. Finally concluded we would: that joyriders had taken it and would abandon it somewhere.

"That's how things stand now. You've got the facts which the police or you would probably unearth anyway. I've come clean in hopes that my reputation may mean more to you than a story about my foolishness."

As it turned out the wayward husband could have held his tongue and not another soul except his sweetie would have ever known.

I was not in that kind of writing business and I never told it, not till it can do no harm; for he is gone, as is his wife—and left no children.

Mid forenoon that day the police found the "stolen" car in the bushes. The evening paper carried a brief about its theft by joyriders—just another car, lost over night, and no harm done.

The only heralding of the event was by the wife, who never missed a chance to tell how somebody stole their car one time and took his girl up on Mt. Zoar to make whoopie.

Sailor Killed

Paulsboro, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—Robert W. Henrick, 20, a sailor of the U. S. Hemminger at Norfolk, Va., was killed Saturday on Route 25 near Hillcrest avenue, Pennsauken. He was helping to push a stalled automobile which police say a bakery truck hit. Police said Hendrick and a companion, Harold R. Keyser, 22, of Central Falls, R. I., had gotten a lift in a car driven by Maltravis J. Ingram, 35, Atlantic Beach, N. Y. They said Hendrick got out to push the car to start it when he was struck.

ONTEORA SCHOOL
HERBERT A. DIBBELL, P.E.
SHOKAN, NEW YORK
February 2, 1951

Editor, The Freeman:

The "great controversy" started with the issuance of a seemingly harmless booklet entitled "Information about the proposed Olive-Shandaken-Woodstock Centralization," issued in May, 1947. To state that the booklet was replete with misstatements and inaccuracies, is putting it mild. Subsequent publications of the Board of Education have run true to form.

The original estimated cost of the main school was approximately $900,000 while $300,000± additional was earmarked for the construction of a grade school at Woodstock and repairs to certain other schools. The writer attempted to verify the accuracy of these estimates and found them to be grossly in error. For instance, building costs were based on 50c per cu. ft., coal at $4.25 per ton and no provision (on paper at least) for landscaping, garages, water suppy or sewage disposal. All this, despite a paragraph in Booklet No. 1, which reads as follows, supposedly for the benefit of the proletariat: " At the Albany studies, the committee asked the Department to make all figures "high" rather than "low" as it was thought it would be better for the newly elected Board of Education to lower certain costs, if necessary, rather than increase them." Obviously the State Education Department committed a grevious error, whether intentionally or not, it is not for the writer to say. However, an alert committee with a modicum of common sense and a desire to present the real facts to the electorate would have revised these palpably fictitious estimates. Was this done? We shall see later.

In the interim, a portion of the town of Woodstock was astute enough to see "the handwriting on the wall." They folded their tents like Arabs and as silently stole away. Incidentally, these "malcontents," as they were dubbed by the lordly committee, now have a fine school, of which they are justly proud, and their children are enjoying its benefits. At present, we of the Onteora District have the following, viz: An honorable, non-political Board of Education, a high salaried disciple of Ichabod Crane, a beautiful set of perspective drawings (at least I hope so), an extremely inaccurate estimate of cost (these last two from an eminent Buffalo architect), a well (yield unknown to writer), and a rather forlorn and shabby piece of real estate, but no school. However, we do have another bond issue coming up.

Well, as Al Smith, was wont to say "Let's look at the record." With a portion of the town of Woodstock safely out of the voting picture, did the honorable committee revise the obviously incorrect figure of $900,000 for the main school? They did not! The public was asked to vote on the Centralization issue with never a warning as to certain revisions upward. The vote was cast, the Rubicon crossed and, overnight, we became the subservient vassals of our arrogant but honorable Board.

It would be impossible in any letter of reasonable length to review the whole history of the Onteora School Board's activities. While the District was formed in May, 1948, it was not until July, 1949, that an architect was even hired. In other words, a year and two months elapsed before the Board even hired an architect. Of course, prices were rising during all the intervening fourteen months. Why the Board procrastinated so long only they can answer. But that is not the whole story. It was not until April 14, 1950, when they called a meeting of taxpayers to vote the necessary appropriation. Thus approximately another year of valuable time was lost. But even this was not the end of delay. It was not until January of 1951 when they sought to get bids for the work. I wish the Board would explain why it took nine months from the time the appropriation was voted before they advertised for bids.

Now it appears before the construction is even started that the Board wants an extra $300,000 in addition to the $1,650,000 that they asked for in April, 1950. If they want $300,000 more before the construction even starts, how much more will they want before getting finished.

It seems to me that it is high time that all the voters of the Onteora Central School District heed the plea of Claude Bell and Robert Haver to go to the Parish Hall in Phoenicia on the night of February 13th, 1951, and vote "no" on the request for the extra $300,000.

Very truly yours,
HERBERT A. DIBBELL, P.E.

Five Slum Clearance Projects Are Approved

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman announced last night that the state has approved five New York city slum clearance and low rent housing projects costing $75,685,000.

There will be an immediate state loan of $60,000,000 and a second state loan of $15,685,000 on April 1, Stichman said.

The state also may pay up to $26,648,975 annually in cash subsidies to keep rentals in the five projects down to $9 per room per month. Stichman said these subsidies may run for 50 years and require a total expenditure of $132,448,750.

The commissioner said the city has agreed to match the state subsidies, largely by granting tax relief to the housing projects. Municipal acceptance of this subsidy provision is required by state law.

The plans call for 100 new apartment houses for low income families with a total of 22,000 persons. A total of 5,575 housing units are planned. Clearing of 37 acres of poor housing will be required for the five projects.

Parks, recreation grounds and gardens will be included in the projects.

The five are LaGuardia houses, in lower Manhattan near Chinatown; Sumner houses, Edwards houses and Cypress houses, all in Brooklyn, and Scudview houses, in the Bronx.

100,000 DPs Due in US To Help in Defense

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — One hundred thousand more displaced persons will be brought from Europe to aid this nation's defense effort, a DP official estimated yesterday.

The figure was given by John W. Gibson, chairman of the U. S. Displaced Persons Commission, who addressed the annual assembly of the Jewish Labor Committee.

Nine occupational specialists are in Europe screening DP's, he said, in the belief that about 100,000 with key skills can be included in the total to be admitted.

Those particularly sought are miners, metal workers, brick and stone masons, tile workers, lumber and lumber products workers and trained nurses.

The buildup of the armed forces, Gibson said, will "leave a deep void that must be filled" in industry and commerce.

The Perfect Crime

By FRANK TRIPP

While a police reporter, I almost came upon a perfect crime. It wasn't exactly a crime; in fact by modern standards of moral conduct it was just a lark—but noboby ever found it out, except as its perpetrator revealed it.

I became a member of the police commission many years ago and still continued as a reporter. No bad hookup for a newshound.

One morning at breakfast a man I knew called on the phone and feverishly said he must see me before I went to the office. He came and told a queer story.

He was a well known business man, civic leader and joiner. He occupied a position in the community he could ill afford to jeopardize. His story is best told the way he told it to me. He said:

"I'm here because you are both police and press and I'm too smart to believe that there ever will be any such thing as a perfect crime. I haven't committed a crime but the result of what I've done could be equally serious to me. I'm going to make a clean breast of it and ask you to help me."

THE TROUBLED MAN continued: "I have a friend of whom I'm fond and we secretly see each other when we can. Last night I took her for a ride over Mt. Zoar and I'm afraid we got caught.

"It was dusk and I was driving along a lonely narrow road when a car loomed ahead. I recognized its driver as my next door neighbor and in the back seat was his wife—and mine.

"I pulled off the road to let them pass and ducked under the cowl of my car. There was only room for me. My girl-friend stayed in plain sight. My wife doesn't know her but she recognized our car and kept looking back.

"I hurried to town and unloaded my friend. I took my car down near East Hill, ran it back from the road and hid it among some bushes. I got up to Charlie Klapproth's as fast as I could leg it; went in and made myself conspicuous.

"Several of my friends were there. We had some drinks and visited until about 10:30. Then I offered to drive one of them home. We walked together to the Masonic Temple where I told him I had parked.

"Of course, my car was not there and we both concluded it had been stolen. We went to police headquarters and reported the theft. Then I phoned my wife.

"She said: 'I knew it; I knew that was our car; I saw it up on Mt. Zoar, with a woman in it.' Then she told what I already knew, about passing our car so close she almost could have touched it.

"I HAD HER TELL her story to the captain, then I beat it right home. We speculated well into the night about the theft and our prospects of getting a whole car back. Finally concluded we would: that joyriders had taken it and would abandon it somewhere.

"Tht's how things stand now. You've got the facts which the police or you would probably unearth anyway. I've come clean in hopes that my reputation may mean more to you than a story about my foolishness."

As it turned out the wayward husband could have held his tongue and not another soul except his sweetie would have ever known.

I was not in that kind of writing business and I never told it, not till it can do no harm; for he is gone, as is his wife—and left no children.

Mid forenoon that day the police found the "stolen" car in the bushes. The evening paper carried a brief about its theft by joyriders—just another car, lost over night, and no harm done.

The only heralding of the event was by the wife, who never missed a chance to tell how somebody stole their car one time and took his girl up on Mt. Zoar to make whoopie.

Editor, The Freeman:

The "great controversy" started with the issuance of a seemingly harmless booklet entitled "Information about the proposed Olive-Shandaken-Woodstock Centralization," issued in May, 1947. To state that the booklet was replete with misstatements and inaccuracies, is putting it mild. Subsequent publications of the Board of Education have run true to form.

It seems to me that it is high time that all the voters of the Onteora Central School District heed the plea of Claude Bell and Robert Haver to go to the Parish Hall in Phoenicia on the night of February 13th, 1951, and vote "no" on the request for the extra $300,000.

Five Slum Clearance Projects Are Approved

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman announced last night that the state has approved five New York city slum clearance and low rent housing projects costing $75,685,000.

There will be an immediate state loan of $60,000,000 and a second state loan of $15,685,000 on April 1, Stichman said.

The state also may pay up to $26,648,975 annually in cash subsidies to keep rentals in the five projects down to $9 per room per month. Stichman said these subsidies may run for 50 years and require a total expenditure of $132,448,750.

The commissioner said the city has agreed to match the state subsidies, largely by granting tax relief to the housing projects. Municipal acceptance of this subsidy provision is required by state law.

The plans call for 100 new apartment houses for low income families with a total of 22,000 persons. A total of 5,575 housing units are planned. Clearing of 37 acres of poor housing will be required for the five projects.

Parks, recreation grounds and gardens will be included in the projects.

The five are LaGuardia houses, in lower Manhattan near Chinatown; Summer houses, Howard houses and Cypress houses, all in Brooklyn, and Soundview houses in the Bronx.

100,000 DPs Due in US To Help in Defense

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) — One-hundred thousand more displaced persons will be brought from Europe to aid this nation's defense effort, a DP official estimated yesterday.

The figure was given by John W. Gibson, chairman of the U. S. Displaced Persons Commission, who addressed the annual assembly of the Jewish Labor Committee.

Nine occupational specialists are in Europe screening DP's, he said, in the belief that about 100,000 with key skills can be included in the total to be admitted.

Those particularly sought are miners, metal workers, brick and stone masons, tile workers, lumber and lumber products workers and trained nurses.

The buildup of the armed forces, Gibson said, will "leave a deep void that must be filled" in industry and commerce.

EXECUTIVE SAYS, "THIS CAN'T BE BEAT FOR CONSTIPATION"

Mr. Everett Easter, a keen-minded business executive from Birmingham, Alabama, says: "I've been troubled by almost chronic constipation, and I don't know what I'd do without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work so gently yet thoroughly—are so smooth and they never gripe!"

Note: For years Dr. F. M. Edwards, an Ohio physician, recommended his Olive Tablets for patients bothered with constipation and its headaches, bad breath and lack of 'pep.' Olive Tablets are all vegetable. They act on BOTH upper and lower bowels, giving more natural-like bowel movements. 15¢, 30¢ and 60¢ per box.

The Perfect Crime

By FRANK TRIPP

While a police reporter, I almost came upon a perfect crime. It wasn't exactly a crime; in fact by modern standards of moral conduct it was just a lark—but noboby ever found it out, except as its perpetrator revealed it.

I became a member of the police commission many years ago and still continued as a reporter. No bad hookup for a newshound.

One morning at breakfast a man I knew called on the phone and feverishly said he must see me before I went to the office. He came and told a queer story.

He was a well known business man, civic leader and joiner. He occupied a position in the community he could ill afford to jeopardize. His story is best told the way he told it to me. He said:

"I'm here because you are both police and press and I'm too smart to believe that there ever will be any such thing as a perfect crime. I haven't committed a crime but the result of what I've done could be equally serious to me. I'm going to make a clean breast of it and ask you to help me."

THE TROUBLED MAN continued: "I have a friend of whom I'm fond and we secretly see each other when we can. Last night I took her for a ride over Mt. Zoar and I'm afraid we got caught.

"It was dusk and I was driving along a lonely narrow road when a car loomed ahead. I recognized its driver as my next door neighbor and in the back seat was his wife—and mine.

"I pulled off the road to let them pass and ducked under the cowl of my car. There was only room for me. My girl-friend stayed in plain sight. My wife doesn't know her but she recognized our car and kept looking back.

"I hurried to town and unloaded my friend. I took my car down near East Hill, ran it back from the road and hid it among some bushes. I got up to Charlie Klapproth's as fast as I could leg it; went in and made myself conspicuous.

"Several of my friends were there. We had some drinks and visited until about 10:30. Then I offered to drive one of them home. We walked together to the Masonic Temple where I told him I had parked.

"Of course, my car was not there and we both concluded it had been stolen. We went to police headquarters and reported the theft. Then I phoned my wife.

"She said: 'I knew it; I knew that was our car; I saw it up on Mt. Zoar, with a woman in it.' Then she told, what I already knew, about passing our car so close she almost could have touched it.

"I HAD HER TELL her story to the captain, then I beat it right home. We speculated well into the night about the theft and our prospects of getting a whole car back. Finally concluded we would; that joyriders had taken it and would abandon it somewhere.

"Tht's how things stand now. You've got the facts which the police or you would probably unearth anyway. I've come clean in hopes that my reputation may mean more to you than a story about my foolishness."

As it turned out the wayward husband could have held his tongue and not another soul except his sweetie would have ever known.

I was not in that kind of writing business and I never told it, not till it can do no harm; for he is gone, as is his wife—and left no children.

Mid forenoon that day the police found the "stolen" car in the bushes. The evening paper carried a brief about its theft by joyriders—just another car, lost over night, and no harm done.

The only heralding of the event was by the wife, who never missed a chance to tell how somebody stole their car one time and took his girl up on Mt. Zoar to make whoopie.

Sailor Killed

Paulsboro, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—Robert W. Henrick, 20, a sailor of the U. S. Hemminger at Norfolk, Va., was killed Saturday on Route 25 near Hillcrest avenue, Pennsauken. He was helping to push a stalled automobile which police say a bakery truck hit. Police said Hendrick and a companion, Harold R. Keyser, 22, of Central Falls, R. I., had gotten a lift in a car driven by Maltravis J. Ingram, 35, Atlantic Beach, N. Y. They said Hendrick got out to push the car to start it when he was struck.

ONTEORA SCHOOL
HERBERT A. DIBBELL, P.E.
SHOKAN, NEW YORK

Editor, The Freeman:

The "great controversy" started with the issuance of a seemingly harmless booklet entitled "Information about the proposed Olive-Shandaken-Woodstock Centralization," issued in May, 1947. To state that the booklet was replete with misstatements and inaccuracies, is putting it mild. Subsequent publications of the Board of Education have run true to form.

The original estimated cost of the main school was approximately $900,000 while $300,000± additional was earmarked for the construction of a grade school at Woodstock and repairs to certain other schools. The writer attempted to verify the accuracy of these estimates and found them to be grossly in error. For instance, building costs were based on 50c per cu. ft., coal at $4.25 per ton and no provision (on paper at least) for landscaping, garages, water suppy or sewage disposal. All this, despite a paragraph in Booklet No. 1, which reads as follows, supposedly for the benefit of the proletariat: " At the Albany studies, the committee asked the Department to make all figures "high" rather than "low" as it was thought it would be better for the newly elected Board of Education to lower certain costs, if necessary, rather than increase them." Obviously the State Education Department committed a grevious error, whether intentionally or not, it is not for the writer to say. However, an alert committee with a modicum of common sense and a desire to present the real facts to the electorate would have revised these palpably fictitious estimates. Was this done? We shall see later.

In the interim, a portion of the town of Woodstock was astute enough to see "the handwriting on the wall." They folded their tents like Arabs and as silently stole away. Incidentally, these "malcontents," as they were dubbed by the lordly committee, now have a fine school, of which they are justly proud, and their children are enjoying its benefits. At present, we of the Onteora District have the following, viz: An honorable, non-political Board of Education, a high salaried disciple of Ichabod Crane, a beautiful set of perspective drawings (at least I hope so), an extremely inaccurate estimate of cost (these last two from an eminent Buffalo architect), a well (yield unknown to writer), and a rather forlorn and shabby piece of real estate, but no school. However, we do have another bond issue coming up.

Well, as Al Smith, was wont to say "Let's look at the record." With a portion of the town of Woodstock safely out of the voting picture, did the honorable committee revise the obviously incorrect figure of $900,000 for the main school? They did not! The public was asked to vote on the Centralization issue with never a warning as to certain revisions upward. The vote was cast, the Rubicon crossed and, overnight, we became the subservient vassals of our arrogant but honorable Board.

It would be impossible in any letter of reasonable length to review the whole history of the Onteora School Board's activities. While the District was formed in May, 1948, it was not until July, 1949, that an architect was even hired. In other words, a year and two months elapsed before the Board even hired an architect. Of course, prices were rising during all the intervening fourteen months. Why the Board procrastinated so long only they can answer. But that is not the whole story. It was not until April 14, 1950, when they called a meeting of taxpayers to vote the necessary appropriation. Thus approximately another year of valuable time was lost. But even this was not the end of delay. It was not until January of 1951 when they sought to get bids for the work. I wish the Board would explain why it took nine months from the time the appropriation was voted before they advertised for bids.

Now it appears before the construction is even started that the Board wants an extra $300,000 in addition to the $1,850,000 that they asked for in April, 1950. If they want $300,000 more before the construction even starts, how much more will they want before getting finished.

It seems to me that it is high time that all the voters of the Onteora Central School District heed the plea of Claude Bell and Robert Haver to go to the Parish Hall in Phoenicia on the night of February 13th, 1951, and vote "no" on the request for the extra $300,000.

Very truly yours,
HERBERT A. DIBBELL, P.E.

FORD STEPS AHEAD FOR THE YEARS AHEAD

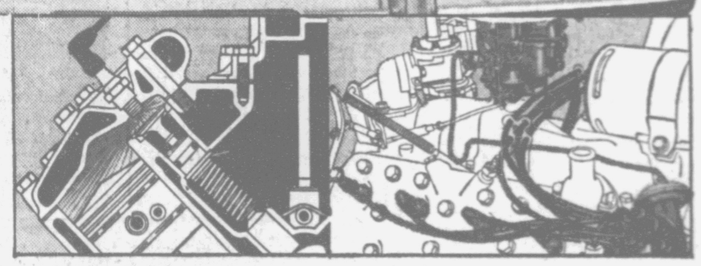
With 43 "Look Ahead" features

More and more folks who are buying with an eye to the future are buying Fords. The reasons are so simple. In every feature, in every detail the '51 Ford is built to be a fine car . . . to stay a fine car for years ahead!

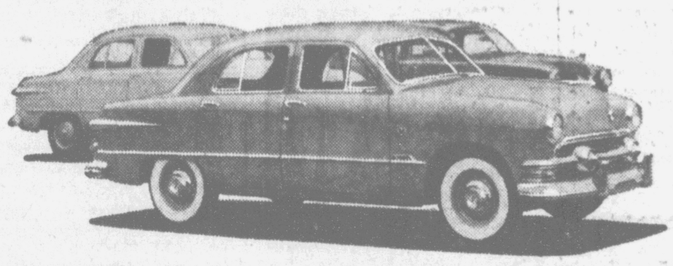
You'll find this Ford offers you a pick of engines . . . V-8 or Six. Both are a match in get-up-and-go for any engine at any price. Both offer you famous Ford economy. And you'll discover new starting ease with Ford's Key-Turn Starting . . . comfort with Automatic Posture Control . . . all-weather protection with Double-Seal King-Size Brakes.

And you'll find fine-car beauty in Ford's new "Fashion Car" styling . . . with Luxury Lounge Interiors custom-matched to outside colors.

AUTOMATIC RIDE CONTROL is a brand new Ford smooth-riding development. Through a teaming-up of advanced "Hydra-Coil" Front Springs, new Variable-Rate Rear Spring Suspension and "Viscous Control" Shock Absorbers it actually adjusts your ride to road conditions continuously—automatically . . . irons out the bumps . . . keeps your ride level!



AUTOMATIC MILEAGE MAKER is a 3-way carburetion, ignition and combustion system that automatically matches timing to fuel charges. It squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas . . . none is wasted . . . gives you high compression performance with regular gas. And Ford's new Waterproof Ignition System delivers quick starts in the wettest weather. Prevents engine being shorted out by moisture.



WITH FORDOMATIC DRIVE* It's the newest, finest, most flexible of all the automatic drives. It betters the features of earlier automatics, to give you instant getaway, passing power when you want it, smooth, jerk-free performance, engine braking on hills, and even easier rocking out of snow or sand than with conventional drive!

Civil Service Revises Two New Examinations

The United States Civil Service Commission today issued a revised announcement of its stenographer and typist examination. It also announced an examination for the blind only for dictating machine transcriber. All the jobs to be filled from these exams are in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

The starting salaries for stenographers range from $2,450 to $2,875 a year and for typists they are from $2,450 to $2,650 a year. The dictating machine transcriber examination covers positions paying $2,450 and $2,650 a year.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, William P. Barry, main postoffice, Kingston.

SomeCongressmen Feel Ike Has Not Given All Answers

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower apparently has convinced a majority of lawmakers that the integration of some American troops in western Europe's defenses is a worthwhile venture.

But some legislators remarked pointedly that the five-star general left a lot of questions unanswered in four congressional and a national radio-television appearances last week.

A cross-section of opinion indicated that Eisenhower, who commands the North Atlantic Defense force, made progress in convincing lawmakers that western Europe has the will and ability to fight, if necessary.

There were some, however, like Senators Dirksen (R.-Ill.) and Cordon (R.-Ore.), who retained doubts on this score.

Eisenhower pleased many of his listeners with his insistence that the main European need right now is equipment. Congressmen generally seemed disposed not to quibble over sending guns despite differences over the issue of sending men.

Eisenhower made a dent in the outer ranks of those who have been demanding that Congress put a ceiling on the number of troops that could be sent abroad. He said he wants to retain "flexibility" on this score.

As a result, Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) appeared hesitant about pressing his earlier demand for a limitation. Senator George (D.-Ga.) said Congress must fix a ceiling eventually but need not necessarily do it in immediately forthcoming legislation.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) stood his ground firmly, asserting that President Truman should submit any troop agreement to Congress. Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) thought Congress should be consulted. And Senator H. Alexander Smith (R.- N. J.) insisted that Eisenhower's stand didn't bar future congressional action on this issue.

Smith told reporteds Eisenhower assured him he will make further reports to Congress as the job of setting up the defense force progresses.

On August 1st each year Switzerland celebrates its "Conderation Day." Expert mountaineers make their way to peaks and set off fireworks displays and bonfires.

Three Hurt in Bridge Mishap

Large Crowd Sees New Exhibit at Sea Horse

Woodstock, Feb. 5—A diversified collection of black and white drawings drew an exceptionally large crowd for the opening of the show Saturday afternoon at the S. S. Sea Horse. Ranging from pen and ink and wash drawings to illustrations and cartoons, the exhibition contains the work of many of Woodstock's eminent artists whose paintings are now on view at the Metropolitan Museum, the Ganso and other New York galleries.

A number of the sketches and cartoons were familiar in that they have been seen reproduced in some of the leading magazines and periodicals.

For a person interested in studying the infinite possibilities of the black and white mediums, there is a wide choice assembled in a comparatively small space. Marc von Arenburg contributes pencil renderings; Bruce Currie fine, delicately wrought pen and ink drawings; Walter Seaton shows wash illustrations. Both Ethel and Jenne Magafan are represented with their unique wash and dry brush work.

Pepers Take Pair

Woodstock, Feb. 5—In a Saugerties A League match, Peper's Garage won two games out of three bowling with Mayone's Market Wednesday night. Pepers scored 848-721-775 and Mayones 845-786-746. Individual scores: J. Holdridge 172-154-156; O. Morrell 185-158-133; C. Harder 159-111; A. Peper 143-129; C. Nicponski 149-166; V. Busch 167-149-152; M. Arlensky 170-180-160; T. Yonta 198-142-160; B. Evans 157-168-133; R. Mayone 185-157-158. High single scorer T. Yonta 198 and high triple scorer M. Arlensky 510.

Another Blast to Come

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says there will be another atomic explosion "in the near future." Residents of this area were warned to stay away from windows during early morning hours "until notice that the current series of tests is completed." There is no indication when the next blast could be expected. The four previous tests of the series came at about 5:45 a. m., Pacific Standard Time, on Jan. 27 and 28 and Feb. 1 and 2.

Brotherhood Week

Let brotherhood once more fill the land
For together united always to stand
Remove all barriers, make a fresh start
For Brotherhood Week, open your heart.

Let understanding and kindness be part of you
Join together as brothers true
Cast aside prejudice against religion or creed
Just remember all humans have a need.

Many need reminders once a year
To remember brotherhood is very dear
We're all one people, wherever we pray
Let's all strike out hatred today.

Try to be tolerant, whoever it may be
Just to show that spirit of mercy
By the same Maker, created were we
Let's make new brotherhood history.

Join hands in the clasp of friendship
Words of cheer from every lip
Brothers we are, never to fade
New bonds of brotherhood to be made.

Hoover to Deliver Address on Radio

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover will deliver an address on radio and television Friday night on the subject, "We Should Revise Our Foreign Policy."

The speech will be broadcast and televised over the Mutual Broadcasting System from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Mr. Hoover's office said last night the address will be "an extension" and "updating" of the address he made to the nation last Dec. 20.

That speech drew world-wide interest and reaction. No details of the content of Friday's address were given.

Mr. Hoover said in the Dec. 20 speech that the nations of western Europe "should show they have spiritual strength and unity to avail themselves of their own resources" in order to warrant further aid from the United States.

He declared the demonstration could not be just "paper promises and declarations."

"It must express itself," Mr. Hoover declared, "in organized and equipped combat divisions of such large numbers as would erect a sure dam against the Red flood. And that before we land another man or dollar on their shores."

Jet Grounded, Godfrey Arrives on Airliner

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey came north by commercial airliner last night after oxygen ran short in his jet plane.

The radio and television star, who had just finished two weeks of active navy duty at Pensacola, Fla., headed for New York in his jet yesterday.

An oxygen leak forced him to return to Pensacola in about 45 minutes.

After filing a new flight plan, he flew the jet to Jacksonville. There he took an Eastern Airlines plane, arriving at Newark (N. J.) airport at 8:55 p. m. (EST) en route to New York.

Godfrey, a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, originally started for New York to participate in a review ceremony.

The review, which went on without Godfrey, was in honor of Comdr. Samuel Levy, who is retiring from the Naval Air Reserve.

Construction Head Dies

Middletown, O., Feb. 5 (AP)—H. H. Vought, 97, one time head of a New York construction firm, died here Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. H. McGraw. Vought, who retired in 1932, built hundreds of homes in the New Rochelle area of New York and also several buildings on the Princeton University campus. He was a native of Cornwall, N. Y.

"Please explain a bridge pointer to me in words of one syllable," requests a Knoxville reader. "How should South play the clubs in his hand?

"I played the hand at three no-trump and managed to go down. West opened the jack of spades, and I played low from dummy, winning in my own hand with the ace. I returned the jack of clubs, remarking that one black jack deserved another.

"West covered with the king of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. The rest of the top clubs were cashed, but the suit failed to break. I next tried the diamonds, but West won two diamonds since that suit also failed to break. He then went back to spades, and the defenders took two spades and the nine of clubs, thus setting the contract.

"I can see that my way of playing the clubs lost the contract for me, but how was I to know in advance how the clubs were going to break?"

If West has the king and exactly two small clubs, it doesn't matter whether South leads the jack of clubs or a low club for the finesse in that suit. Dummy will surely win the ace, queen, and ten; and then, since all the clubs will drop, dummy's last club will be good for a fourth trick in the suit.

Suppose West has the king and three or more low clubs. Once again, it doesn't matter how South plays the suit; but this time the reason is that only three tricks can be won. Whenever South leads the jack, West will cover with the king. Dummy will surely make the ace, queen, and ten; but then West's remaining club will be higher than dummy's last club.

Now let's see a case that does matter. Suppose West has the singleton king of clubs. If South begins the suit by leading the jack, West must cover with the king. Dummy will make the three honors, but East will then be able to beat dummy's last club.

If South leads a low club instead of the jack, West must play his singleton king. Then dummy makes three clubs, and South wins the jack for a total of four club tricks.

In the actual hand, South should lead a low club instead of the jack. West plays low, and dummy wins a finesse with the ten. South gets back to his hand with the ace of diamonds and leads his other low club. This time West must play his king. Dummy makes the ace. South next makes the jack of clubs, and dummy later takes the queen.

In other words, South doesn't need to guess how the clubs are divided. He cannot gain anything by leading the jack of clubs; the best he can get is an even break. He has a chance to gain by leading a low club, since West may have the singleton or doubleton king of clubs.

SomeCongressmen Feel Ike Has Not Given All Answers

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower apparently has convinced a majority of lawmakers that the integration of some American troops in western Europe's defenses is a worthwhile venture.

But some legislators remarked pointedly that the five-star general left a lot of questions unanswered in four congressional and a national radio-television appearances last week.

A cross-section of opinion indicated that Eisenhower, who commands the North Atlantic Defense force, made progress in convincing lawmakers that western Europe has the will and ability to fight, if necessary.

There were some, however, like Senators Dirksen (R.-Ill.) and Cordon (R.-Ore.), who retained doubts on this score.

Eisenhower pleased many of his listeners with his insistence that the main European need right now is equipment. Congressmen generally seemed disposed not to quibble over sending guns despite differences over the issue of sending men.

Eisenhower made a dent in the outer ranks of those who have been demanding that Congress put a ceiling on the number of troops that could be sent abroad. He said he wants to retain "flexibility" on this score.

As a result, Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) appeared hesitant about pressing his earlier demand for a limitation. Senator George (D.-Ga.) said Congress must fix a ceiling eventually but need not necessarily do it in immediately forthcoming legislation.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) stood his ground firmly, asserting that President Truman should submit any troop agreement to Congress. Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) thought Congress should be consulted. And Senator H. Alexander Smith (R.- N. J.) insisted that Eisenhower's stand didn't bar future congressional action on this issue.

Smith told reporteds Eisenhower assured him he will make further reports to Congress as the job of setting up the defense force progresses.

Another Blast to Come

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says there will be another atomic explosion "in the near future." Residents of this area were warned to stay away from windows during early morning hours "until notice that the current series of tests is completed." There is no indication when the next blast could be expected. The four previous tests of the series came at about 5:45 a. m., Pacific Standard Time, on Jan. 27 and 28 and Feb. 1 and 2.

"There's a reason why thousands come downtown to Save"

You save MORE when you ENJOY saving!

Little things often play a big part in important matters. Such as the place you save in . . . and the amount you save. Here at Home-Seekers', the average account is well over $2,000 per saver. Of course, our liberal dividends help . . . but we think it's even more important that people enjoy saving in this fine old Kingston institution . . . and prove it by coming to our offices downtown regularly and often. "There's a reason" . . . why not come down yourself and find out how it can affect the size of your savings balance?

Hoover to Deliver Address on Radio

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover will deliver an address on radio and television Friday night on the subject, "We Should Revise Our Foreign Policy."

The speech will be broadcast and televised over the Mutual Broadcasting System from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Mr. Hoover's office said last night the address will be "an extension" and "updating" of the address he made to the nation last Dec. 20.

That speech drew world-wide interest and reaction. No details of the content of Friday's address were given.

Mr. Hoover said in the Dec. 20 speech that the nations of western Europe "should show they have spiritual strength and unity to avail themselves of their own resources" in order to warrant further aid from the United States.

He declared the demonstration could not be just "paper promises and declarations."

"It must express itself," Mr. Hoover declared, "in organized and equipped combat divisions of such large numbers as would erect a sure dam against the Red flood. And that before we land another man or dollar on their shores."

Jet Grounded, Godfrey Arrives on Airliner

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey came north by commercial airliner last night after oxygen ran short in his jet plane.

The radio and television star, who had just finished two weeks of active navy duty at Pensacola, Fla., headed for New York in his jet yesterday.

An oxygen leak forced him to return to Pensacola in about 45 minutes.

After filing a new flight plan, he flew the jet to Jacksonville. There he took an Eastern Airlines plane, arriving at Newark (N. J.) airport at 8:55 p. m. (EST) en route to New York.

Godfrey, a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, originally started for New York to participate in a review ceremony.

The review, which went on without Godfrey, was in honor of Comdr. Samuel Levy, who is retiring from the Naval Air Reserve.

Construction Head Dies

Middletown, O., Feb. 5 (AP)—H. H. Vought, 97, one time head of a New York construction firm, died here Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. H. McGraw. Vought, who retired in 1932, built hundreds of homes in the New Rochelle area of New York and also several buildings on the Princeton University campus. He was a native of Cornwall, N. Y.

"Please explain a bridge pointer to me in words of one syllable," requests a Knoxville reader. "How should South play the clubs in his hand?

"I played the hand at three no-trump and managed to go down. West opened the jack of spades, and I played low from dummy, winning in my own hand with the ace. I returned the jack of clubs, remarking that one black jack deserved another.

"West covered with the king of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. The rest of the top clubs were cashed, but the suit failed to break. I next tried the diamonds, but West won two diamonds since that suit also failed to break. He then went back to spades, and the defenders took two spades and the nine of clubs, thus setting the contract.

"I can see that my way of playing the clubs lost the contract for me, but how was I to know in advance how the clubs were going to break?"

If West has the king and exactly two small clubs, it doesn't matter whether South leads the jack of clubs or a low club for the finesse in that suit. Dummy will surely win the ace, queen, and ten; and then, since all the clubs will drop, dummy's last club will be good for a fourth trick in the suit.

Suppose West has the king and three or more low clubs. Once again, it doesn't matter how South plays the suit; but this time the reason is that only three tricks can be won. Whenever South leads the jack, West will cover with the king. Dummy will surely make the ace, queen, and ten; but then West's remaining club will be higher than dummy's last club.

Now let's see a case that does matter. Suppose West has the singleton king of clubs. If South begins the suit by leading the jack, West must cover with the king. Dummy will make the three honors, but East will then be able to beat dummy's last club.

If South leads a low club instead of the jack, West must play his singleton king. Then dummy makes three clubs, and South wins the jack for a total of four club tricks.

In the actual hand, South should lead a low club instead of the jack. West plays low, and dummy wins a finesse with the ten. South gets back to his hand with the ace of diamonds and leads his other low club. This time West must play his king. Dummy makes the ace. South next makes the jack of clubs, and dummy later takes the queen.

In other words, South doesn't need to guess how the clubs are divided. He cannot gain anything by leading the jack of clubs; the best he can get is an even break. He has a chance to gain by leading a low club, since West may have the singleton or doubleton king of clubs.

SomeCongressmen Feel Ike Has Not Given All Answers

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower apparently has convinced a majority of lawmakers that the integration of some American troops in western Europe's defenses is a worthwhile venture.

But some legislators remarked pointedly that the five-star general left a lot of questions unanswered in four congressional and a national radio-television appearances last week.

A cross-section of opinion indicated that Eisenhower, who commands the North Atlantic Defense force, made progress in convincing lawmakers that western Europe has the will and ability to fight, if necessary.

There were some, however, like Senators Dirksen (R.-Ill.) and Cordon (R.-Ore.), who retained doubts on this score.

Eisenhower pleased many of his listeners with his insistence that the main European need right now is equipment. Congressmen generally seemed disposed not to quibble over sending guns despite differences over the issue of sending men.

Eisenhower made a dent in the outer ranks of those who have been demanding that Congress put a ceiling on the number of troops that could be sent abroad. He said he wants to retain "flexibility" on this score.

As a result, Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) appeared hesitant about pressing his earlier demand for a limitation. Senator George (D.-Ga.) said Congress must fix a ceiling eventually but need not necessarily do it in immediately forthcoming legislation.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) stood his ground firmly, asserting that President Truman should submit any troop agreement to Congress. Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) thought Congress should be consulted. And Senator H. Alexander Smith (R.- N. J.) insisted that Eisenhower's stand didn't bar future congressional action on this issue.

Smith told reporteds Eisenhower assured him he will make further reports to Congress as the job of setting up the defense force progresses.

Three Hurt in Bridge Mishap

Large Crowd Sees New Exhibit at Sea Horse

Woodstock, Feb. 5—A diversified collection of black and white drawings drew an exceptionally large crowd for the opening of the show Saturday afternoon at the S. S. Sea Horse. Ranging from pen and ink and wash drawings to illustrations and cartoons, the exhibition contains the work of many of Woodstock's eminent artists whose paintings are now on view at the Metropolitan Museum, the Ganso and other New York galleries.

A number of the sketches and cartoons were familiar in that they have been seen reproduced in some of the leading magazines and periodicals.

For a person interested in studying the infinite possibilities of the black and white mediums, there is a wide choice assembled in a comparatively small space. Marc von Arenburg contributes pencil renderings; Bruce Currie fine, delicately wrought pen and ink drawings; Walter Seaton shows wash illustrations. Both Ethel and Jenne Magafan are represented with their unique wash and dry brush work.

Pepers Take Pair

Woodstock, Feb. 5—In a Saugerties A League match, Peper's Garage won two games out of three bowling with Mayone's Market Wednesday night. Pepers scored 848-721-775 and Mayones 845-786-746. Individual scores: J. Holdridge 172-154-156; O. Morrell 185-158-133; C. Harder 159-111; A. Peper 143-129; C. Nicponski 149-166; V. Busch 167-149-152; M. Arlensky 170-180-160; T. Yonta 198-142-160; B. Evans 157-168-133; R. Mayone 185-157-158. High single scorer T. Yonta 198 and high triple scorer M. Arlensky 510.

Hoover to Deliver Address on Radio

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover will deliver an address on radio and television Friday night on the subject, "We Should Revise Our Foreign Policy."

The speech will be broadcast and televised over the Mutual Broadcasting System from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Mr. Hoover's office said last night the address will be "an extension" and "updating" of the address he made to the nation last Dec. 20.

That speech drew world-wide interest and reaction. No details of the content of Friday's address were given.

Mr. Hoover said in the Dec. 20 speech that the nations of western Europe "should show they have spiritual strength and unity to avail themselves of their own resources" in order to warrant further aid from the United States.

He declared the demonstration could not be just "paper promises and declarations."

"It must express itself," Mr. Hoover declared, "in organized and equipped combat divisions of such large numbers as would erect a sure dam against the Red flood. And that before we land another man or dollar on their shores."

Jet Grounded, Godfrey Arrives on Airliner

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey came north by commercial airliner last night after oxygen ran short in his jet plane.

The radio and television star, who had just finished two weeks of active navy duty at Pensacola, Fla., headed for New York in his jet yesterday.

An oxygen leak forced him to return to Pensacola in about 45 minutes.

After filing a new flight plan, he flew the jet to Jacksonville. There he took an Eastern Airlines plane, arriving at Newark (N. J.) airport at 8:55 p. m. (EST) en route to New York.

Godfrey, a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, originally started for New York to participate in a review ceremony.

The review, which went on without Godfrey, was in honor of Comdr. Samuel Levy, who is retiring from the Naval Air Reserve.

Construction Head Dies

Middletown, O., Feb. 5 (AP)—H. H. Vought, 97, one time head of a New York construction firm, died here Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. H. McGraw. Vought, who retired in 1932, built hundreds of homes in the New Rochelle area of New York and also several buildings on the Princeton University campus. He was a native of Cornwall, N. Y.

"Please explain a bridge pointer to me in words of one syllable," requests a Knoxville reader. "How should South play the clubs in his hand?

"I played the hand at three no-trump and managed to go down. West opened the jack of spades, and I played low from dummy, winning in my own hand with the ace. I returned the jack of clubs, remarking that one black jack deserved another.

"West covered with the king of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. The rest of the top clubs were cashed, but the suit failed to break. I next tried the diamonds, but West won two diamonds since that suit also failed to break. He then went back to spades, and the defenders took two spades and the nine of clubs, thus setting the contract.

"I can see that my way of playing the clubs lost the contract for me, but how was I to know in advance how the clubs were going to break?"

If West has the king and exactly two small clubs, it doesn't matter whether South leads the jack of clubs or a low club for the finesse in that suit. Dummy will surely win the ace, queen, and ten; and then, since all the clubs will drop, dummy's last club will be good for a fourth trick in the suit.

Suppose West has the king and three or more low clubs. Once again, it doesn't matter how South plays the suit; but this time the reason is that only three tricks can be won. Whenever South leads the jack, West will cover with the king. Dummy will surely make the ace, queen, and ten; but then West's remaining club will be higher than dummy's last club.

Now let's see a case that does matter. Suppose West has the singleton king of clubs. If South begins the suit by leading the jack, West must cover with the king. Dummy will make the three honors, but East will then be able to beat dummy's last club.

If South leads a low club instead of the jack, West must play his singleton king. Then dummy makes three clubs, and South wins the jack for a total of four club tricks.

In the actual hand, South should lead a low club instead of the jack. West plays low, and dummy wins a finesse with the ten. South gets back to his hand with the ace of diamonds and leads his other low club. This time West must play his king. Dummy makes the ace. South next makes the jack of clubs, and dummy later takes the queen.

In other words, South doesn't need to guess how the clubs are divided. He cannot gain anything by leading the jack of clubs; the best he can get is an even break. He has a chance to gain by leading a low club, since West may have the singleton or doubleton king of clubs.

Defective Teeth Common Problem With City Pupils

During the first semester of the 1950-51 school year the medical staff of the health department has examined 4,078 of the 6,113 pupils registered in the city schools. This is in addition to the 161 special medical examination given athletes.

There was a total of 2,145 major defects found, Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, director of school health, reports. The more common defect found was with teeth. There was a total of 1,407 cases of defective teeth and the second leading defect was nutrition with 179 cases. Eye defects came third with 167 cases.

In his report, Dr. Nussbaum states there were 1,087 completely negative examinations.

Of the pupils examined it was found that 74 per cent suffered from some major or minor defect and only 26 per cent were found to be without some defect.

Following the examinations efforts to have defects corrected were taken. Notes were mailed in 1,434 cases and 573 home calls were made by nurses in a program to have parents cooperate in correction measures through treatment by the family physician.

Praises Medical Group

Trustee N. Jansen Fowler complimented the medical department of the Kingston school system on the follow up program which is used to bring about corrective measures after defects have been revealed by the school medical examinations. He reported that the follow up program in Kingston is one of the best in the state and has produced excellent results.

In addition to the notes mailed and the visits in homes by nurses, there have been 2,912 conferences with pupils held during the first semester, 1,620 conferences with teachers, 228 with parents and 141 other conferences aimed at better health, for a total of 4,901 conferences.

Dr. Nussbaum in his report to the board of education states that there were 6,179 inspections made, 2,037 first aid cases and 341 children were excluded from school.

A total of 321 working permits were issued by the school, 26 being limited and 295 being regular permits.

The following is a breakdown of defects found and notes were mailed in each case and treatments started wherever possible:

Nutrition, 179; teeth, 1,407; tonsils, 150; nose, 10; glands, 14; eyes, 167; adequate glasses, 304; orthopedic, 7; cardiac, 38; lungs, 1; hernia, 4; severe posture, 102; skin, scalp, 26; mental, 2 (not including glasses); speech, 6; others, 15.

The school medical department seeks to have corrective measures taken by the family physician wherever possible but in cases where this is impossible the medical department will assist.

For the first semester the following report also was given the board of education on the dental program:

Examined, 267; routine sittings, 655; emergency, 25; permanent extractions, 122; decid. extractions, 236; amal. fillings, 631; plastic fillings, 89; silicate, 9; temporary fillings, 34; pulp cap, 60; cement base, 263; pulpotomy, 1; sutures, 1; anaesthesia, 526; post op., 5; dental X-rays, 61; medical X-rays, 11; prophylaix, 10; refusals, 20; penicillin, 3.

Accident Disability Pay For Teachers, Their Plan

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Accident disability retirement pay and accidental death benefits for public school teachers were proposed today by two New York city legislators.

Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, Queens Republicans, said they would introduce in the Legislature tonight a bill modeled after similar benefit provisions now in effect for civil service employes.

Their bill would give dependents of a teacher killed in the performance of duty an annuity amounting to one-half his salary. The death benefit would be paid as an annuity for life to a widow or parents. In the case of a child survivor, it would be paid until the child was 18 years old.

If a teacher were disabled permanently in a school accident, the bill would grant an annuity amounting to three-fourths of his salary for life.

Rich Suffers Injuries

Anthony J. Rich, 6 Rogers street, suffered injuries of the right leg and back in a traffic mishap at Broadway and Abeel street Saturday. The police report at 6:35 p. m., said that a car operated by Robert Shellpepper, 17 Murphy street, headed south on Broadway, and one operated by Rich, were in collision. The latter was parked at the curb on Broadway. Another parked car involved was that of David J. Richards, 1-3 Canal street.

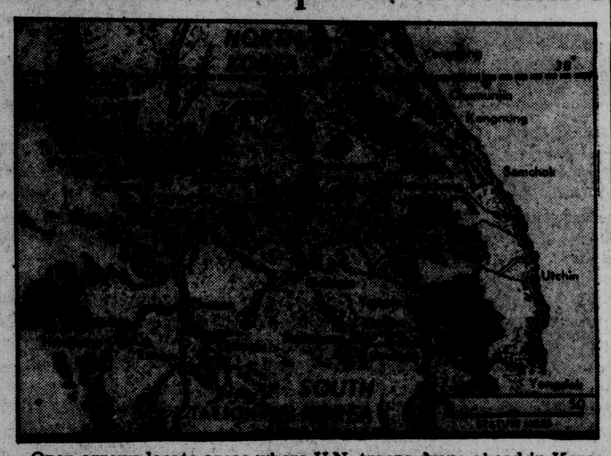
MUSTEROLE

Allies Battle to Keep Reds on Defensive



Open arrows locate areas where U.N. troops drove ahead in Korea attempting to break up a possible general Communist counterattack. Black arrows locate sectors of strongest Red resistance. The Allies battled for dominating hilltops north of Suwon, Kumyangjang and Ichon. On the central front U.N. units occupied Chipyong while patrols moved out from Hoengsong and Pyongchang. On the east coast Korean Republicans battled Red units near Kangnung.

Allied Tank Units

Task Force Fisher, which wiped out the Red massing point of Unjung.

Two other columns linked up at Punjon after wheeling eastward out of the Tanchon valley. U. S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen gained one mile and a half on the Suwon-Kumyangjang front in this action.

American doughboys killed 60 Chinese in a bayonet charge in that sector, one mile east of Kumsong. Fighter planes had killed about half of an estimated 200 Reds dug in on a hill. The survivors scampered down the slope, directly into the U. S. infantry position.

Red Losses 34,359

The Eighth Army estimated that total Red casualties along the front and in rear areas from Jan. 25 through Friday were 34,359, of whom 20,615 were killed. The announcement said 12,856 were wounded and 888 were captured.

The figures for Sunday's bloody 24 hours added considerably to that toll.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker reported that the twin raids toward Seoul were not aimed at the capital. They were mounted to inflict as much damage on the Reds as possible. An Eighth Army spokesman said the drives were of "no particularly significance at this time."

Becker described the action as meant "to catch the Chinese and crush them in a huge bear hug." The correspondent added:

"I flew over the smoking front lines and watched the tanks and infantry plunge up the road. The tanks looked lazy from the sky. They rolled up the road between sharp-sloped hills that held scores of Chinese. The Reds poured down automatic weapons and mortar fire."

A briefing officer at Eighth Army Headquarters said the Chinese had slipped between 10,000 and 15,000 troops into the area south of Seoul. Air observers reported truckloads of Reds were moved up under the cover of darkness.

The buildup indicated that the Reds might attempt an offensive Tuesday—Chinese New Year's. But if they had such plans, the killer raids by the allied columns could have spoiled them.

President Asks

would be lifted also to make the total increase in revenue from alcoholic beverage taxes come to $710,000,000.

The cigarette tax would be jumped from 7 to 10 cents a pack and the graduated rates on cigars would be boosted to add $525,000,000 to the revenue from tobacco taxes.

The gasoline tax would be doubled—from a federal levy of 1½ cents a gallon to three cents.

This was calcuated to add $580,000,000 (M) in revenue from the federal gasoline tax.

Snyder also called for an extensive plugging of tax "loopholes." This would add an unspecified sum, certainly "hundreds of millions of dollars each year" and perhaps billions, to the $10,000,000,000 (B) extra sought from the other tax proposals.

Chief proposals in this class were the removal of present tax exemption from cooperatives, mutual savings banks, building and loan associations, and income from state and municipal securities.

Oil, Mines Tightened

The major loophole-plugging request from a revenue standpoint, however, was a tightening of the "depletion" (tax-reducing) privilege of oil and mining interests. Present allowances were described as costing the government "hundreds of millions of dollars each year."

Congressional tax leaders have indicated it will take at least until June for Congress to complete action on the new tax proposals. These, of course, cannot take effect until Congress has voted upon them and the president has approved whatever Congress does.

Secretary Snyder said nothing in his prepared statement for the committee about making the increase in income taxes retroactive to Jan. 1 or any date earlier than the Congress finishes action.

The Treasury chief declared the $71,600,000,000 budget proposed by the president for the fiscal year starting next July 1 must be balanced. It will take $61,500,000,000 on top of the presently expected $55,100,000,000 record flow of tax funds to balance it.

Snyder said little about the tax-boost proposal to follow the request first-round increase, but he indicated that nothing will be ruled out of consideration— not even a further increase in income taxes.

Small Firms

dim hope for many small firms even if its recommendations are carried out.

"No one," the report said, "expects 1951 to provide any betterment of the materials situation. Both military and stockpiling requirements, the committee learned in executive (closed) session, will increase sharply each quarter of this year.

Say N.P.A. Dooms Business

"It can only then be expected that over the dwindling material pile left for civilian needs, the law of the claw and the fang will prevail."

The committee said N.P.A. has been "unsuccessful in its efforts to get its program over to the business community," and added:

"Over and over, witnesses told the committee: N.P.A. sentences our business to death but won't tell us why."

Bricker Asks Aide

from a trip to Brazil.

The committee report also declared that former R.F.C. Chairman Harley Hise stated that Dawson tried to dominate R.F.C. Hise said he resisted, the report added.

Bricker is a member of the full banking committee, but he did not serve on the subcommittee which investigated R.F.C. operation.

"I think the report made it perfectly clear that the whole situation reeks of political influence of the worst kind," Bricker declared.

He predicted that the Banking Committee never will recommend Senate confirmation of Dunham, Willett and Rowe, who—along with the other two R.F.C. directors—are serving under temporary appointments.

Bell, Haver Ask

deserves no medals for distinguished public service. They should immediately resign in a body.

Ask for Decision

"Since it appears from the board's own statement that it is now, if belatedly, studying the question of whether the Boiceville school can be built within the original $1,850,000, the special meeting called for February 13 to vote on the extra appropriation should be canceled. Certainly the taxpayers should not be asked to vote the extra money until at least the board makes up its own mind as to whether or not it is necessary.

"The haphazard way in which the cost of the Boiceville school project has been handled by the board demands close scrutiny. The people, in May, 1947, by a booklet issued by those sponsoring centralization, including two present board members, were assured that the school could be built for $900,000. In April, 1950, they were told it would cost $1,850,000. Now, in 1951, we are told that the cost of the same school will be $2,150,000. In other words they have upped the cost about 138 per cent! Costs have, of course, gone up in the last few years, but they certainly have not increased by 138 per cent. That increase cannot be explained away by simply blaming inflation.

Mathematics Questioned

"We do not know who is responsible for the arithmetic that prompted the board to say in their statement that the increase in tax rate which would result from the extra appropriation would only be between $.90 and $1.20. Whoever it was, ought to brush up on his mathematics at some school.

"Anyone can see that $300,000 is about one-sixth or 16½ per cent of $1,850,000. In other words, the tax rate will jump at least 16½%, if the extra money is voted. In 1949 the board issued a pamphlet entitled 'How Much' in which they told the taxpayers of Olive that when the school was built they could expect a tax rate of $29 per thousand dollars of assessed value. Actually, that figure, was low. But even if we considered it accurate, we can safely conclude that by increasing it by 16½% would give an increased tax rate of $4.83, or a total rate of $33.83. And, of course, such a rate does not take into account the interest on the additional $300.000 of bonds. If all proper factors were taken into account, the Olive tax rate will, you may be sure, be in excess of $35 per thousand.

At the present time Olive's tax rate is actually $17.85. This, if the total cost of the school is $2,150,000 as the board expects, then Olive taxpayers will pay more than twice the school tax that they are paying at present. Actually many Olive taxpayers are now paying three or four times as much school tax, before the school is even started, than they were paying before centralization. It is about time a halt is called.

"We, therefore, again urge all voters of the Onteora School District to go to the Parish Hall at Phoenicia on the night of February 13 and vote 'no' on the requested $300,000 of additional appropriation. The voting will be between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock.

Signed,
CLAUDE BELL, Supervisor.

Jenkins' Auto Kills Military Policeman

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 5 (AP)—A car smashed into a highway roadblock last night, killing a military policeman instantly.

Army and state authorities identified the driver as Lew Jenkins, 34, former world's lightweight boxing champion. He was examined at a hospital and jailed for questioning.

The victim was Cpl. David L. Dexter, 22, of Colorado Springs. His body was thrown 75 feet, and "virtually every bone broken," highway patrolman Russell Proctor said.

The roadblock had been set up four miles south of here to apprehend a car stolen from Camp Carson.

Jenkins, a sergeant first class stationed here, was driving back to camp. A bus had stopped at the roadblock, Proctor said, when Jenkins' car came around it and struck Dexter. The car skidded to a stop 112 feet away.

The stolen car was stopped going toward Colorado Springs, and its driver arrested a few minutes later.

Passion Play Actors Wed

Oberammergau, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP)—The portrayers of the Virgin Mary and Lazarus in the Oberammergau Passion Play were married here today. Annemie Mayr, 22, who played the part of Mary, and Robert Steidle, 25-year-old actor who was Lazarus in the 1950 Passion Play, were married by Oberammergau's burgomeister. A wedding reception was given at a hotel operated by Anton Preisinger, portrayer of Jesus in the play.

Student Dies Fighting Off Police Rescuers

He was Harvey Gladstone Schiff. His bride of a year, Nancy, 25, could give no reason for his action.

Nurses in nearby Bellevue Hospital said they saw Schiff's car back off an embankment and plunge into an excavation for a new veterans hospital.

Schiff fought police with such force that almost all his clothing was ripped off.

He finally lost consciousness and was put in an ambulance, but was dead by the time it reached Bellevue.

The cause of death was not determined immediately, and an autopsy was ordered.

Schiff's wife said he was due to graduate in May from New York University-Bellevue Medical Center.

Will Close Industry

A spokesman for the automobile industry said in Detroit last night that unless the strike ends within a week, the entire industry will have to shut down. Workers already laid off in Detroit had climbed to 28,500.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo said its 10 mills were to be shut down today and 3,000 men laid off.

The return to work last night of 120 switchmen enabled the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Line to resume normal operations.

Officials of the Pensylvania Railroad reported 104 men were back on their jobs in New York city and New Jersey yards and that all but one of 130 who reported to the railroad's medical examiner in New York had been given certificates permitting them to go back to work. In Philadelphia, the company reported another 43 had appeared for physical examinations which are required before they may return to work.

The Chesapeake and Ohio announced its operations were back to normal in Michigan.

scrap and steel scrap, Di Salle promised that other price rollbacks are coming.

The scrap price order, effective Wednesday, wiped out a sudden price increase which took place during January. Indications were that it would not result in any price decreases in the price of iron and steel, but that it would act to prevent increases in the future.

Elsewhere on the economic controls front, the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching struggled with an overall wage policy to relax the freeze of paychecks at Jan. 25 levels. The board has already approved some exemptions, including one it said was designed to permit day to day wage adjustments for production workers.

The overall formula may be forthcoming this week, officials said. It is generally accepted that it will permit wage boosts of a fixed percentage above the levels of a past date, possibly Jan. 1 or June 15, 1950.

South Has Losses

As temperatures climbed back to normal levels throughout the south the northern plains area and northern Maine again were hit by sub-zero blasts. Readings below zero were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and northern Maine.

Rain was reported from central California to Idaho and eastern Washington, while snow blanketed the northern Rocky Mountains and North Dakota. The eastern and northern Great Lakes region had light snow.

Two Are Arrested

Two Kingston youths, charged with third degree burglary in sealed indictments returned by the grand jury on January 30, were arrested today by Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum of the city police department and Investigator Leonard Belmore of the sheriff's office. The youths were identified as William Bence, 19, of 31 Fitch street and Edward Butler, 17, of 580 Abeel street.

Miller Is Charged

Glenford L. Miller, 39, of 56 Henry street, was arrested Saturday by Officers Thomas McGrane and Peter Camp on a warrant charging third degree assault. The information lists Mrs. Frances O'Brien as the complainant. The case was put over to Saturday.

Defective Teeth Common Problem With City Pupils

During the first semester of the 1950-51 school year the medical staff of the health department has examined 4,078 of the 6,113 pupils registered in the city schools. This is in addition to the 161 special medical examination given athletes.

There was a total of 2,145 major defects found, Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, director of school health, reports. The more common defect found was with teeth. There was a total of 1,407 cases of defective teeth and the second leading defect was nutrition with 179 cases. Eye defects came third with 167 cases.

In his report, Dr. Nussbaum states there were 1,087 completely negative examinations.

Of the pupils examined it was found that 74 per cent suffered from some major or minor defect and only 26 per cent were found to be without some defect.

Following the examinations efforts to have defects corrected were taken. Notes were mailed in 1,434 cases and 573 home calls were made by nurses in a program to have parents cooperate in correction measures through treatment by the family physician.

Praises Medical Group

Trustee N. Jansen Fowler complimented the medical department of the Kingston school system on the follow up program which is used to bring about corrective measures after defects have been revealed by the school medical examinations. He reported that the follow up program in Kingston is one of the best in the state and has produced excellent results.

In addition to the notes mailed and the visits in homes by nurses, there have been 2,912 conferences with pupils held during the first semester, 1,620 conferences with teachers, 228 with parents and 141 other conferences aimed at better health, for a total of 4,901 conferences.

Dr. Nussbaum in his report to the board of education states that there were 6,179 inspections made, 2,037 first aid cases and 341 children were excluded from school.

A total of 321 working permits were issued by the school, 26 being limited and 295 being regular permits.

The following is a breakdown of defects found and notes were mailed in each case and treatments started wherever possible: Nutrition, 179; teeth, 1,407; tonsils, 150; nose, 10; glands, 14; eyes, 167; adequate glasses, 304; orthopedic, 7; cardiac, 38; lungs, 1; hernia, 4; severe posture, 102; skin, scalp, 26; mental, 2 (not including glasses); speech, 6; others, 15.

The school medical department seeks to have corrective measures taken by the family physician wherever possible but in cases where this is impossible the medical department will assist.

For the first semester the following report also was given the board of education on the dental program:

Examined, 267; routine sittings, 655; emergency, 25; permanent extractions, 122; decid. extractions, 236; amal. fillings, 631; plastic fillings, 89; silicate, 9; temporary fillings, 34; pulp cap, 60; cement base, 263; pulpotomy, 1; sutures, 1; anaesthesia, 526; post op., 5; dental X-rays, 61; medical X-rays, 11; prophylaix, 10; refusals, 20; penicillin, 3.

Accident Disability Pay For Teachers, Their Plan

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Accident disability retirement pay and accidental death benefits for public school teachers were proposed today by two New York city legislators.

Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, Queens Republicans, said they would introduce in the Legislature tonight a bill modeled after similar benefit provisions now in effect for civil service employes.

Their bill would give dependents of a teacher killed in the performance of duty an annuity amounting to one-half his salary. The death benefit would be paid as an annuity for life to a widow or parents. In the case of a child survivor, it would be paid until the child was 18 years old.

If a teacher were disabled permanently in a school accident, the bill would grant an annuity amounting to three-fourths of his salary for life.

Rich Suffers Injuries

Anthony J. Rich, 6 Rogers street, suffered injuries of the right leg and back in a traffic mishap at Broadway and Abeel street Saturday. The police report at 6:35 p. m., said that a car operated by Robert Shellpepper, 17 Murphy street, headed south on Broadway, and one operated by Rich, were in collision. The latter was parked at the curb on Broadway. Another parked car involved was that of David J. Richards, 1-3 Canal street.

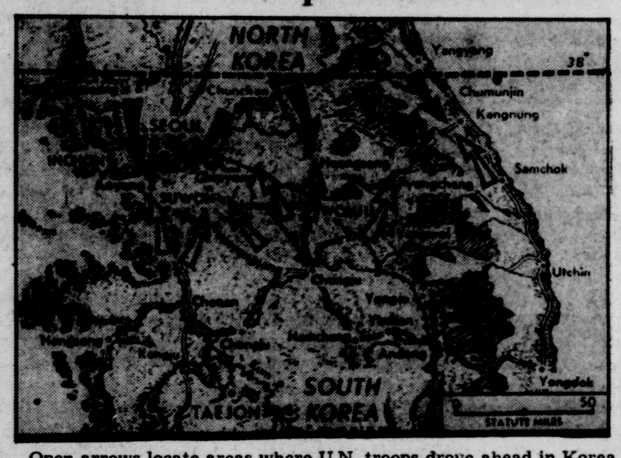
MUSTEROLE

Allies Battle to Keep Reds on Defensive



Open arrows locate areas where U.N. troops drove ahead in Korea attempting to break up a possible general Communist counterattack. Black arrows locate sectors of strongest Red resistance. The Allies battled for dominating hilltops north of Suwon, Kumyangjang and Ichon. On the central front U.N. units occupied Chipyong while patrols moved out from Hoengsong and Pyongchang. On the east coast Korean Republicans battled Red units near Kangnung.

Allied Tank Units

Task Force Fisher, which wiped out the Red massing point of Unjung.

Two other columns linked up at Punjon after wheeling eastward out of the Tanchon valley. U. S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen gained one mile and a half on the Suwon-Kumyangjang front in this action.

American doughboys killed 60 Chinese in a bayonet charge in that sector, one mile east of Kumsong. Fighter planes had killed about half of an estimated 200 Reds dug in on a hill. The survivors scampered down the slope, directly into the U. S. infantry position.

Red Losses 34,359

The Eighth Army estimated that total Red casualties along the front and in rear areas from Jan. 25 through Friday were 34,359, of whom 20,615 were killed. The announcement said 12,856 were wounded and 888 were captured.

The figures for Sunday's bloody 24 hours added considerably to that toll.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker reported that the twin raids toward Seoul were not aimed at the capital. They were mounted to inflict as much damage on the Reds as possible. An Eighth Army spokesman said the drives were of "no particularly significance at this time."

Becker described the action as meant "to catch the Chinese and crush them in a huge bear hug." The correspondent added:

"I flew over the smoking front lines and watched the tanks and infantry plunge up the road. The tanks looked lazy from the sky. They rolled up the road between sharp-sloped hills that held scores of Chinese. The Reds poured down automatic weapons and mortar fire."

A briefing officer at Eighth Army Headquarters said the Chinese had slipped between 10,000 and 15,000 troops into the area south of Seoul. Air observers reported truckloads of Reds were moved up under the cover of darkness.

The buildup indicated that the Reds might attempt an offensive Tuesday—Chinese New Year's. But if they had such plans, the killer raids by the allied columns could have spoiled them.

Small Firms

dim hope for many small firms even if its recommendations are carried out.

"No one," the report said, "expects 1951 to provide any betterment of the materials situation. Both military and stockpiling requirements, the committee learned in executive (closed) session, will increase sharply each quarter of this year.

Say N.P.A. Dooms Business

"It can only then be expected that over the dwindling material pile left for civilian needs, the law of the claw and the fang will prevail."

The committee said N.P.A. has been "unsuccessful in its efforts to get its program over to the business community," and added:

"Over and over, witnesses told the committee: N.P.A. sentences our business to death but won't tell us why."

President Asks

would be lifted also to make the total increase in revenue from alcoholic beverage taxes come to $710,000,000.

The cigarette tax would be jumped from 7 to 10 cents a pack and the graduated rates on cigars would be boosted to add $525,000,000 to the revenue from tobacco taxes.

The gasoline tax would be doubled—from a federal levy of 1½ cents a gallon to three cents.

This was calcuated to add $580,000,000 (M) in revenue from the federal gasoline tax.

Snyder also called for an extensive plugging of tax "loopholes." This would add an unspecified sum, certainly "hundreds of millions of dollars each year" and perhaps billions, to the $10,000,000,000 (B) extra sought from the other tax proposals.

Chief proposals in this class were the removal of present tax exemption from cooperatives, mutual savings banks, building and loan associations, and income from state and municipal securities.

Oil, Mines Tightened

The major loophole-plugging request from a revenue standpoint, however, was a tightening of the "depletion" (tax-reducing) privilege of oil and mining interests. Present allowances were described as costing the government "hundreds of millions of dollars each year."

Congressional tax leaders have indicated it will take at least until June for Congress to complete action on the new tax proposals. These, of course, cannot take effect until Congress has voted upon them and the president has approved whatever Congress does.

Secretary Snyder said nothing in his prepared statement for the committee about making the increase in income taxes retroactive to Jan. 1 or any date earlier than the Congress finishes action.

The Treasury chief declared the $71,600,000,000 budget proposed by the president for the fiscal year starting next July 1 must be balanced. It will take $61,500,000,000 on top of the presently expected $55,100,000,000 record flow of tax funds to balance it.

Snyder said little about the tax-boost proposal to follow the request first-round increase, but he indicated that nothing will be ruled out of consideration— not even a further increase in income taxes.

Bricker Asks Aide

from a trip to Brazil.

The committee report also declared that former R.F.C. Chairman Harley Hise stated that Dawson tried to dominate R.F.C. Hise said he resisted, the report added.

Bricker is a member of the full banking committee, but he did not serve on the subcommittee which investigated R.F.C. operation.

"I think the report made it perfectly clear that the whole situation reeks of political influence of the worst kind," Bricker declared.

He predicted that the Banking Committee never will recommend Senate confirmation of Dunham, Willett and Rowe, who—along with the other two R.F.C. directors—are serving under temporary appointments.

Bell, Haver Ask

deserves no medals for distinguished public service. They should immediately resign in a body.

Ask for Decision

"Since it appears from the board's own statement that it is now, if belatedly, studying the question of whether the Boiceville school can be built within the original $1,850,000, the special meeting called for February 13 to vote on the extra appropriation should be canceled. Certainly the taxpayers should not be asked to vote the extra money until at least the board makes up its own mind as to whether or not it is necessary.

"The haphazard way in which the cost of the Boiceville school project has been handled by the board demands close scrutiny. The people, in May, 1947, by a booklet issued by those sponsoring centralization, including two present board members, were assured that the school could be built for $900,000. In April, 1950, they were told it would cost $1,850,000. Now, in 1951, we are told that the cost of the same school will be $2,150,000. In other words they have upped the cost about 138 per cent! Costs have, of course, gone up in the last few years, but they certainly have not increased by 138 per cent. That increase cannot be explained away by simply blaming inflation.

Mathematics Questioned

"We do not know who is responsible for the arithmetic that prompted the board to say in their statement that the increase in tax rate which would result from the extra appropriation would only be between $.90 and $1.20. Whoever it was, ought to brush up on his mathematics at some school.

"Anyone can see that $300,000 is about one-sixth or 16½ per cent of $1,850,000. In other words, the tax rate will jump at least 16½%, if the extra money is voted. In 1949 the board issued a pamphlet entitled 'How Much' in which they told the taxpayers of Olive that when the school was built they could expect a tax rate of $29 per thousand dollars of assessed value. Actually, that figure, was low. But even if we considered it accurate, we can safely conclude that by increasing it by 16½% would give an increased tax rate of $4.83, or a total rate of $33.83. And, of course, such a rate does not take into account the interest on the additional $300.000 of bonds. If all proper factors were taken into account, the Olive tax rate will, you may be sure, be in excess of $35 per thousand.

At the present time Olive's tax rate is actually $17.85. This, if the total cost of the school is $2,150,000 as the board expects, then Olive taxpayers will pay more than twice the school tax that they are paying at present. Actually many Olive taxpayers are now paying three or four times as much school tax, before the school is even started, than they were paying before centralization. It is about time a halt is called.

"We, therefore, again urge all voters of the Onteora School District to go to the Parish Hall at Phoenicia on the night of February 13 and vote 'no' on the requested $300,000 of additional appropriation. The voting will be between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock.

Signed,
CLAUDE BELL, Supervisor.
ROBERT HAVER.

Jenkins' Auto Kills Military Policeman

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 5 (AP)—A car smashed into a highway roadblock last night, killing a military policeman instantly.

Army and state authorities identified the driver as Lew Jenkins, 34, former world's lightweight boxing champion. He was examined at a hospital and jailed for questioning.

The victim was Cpl. David L. Dexter, 22, of Colorado Springs. His body was thrown 75 feet, and "virtually every bone broken," highway patrolman Russell Proctor said.

The roadblock had been set up four miles south of here to apprehend a car stolen from Camp Carson.

Jenkins, a sergeant first class stationed here, was driving back to camp. A bus had stopped at the roadblock, Proctor said, when Jenkins' car came around it and struck Dexter. The car skidded to a stop 112 feet away.

The stolen car was stopped going toward Colorado Springs, and its driver arrested a few minutes later.

Passion Play Actors Wed

Oberammergau, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP)—The portrayers of the Virgin Mary and Lazarus in the Oberammergau Passion Play were married here today. Annemie Mayr, 22, who played the part of Mary, and Robert Steidle, 25-year-old actor who was Lazarus in the 1950 Passion Play, were married by Oberammergau's burgomeister. A wedding reception was given at a hotel operated by Anton Preisinger, portrayer of Jesus in the play.

Student Dies Fighting Off Police Rescuers

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—A 25-year-old medical student collapsed and died last night after fighting furiously for 45 minutes against 14 policemen who tried to rescue him from his wrecked automobile.

He was Harvey Gladstone Schiff. His bride of a year, Nancy, 25, could give no reason for his action.

Nurses in nearby Bellevue Hospital said they saw Schiff's car back off an embankment and plunge into an excavation for a new veterans hospital.

Schiff fought police with such force that almost all his clothing was ripped off.

He finally lost consciousness and was put in an ambulance, but was dead by the time it reached Bellevue.

The cause of death was not determined immediately, and an autopsy was ordered.

Schiff's wife said he was due to graduate in May from New York University-Bellevue Medical Center.

Will Close Industry

A spokesman for the automobile industry said in Detroit last night that unless the strike ends within a week, the entire industry will have to shut down. Workers already laid off in Detroit had climbed to 28,500.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo said its 10 mills were to be shut down today and 3,000 men laid off.

The return to work last night of 120 switchmen enabled the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Line to resume normal operations.

Officials of the Pensylvania Railroad reported 104 men were back on their jobs in New York city and New Jersey yards and that all but one of 130 who reported to the railroad's medical examiner in New York had been given certificates permitting them to go back to work. In Philadelphia, the company reported another 43 had appeared for physical examinations which are required before they may return to work.

The Chesapeake and Ohio announced its operations were back to normal in Michigan.

scrap and steel scrap, Di Salle promised that other price rollbacks are coming.

The scrap price order, effective Wednesday, wiped out a sudden price increase which took place during January. Indications were that it would not result in any price decreases in the price of iron and steel, but that it would act to prevent increases in the future.

Elsewhere on the economic controls front, the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching struggled with an overall wage policy to relax the freeze of paychecks at Jan. 25 levels. The board has already approved some exemptions, including one it said was designed to permit day to day wage adjustments for production workers.

The overall formula may be forthcoming this week, officials said. It is generally accepted that it will permit wage boosts of a fixed percentage above the levels of a past date, possibly Jan. 1 or June 15, 1950.

South Has Losses

ever, as to how much higher the stream would go.

As temperatures climbed back to normal levels throughout the south the northern plains area and northern Maine again were hit by sub-zero blasts. Readings below zero were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and northern Maine.

Rain was reported from central California to Idaho and eastern Washington, while snow blanketed the northern Rocky Mountains and North Dakota. The eastern and northern Great Lakes region had light snow.

Two Are Arrested

Two Kingston youths, charged with third degree burglary in sealed indictments returned by the grand jury on January 30, were arrested today by Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum of the city police department and Investigator Leonard Belmore of the sheriff's office. The youths were identified as William Bence, 19, of 31 Fitch street and Edward Butler, 17, of 580 Abeel street.

Miller Is Charged

Glenford L. Miller, 39, of 56 Henry street, was arrested Saturday by Officers Thomas McGrane and Peter Camp on a warrant charging third degree assault. The information lists Mrs. Frances O'Brien as the complainant. The case was put over to Saturday.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Jan. 26—Dean Nelson to Mr. and Mrs. Reginold Norton Palen, Stone Ridge, and Joseph to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewis Duncan, 95 Shufeldt street.

Jan. 27—Eugene Joseph to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruno, 75 North Front street, and Deborah Lee to Mr. and Mrs. William George Spanhake, Jr., Mt. Tremper.

Jan. 29—Susan Carol to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Lanspery, 98 Boulevard.

Jan. 30—Wayne Walter to Mr. and Mrs. Walter William Smith, Binnewater.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Accident disability retirement pay and accidental death benefits for public school teachers were proposed today by two New York city legislators.

Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, Queens Republicans, said they would introduce in the Legislature tonight a bill modeled after similar benefit provisions now in effect for civil service employes.

Their bill would give dependents of a teacher killed in the performance of duty an annuity amounting to one-half his salary. The death benefit would be paid as an annuity for life to a widow or parents. In the case of a child survivor, it would be paid until the child was 18 years old.

If a teacher were disabled permanently in a school accident, the bill would grant an annuity amounting to three-fourths of his salary for life.

Rich Suffers Injuries

Anthony J. Rich, 6 Rogers street, suffered injuries of the right leg and back in a traffic mishap at Broadway and Abeel street Saturday. The police report at 6:35 p. m., said that a car operated by Robert Shellpepper, 17 Murphy street, headed south on Broadway, and one operated by Rich, were in collision. The latter was parked at the curb on Broadway. Another parked car involved was that of David J. Richards, 1-3 Canal street.

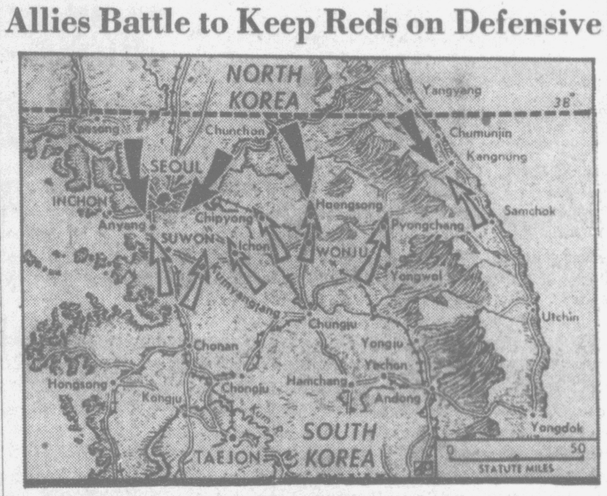
MUSTEROLE

Allies Battle to Keep Reds on Defensive



Open arrows locate areas where U.N. troops drove ahead in Korea attempting to break up a possible general Communist counterattack. Black arrows locate sectors of strongest Red resistance. The Allies battled for dominating hilltops north of Suwon, Kumyangjang and Ichon. On the central front U.N. units occupied Chipyong while patrols moved out from Hoengsong and Pyongchang. On the east coast Korean Republicans battled Red units near Kangnung.

Allied Tank Units

Task Force Fisher, which wiped out the Red massing point of Unjung.

Two other columns linked up at Punjon after wheeling eastward out of the Tanchon valley. U. S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen gained one mile and a half on the Suwon-Kumyangjang front in this action.

American doughboys killed 60 Chinese in a bayonet charge in that sector, one mile east of Kumsong. Fighter planes had killed about half of an estimated 200 Reds dug in on a hill. The survivors scampered down the slope, directly into the U. S. infantry position.

Red Losses 34,359

The Eighth Army estimated that total Red casualties along the front and in rear areas from Jan. 25 through Friday were 34,359, of whom 20,615 were killed. The announcement said 12,856 were wounded and 888 were captured.

The figures for Sunday's bloody 24 hours added considerably to that toll.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker reported that the twin raids toward Seoul were not aimed at the capital. They were mounted to inflict as much damage on the Reds as possible. An Eighth Army spokesman said the drives were of "no particularly significance at this time."

Becker described the action as meant "to catch the Chinese and crush them in a huge bear hug." The correspondent added:

"I flew over the smoking front lines and watched the tanks and infantry plunge up the road. The tanks looked lazy from the sky. They rolled up the road between sharp-sloped hills that held scores of Chinese. The Reds poured down automatic weapons and mortar fire."

A briefing officer at Eighth Army Headquarters said the Chinese had slipped between 10,000 and 15,000 troops into the area south of Seoul. Air observers reported truckloads of Reds were moved up under the cover of darkness.

The buildup indicated that the Reds might attempt an offensive Tuesday—Chinese New Year's. But if they had such plans, the killer raids by the allied columns could have spoiled them.

Small Firms

dim hope for many small firms even if its recommendations are carried out.

"No one," the report said, "expects 1951 to provide any betterment of the materials situation. Both military and stockpiling requirements, the committee learned in executive (closed) session, will increase sharply each quarter of this year.

Say N.P.A. Dooms Business

"It can only then be expected that over the dwindling material pile left for civilian needs, the law of the claw and the fang will prevail."

The committee said N.P.A. has been "unsuccessful in its efforts to get its program over to the business community," and added:

"Over and over, witnesses told the committee: N.P.A. sentences our business to death but won't tell us why."

President Asks

would be lifted also to make the total increase in revenue from alcoholic beverage taxes come to $710,000,000.

The cigarette tax would be jumped from 7 to 10 cents a pack and the graduated rates on cigars would be boosted to add $525,000,000 to the revenue from tobacco taxes.

The gasoline tax would be doubled—from a federal levy of 1½ cents a gallon to three cents.

This was calcuated to add $580,000,000 (M) in revenue from the federal gasoline tax.

Snyder also called for an extensive plugging of tax "loopholes." This would add an unspecified sum, certainly "hundreds of millions of dollars each year" and perhaps billions, to the $10,000,000,000 (B) extra sought from the other tax proposals.

Chief proposals in this class were the removal of present tax exemption from cooperatives, mutual savings banks, building and loan associations, and income from state and municipal securities.

Oil, Mines Tightened

The major loophole-plugging request from a revenue standpoint, however, was a tightening of the "deplection" (tax-reducing) privilege of oil and mining interests. Present allowances were described as costing the government "hundreds of millions of dollars each year."

Congressional tax leaders have indicated it will take at least until June for Congress to complete action on the new tax proposals. These, of course, cannot take effect until Congress has voted upon them and the president has approved whatever Congress does.

Secretary Snyder said nothing in his prepared statement for the committee about making the increase in income taxes retroactive to Jan. 1 or any date earlier than the Congress finishes action.

The Treasury chief declared the $71,600,000,000 budget proposed by the president for the fiscal year starting next July 1 must be balanced. It will take $61,500,000,000 on top of the presently expected $55,100,000,000 record flow of tax funds to balance it.

Snyder said little about the tax-boost proposal to follow the request first-round increase, but he indicated that nothing will be ruled out of consideration— not even a further increase in income taxes.

Bricker Asks Aide

from a trip to Brazil.

The committee report also declared that former R.F.C. Chairman Harley Hise stated that Dawson tried to dominate R.F.C. Hise said he resisted, the report added.

Bricker is a member of the full banking committee, but he did not serve on the subcommittee which investigated R.F.C. operation.

"I think the report made it perfectly clear that the whole situation reeks of political influence of the worst kind," Bricker declared.

He predicted that the Banking Committee, never will recommend Senate confirmation of Dunham, Willett and Rowe, who—along with the other two R.F.C. directors—are serving under temporary appointments.

Bell, Haver Ask

deserves no medals for distinguished public service. They should immediately resign in a body.

Ask for Decision

"Since it appears from the board's own statement that it is now, if belatedly, studying the question of whether the Boiceville school can be built within the original $1,850,000, the special meeting called for February 13 to vote on the extra appropriation should be canceled. Certainly the taxpayers should not be asked to vote the extra money until at least the board makes up its own mind as to whether or not it is necessary.

"The haphazard way in which the cost of the Boiceville school project has been handled by the board demands close scrutiny. The people, in May, 1947, by a booklet issued by those sponsoring centralization, including two present board members, were assured that the school could be built for $900,000. In April, 1950, they were told it would cost $1,850,000. Now, in 1951, we are told that the cost of the same school will be $2,150,000. In other words they have upped the cost about 138 per cent! Costs have, of course, gone up in the last few years, but they certainly have not increased by 138 per cent. That increase cannot be explained away by simply blaming inflation.

Mathematics Questioned

"We do not know who is responsible for the arithmetic that prompted the board to say in their statement that the increase in tax rate which would result from the extra appropriation would only be between $.90 and $1.20. Whoever it was, ought to brush up on his mathematics at some school.

"Anyone can see that $300,000 is about one-sixth or 16½ per cent of $1,850,000. In other words, the tax rate will jump at least 16½%, if the extra money is voted. In 1949 the board issued a pamphlet entitled 'How Much' in which they told the taxpayers of Olive that when the school was built they could expect a tax rate of $29 per thousand dollars of assessed value. Actually, that figure, was low. But even if we considered it accurate, we can safely conclude that by increasing it by 16½% would give an increased tax rate of $4.83, or a total rate of $33.83. And, of course, such a rate does not take into account the interest on the additional $300.000 of bonds. If all proper factors were taken into account, the Olive tax rate will, you may be sure, be in excess of $35 per thousand.

At the present time Olive's tax rate is actually $17.85. This, if the total cost of the school is $2,150,000 as the board expects, then Olive taxpayers will pay more than twice the school tax that they are paying at present. Actually many Olive taxpayers are now paying three or four times as much school tax, before the school is even started, than they were paying before centralization. It is about time a halt is called.

"We, therefore, again urge all voters of the Onteora School District to go to the Parish Hall at Phoenicia on the night of February 13 and vote 'no' on the requested $300,000 of additional appropriation. The voting will be between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock.

Signed,
CLAUDE BELL, Supervisor.

Jenkins' Auto Kills Military Policeman

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 5 (AP)—A car smashed into a highway roadblock last night, killing a military policeman instantly.

Army and state authorities identified the driver as Lew Jenkins, 34, former world's lightweight boxing champion. He was examined at a hospital and jailed for questioning.

The victim was Cpl. David L. Dexter, 22, of Colorado Springs. His body was thrown 75 feet, and "virtually every bone broken," highway patrolman Russell Proctor said.

The roadblock had been set up four miles south of here to apprehend a car stolen from Camp Carson.

Jenkins, a sergeant first class stationed here, was driving back to camp. A bus had stopped at the roadblock, Proctor said, when Jenkins' car came around it and struck Dexter. The car skidded to a stop 112 feet away.

The stolen car was stopped going toward Colorado Springs, and its driver arrested a few minutes later.

Passion Play Actors Wed

Oberammergau, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP)—The portrayers of the Virgin Mary and Lazarus in the Oberammergau Passion Play were married here today. Annemie Mayr, 22, who played the part of Mary, and Robert Steidle, 25-year-old actor who was Lazarus in the 1950 Passion Play, were married by Oberammergau's burgomeister. A wedding reception was given at a hotel operated by Anton Preisinger, portrayer of Jesus in the play.

Student Dies Fighting Off Police Rescuers

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—A 25-year-old medical student collapsed and died last night after fighting furiously for 45 minutes against 14 policemen who tried to rescue him from his wrecked automobile.

He was Harvey Gladstone Schiff. His bride of a year, Nancy, 25, could give no reason for his action.

Nurses in nearby Bellevue Hospital said they saw Schiff's car back off an embankment and plunge into an excavation for a new veterans hospital.

Schiff fought police with such force that almost all his clothing was ripped off.

He finally lost consciousness and was put in an ambulance, but was dead by the time it reached Bellevue.

The cause of death was not determined immediately, and an autopsy was ordered.

Schiff's wife said he was due to graduate in May from New York University-Bellevue Medical Center.

Will Close Industry

A spokesman for the automobile industry said in Detroit last night that unless the strike ends within a week, the entire industry will have to shut down. Workers already laid off in Detroit had climbed to 28,500.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo said its 10 mills were to be shut down today and 3,000 men laid off.

The return to work last night of 120 switchmen enabled the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Line to resume normal operations.

Officials of the Pensylvania Railroad reported 104 men were back on their jobs in New York city and New Jersey yards and that all but one of 130 who reported to the railroad's medical examiner in New York had been given certificates permitting them to go back to work. In Philadelphia, the company reported another 43 had appeared for physical examinations which are required before they may return to work.

The Chesapeake and Ohio announced its operations were back to normal in Michigan.

Di Salle Asks Aid

scrap and steel scrap, Di Salle promised that other price rollbacks are coming.

The scrap price order, effective Wednesday, wiped out a sudden price increase which took place during January. Indications were that it would not result in any price decreases in the price of iron and steel, but that it would act to prevent increases in the future.

Elsewhere on the economic controls front, the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching struggled with an overall wage policy to relax the freeze of paychecks at Jan. 25 levels. The board has already approved some exemptions, including one it said was designed to permit day to day wage adjustments for production workers.

The overall formula may be forthcoming this week, officials said. It is generally accepted that it will permit wage boosts of a fixed percentage above the levels of a past date, possibly Jan. 1 or June 15, 1950.

South Has Losses

ever, as to how much higher the stream would go.

As temperatures climbed back to normal levels throughout the south the northern plains area and northern Maine again were hit by sub-zero blasts. Readings below zero were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and northern Maine.

Rain was reported from central California to Idaho and eastern Washington, while snow blanketed the northern Rocky Mountains and North Dakota. The eastern and northern Great Lakes region had light snow.

Two Are Arrested

Two Kingston youths, charged with third degree burglary in sealed indictments returned by the grand jury on January 30, were arrested today by Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum of the city police department and Investigator Leonard Belmore of the sheriff's office. The youths were identified as William Bence, 19, of 31 Fitch street and Edward Butler, 17, of 580 Abeel street.

Miller Is Charged

Glenford L. Miller, 39, of 56 Henry street, was arrested Saturday by Officers Thomas McGrane and Peter Camp on a warrant charging third degree assault. The information lists Mrs. Frances O'Brien as the complainant. The case was put over to Saturday.
